Uncouth Bolsheviki.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

SOME seem to be prosperous. In 1924, 75 citizens told Uncle Sam they had incomes of $1,000,000 a year or more. This year 207 announced $1,000,000 or more yearly. Eighty-two per cent of the people pay no income tax. And fewer than one in a hundred pay 95 per cent of the total tax. They probably feel badly about it, but many that pay no tax would change places.

AMERICANs at Shanghai ask Uncle Sam to join Britain in an effort to coerce China. One hundred and fifteen million Americans would rather pay their fare home to the United States, which would be cheaper, more friendly.

We could not conquer China without killing thousands of non-combatants, including many women and children. This nation would not like that job. If China does not need us we do not need China. In any case we do not want to shoot crowds of non-combatant Chinese.

Admiral Williams says Chinese natives are indulging in "hate demonstrations" against America, Britain and Japan, because of the shooting of Chinese natives. We might organize "hate demonstrations" here if Asiatics were shooting up Americans, even offering plausible reasons.

You learn that President Coolidge will not join other nations in an ultimatum to China, and that doesn't surprise you. President Coolidge is a man of common sense, and this country needs no war with China.

The Bolsheviki are certainly uncouth. They convict three high Russian officials of taking bribes in connection with a big German lumber trust; and what do you suppose happens? The three officials did not employ good lawyers, express righteous indignation and go to Palm Beach or the Riviera. They stayed home, were sentenced to death, all their property confiscated, and they will really be executed.

By Alfred Meyer.

SHANGHAI, April 6. — Although heavy fighting continues along the Tsinan-Puchow railroad there is no decisive result, according to reports received here today.

Disorganized Troops Surrender.

The intensity of the fighting is said to be greater than during any engagement since the nationalists invaded Chekiang. The Nationalists' chances for success have been enhanced by the fact that the disorganized troops of Sun Chuan-Fang are surrendering and laying down their arms.

General Chang Sun Chang by delivering a counter attack along the Tsinan-Puchow railroad has forestalled General Chiang Kai-Shek's plan for a concentration of his troops to the north of Nanking for a drive against Tientsin and other northern cities.

General Chiang Kai-Shek held a conference of his generals here today, after receiving reports of the battle in the north, and issued orders for the movement of four additional regiments into Nanking.

Hankow-Canton Line Cut.

HONG KONG, China, April 6.—Hankow extremists and their supporters in Canton were believed isolated today when reports by naval wireless told of the cutting of the line between Hankow and Canton.

The reports also indicated that the fourth army, commanded by Gen. Li Chai-Sum, who is loyal to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, had advanced from Kiangsi to Hunan, taking up quarters at Hengchowfu. These advices were interpreted here as meaning that Chiang Kai-shek's partisans have succeeded in staging one of the biggest coups of the war.

The extremists in Hankow and Canton, it was believed, are now shut off

MARIE CHORGAS AWAITS ACTION OF GRAND JURY

DOCTOR CALLED

Surgeon Recommends Operation for Prisoner at Lisbon.

Defense moves looking toward the release of Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, from the county jail at Lisbon, where she is being held in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, here, about two weeks ago, will be deferred pending action of the Columbiana county grand jury, which meets next Monday, Attorney S. W. Crawford announced today.

Should the grand jury fail to indict her, the woman's counsel will seek a reduction of the $10,000 bond upon which she is held as a material witness against Salvatore Rini, also charged with murder.

Dr. C. H. Bailey of East Liverpool, and Dr. Seward Harris, Lisbon, held a consultation regarding Mrs. Chorgas' condition at county jail yesterday. They advised Attorney Crawford that Mrs. Chorgas would require an operation. Before an operation can be performed the patient should undergo treatments which would require about two or three weeks, the doctors said. These treatments, the physicians stated, could be given at the county jail by Dr. Harris.

After a conference with James Chorgas, husband of the woman, Crawford abandoned his plan of filing a petition in common pleas court seeking a reduction in the two bonds totaling $20,000, under which the woman is being held.

Mrs. Chorgas' physical condition, is the result, it is said of injuries received in an automobile accident about four years ago.

Chorgas, who operates a confectionery store in Minneapolis, will remain in East Liverpool until the grand jury reports.

WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. H. E. Michel, West Sixth street, is recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident at Wheeling, Sunday. She was riding in the back seat when the car struck a deep rut, hurling her against the back of the front seat. The bridge of her nose was broken and both eyes bruised.

Miss Ava Mylar, 67, in Serious Condition.

SHOCK VICTIM

Flames Envelop Her Face, Arms and Back.

Suffering from burns sustained while engaged in household duties, Miss Ava Mylar, aged 67, who for years has been the secretary of the Spring Grove Cemetery association, is in a serious condition today at her home in Woodlawn avenue.

Miss Mylar was burned about the back, arms and partially on the face, when her clothing ignited as she learned across an open burner of a gas stove in the kitchen of her home.

In a mass of flames, she sought to drench herself with water. Her predicament was observed by a neighbor, Mrs. Arnold Devon, who notified her nephew, Charles Rumberger. He succeeded in putting out the fire.

Dr. John S. Fraser, who dressed her burns, said the woman was also a victim of shock.

Sand Truck Upsets When Brakes Let Go; Driver Unhurt

Walter Mick, Lincoln highway, escaped injury when his truck loaded with sand, overturned at the corner of Seventh and Jefferson streets at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

Mick said the brakes failed to hold the heavily loaded truck, and, in an effort to stop the machine, he attempted to turn east on Seventh street. The heavy load caused the truck to overturn.

Sand was scattered over the street but the truck was only slightly damaged.

Street Cars Crash In Dense Fog; No Passengers Hurt

Passengers aboard an eastbound city car were unhurt in a rear-end collision with an eastbound interurban car, caused by the heavy fog, at the corner of Monroe and West Sixth streets at 6:10 o'clock this morning.

The interurban, which started at Steubenville, was making an extra trip to Midland. The city car had left Wooster's stop at the lower end of Wellsville five minutes ahead of it.

T. E. Dye, Urbana, Democratic State Chairman, Resigns

COLUMBUS, O., April 6. — Thomas E. Dye, Urbana, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, submitted his resignation at a special meeting of the committee at the Neil House here late today.

Although Dye announced that he was resigning to give his time entirely to his business interests, his letter of resignation indicated there had developed a rift between the chairman and the state administration.

Members of the committee, it was believed, would name Henry G. Bruner, former Mansfield newspaper publisher and a member of the committee, to succeed Dye.

Two East End Men Given Jail Terms For Carrying Guns

Walter Ring, 19, and Roy Glunt, also 19, both of East End, were sentenced to the county jail for terms of 30 days each by Municipal Judge Hanley yesterday afternoon after they were found guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

They were arrested upon information given by George McCloy, Cleveland avenue, who alleged they knocked at the door of his home on March 22, and when he opened the door he found both standing with revolvers and flashlights in their hands. The accused men introduced a witness to substantiate an alibi that they were making candy at a friend's home at the time they were purported to have visited the McCloy house.

Attorney Blaine H. Cochran prosecuted the case, while the youths were defended by Attorney Frank E. Grosshans.

The state supreme court today refused to re-open the case of George A. Anderson, former East Liverpool automobile dealer, who is in the penitentiary serving a term of four years and eight months to 20 years for manslaughter in the death of Frank McLain, taxicab-driver.

Anderson's attorneys asked the supreme court to review the case a few days before the twice convicted man was committed to prison. The court, previously had refused to act.

Anderson, throughout the litigation which has been in progress for 18 months, contended that the shooting of McLain on Oct. 7, 1925, was accidental.

IT'S CHANGED FRANCE THAT WILL GREET RETURNED YANKEE; SAD DAYS GONE BUT WAR MEMORIES OF TEN YEARS AGO TODAY REMAIN VIVID

(This story was written in commemoration of the entrance of the United States into the World war on April 6, 1917—ten years ago.)

Ten years ago today. What poignant memories these four words hold for men who wore the uniform.

It was then the first division went over, painfully and slowly on the little beef carriers. There had just been a submarine scare. Somewhere just off Coney island lurked the tin-fish. The convoy was so laboriously slow, you actually felt sorry for the wheezing engines. Quarters were cramped—decidedly so.

Black were the nights on guard, when one made the rounds through the fog. The rain beat incessantly on the waves. Dolorious toots coming from the sirens of the sister ships in the convoy sounded freakish. Fifteen hundred miles of water to land either east or west. Thirty feet away the carefully shaded light in the salon. Seventeen days of it in the little ships. Pace ten knots on hour, with a zig-zag course through the submarine and mine infested areas.

What an awful amount of water for the boys from Indiana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and other inland states. Farmer boys and city kids cooped up in the same bunk space. And then one sunshiny day Bordeaux, France, land of courageous men—charming women. Romance lurked around the corner and maybe death, too.

It's Different Now.

It's different now. The little beef carriers, and the big transports that came later are back in the peaceful ocean lanes. The S. S. "Leviathan," has been refitted palatially and minus war paint will be the flagship of the second A. E. F. of the Legion next September. The ships blaze with lights and resound with merriment today. The seas have been swept of mines. Bordeaux port is full of fishing smacks and peaceful vessels. Passengers eat from silvered and linened tables instead of having slum served in mess kits from swinging shelves. The steward is polite and agreeable and doesn't pummel on your door until the seasonable hour of 9 o'clock. It's the life of Riley on the ocean today.

A Decade Ago.

Ten years ago . . . Meals of bully beef with a bed on the hard floor of the "40 and 8" box cars. Outside a glimpse of the sunny French countryside, green and placid. Cheery people in the big towns, waving their hands and shouting "Les Americaus." Maddemoiselle Gisselle Moulin, 8-year-old French lassie, clattering after soldiers in her wooden shoes, ing "chwingum, chwingum," and like the thousands of other kiddies of France how she did chew. Today it's the fast express from Bordeaux to Paris or maybe the air express. It may be the first-class coach. Sunny France but not the crowds waving and cheering.

Paris, Then and Now.

Paris—the beloved city shrouded in darkness ten years ago. Flames Ignite Oil Tanks.

Only five of the dead have been identified, the other bodies being burned beyond recognition.

The explosion, of unknown origin, occurred in two Dubbs pressure stills located in the heart of the $5,000,000 oil plant, which employed 350 men.

Fire spread quickly to other stills and two large oil tanks, but was under control after two hours of heroic work on the part of volunteer firemen, oil company workers and fire apparatus from Rawlins, eight miles away.

IT'S CHANGED FRANCE THAT WILL GREET RETURNED YANKEE; SAD DAYS GONE BUT WAR MEMORIES OF TEN YEARS AGO TODAY REMAIN VIVID

(This story was written in commemoration of the entrance of the United States into the World war on April 6, 1917—ten years ago.)

Ten years ago today. What poignant memories these four words hold for men who wore the uniform.

It was then the first division went over, painfully and slowly on the little beef carriers. There had just been a submarine scare. Somewhere just off Coney island lurked the tin-fish. The convoy was so laboriously slow, you actually felt sorry for the wheezing engines. Quarters were cramped—decidedly so.

Black were the nights on guard, when one made the rounds through the fog. The rain beat incessantly on the waves. Dolorious toots coming from the sirens of the sister ships in the convoy sounded freakish. Fifteen hundred miles of water to land either east or west. Thirty feet away the carefully shaded light in the salon. Seventeen days of it in the little ships. Pace ten knots on hour, with a zig-zag course through the submarine and mine infested areas.

What an awful amount of water for the boys from Indiana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and other inland states. Farmer boys and city kids cooped up in the same bunk space. And then one sunshiny day Bordeaux, France, land of courageous men—charming women. Romance lurked around the corner and maybe death, too.

It's Different Now.

It's different now. The little beef carriers, and the big transports that came later are back in the peaceful ocean lanes. The S. S. "Leviathan," has been refitted palatially and minus war paint will be the flagship of the second A. E. F. of the Legion next September. The ships blaze with lights and resound with merriment today. The seas have been swept of mines. Bordeaux port is full of fishing smacks and peaceful vessels. Passengers eat from silvered and linened tables instead of having slum served in mess kits from swinging shelves. The steward is polite and agreeable and doesn't pummel on your door until the seasonable hour of 9 o'clock. It's the life of Riley on the ocean today.

A Decade Ago.

Ten years ago . . . Meals of bully beef with a bed on the hard floor of the "40 and 8" box cars. Outside a glimpse of the sunny French countryside, green and placid. Cheery people in the big towns, waving their hands and shouting "Les Americains." Maddemoiselle Gisselle Moulin, 8-year-old French lassie, clattering after soldiers in her wooden shoes, ing "chwingum, chwingum," and like the thousands of other kiddies of France how she did chew. Today it's the fast express from Bordeaux to Paris or maybe the air express. It may be the first-class coach. Sunny France but not the crowds waving and cheering.

Paris, Then and Now.

Paris—the beloved city shrouded in darkness ten years ago. Strange messages being flashed to the troops in the field from the aerials strung across the Seine from Eiffel tower to the towers on the Trocadero. Crash of bombs and whiring motors at night. Sober thoughtful people in the darkened Montmartre. Children who did not laugh. Military police ready to drag you to Ste. Anne if your pass was overdue. Now the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Why Some Teeth Look Dingy

A viscous coat constantly forms on your teeth. You can feel it any time. Fruits, coffee and tobacco stain that coat, then teeth look dingy. The glistening enamel is hidden by a cloud.

Magnesia quickly removes that coat. When it is gone, the teeth reveal their natural beauty. The quick change will delight you.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth paste applies that help in the best way known. It applies Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in concentrated form and dentists have for 50 years recommended that.

It protects teeth in many ways. Magnesia is alkaline, so it instantly neutralizes the acids which form between the teeth and in crevices. Acids are the greatest enemies of the teeth and gums. Its antiseptics combat mouth germs. It deodorants purify the breath. No other tooth paste in existence does so many things at once.

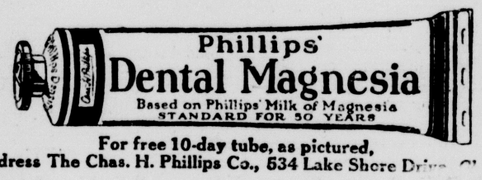

Learn how much it does. Watch the teeth whiten, the breath grow sweet. Note the delightful taste it brings to the mouth in the morning. You will always be glad that you know it. You will never find anything else to compare with it. Go try it now.

What's What in Washington

BY CHARLES R STEWART

NO FEDERAL OPERATIVES PROBE FORD ACCIDENT--REASON WHY

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Did federal "operatives" investigate Henry Ford's recent auto smash?

Detroit dispatches began referring to some such thing before the injured flivver king was fairly installed in his six-room suite in his $10,000,000 hospital, but government functionaries here scornfully pooh-poohed the very idea.

J. E. HOOVER

Whatever Ford was a victim of — accident or attempted murder— is purely a matter for the Michigan state authorities to decide, Washington officials all agree.

SECRET service chiefs can't always be relied on to tell exactly what they're up to, so it's well to accept their assurances with a few sacks of salt, but they certainly do express themselves convincingly in this instance.

It's true that the justice department's investigation bureau, over which J. Edgar Hoover presides as director, may be assumed to take a little extra interest in Ford just now, by reason of the Sapiro case on trial against him before the United States district court in Detroit.

However, as Hoover's sleuths point out, nobody suspects Sapiro of responsibility for the billionaire's mishap, and neither does anybody suspect that Ford intentionally rolled his coupe, over and over, down an embankment, to escape going on the witness stand.

Such being the facts, the affair's none of the federal government's business, Hoover holds—or, at any rate, that's how's he's quoted.

IF it's outside the justice department secret service's jurisdiction, it's still farther outside the treasury department's, which, though an even more formidable and mysterious organization than the justice department's, is fully occupied in catching federal offenders, like counterfeiters and smugglers, and in taking care of the president.

It's not to be disputed that these latter guardians are good at warding off recklessly-driven autos from the chief executive. They've saved President Coolidge from being run into a number of times, and a detail of them might be a good thing for Ford, too.

However, the government has none of them to spare from their official duties.

THESE are the only two federal groups of Sherlock Holmes which might conceivably have "operatives" on the Ford case, and it's emphatically denied in behalf of both of them.

The only time Ford may reasonably be believed to have had a United States secret service man in his retinue was on his celebrated peace expedition.

Even that isn't a certainty but there was a chap along who was strongly suspected of it.

THE government regarded that peace expedition with a jaundiced eye, it will be remembered. It couldn't prevent it but there were many who believed it was anxious to keep in mighty close touch with what happened.

At any rate, a mysterious stranger turned up on board ship, the day after the expedition sailed, when it was too late to land him.

He was frankly a stowaway, but he didn't look like one, being an imposing individual, with plenty of good clothes and a fat bank-roll. He could have paid his way all right, but the management wouldn't take him along on that basis—or any other. So he come anyway.

He said his name was "Mr. Warner." Nobody ever was able to account for that guy, from start to finish. He vanished like a puff of smoke when the trip was over. Plenty of the expedition crowd still think "Mr. Warner" was a secret service "operative."

Washing Won't Mar the Beauty of Quaker Curtains and Nets

Made of fine long staple yarns, they do not thicken up and lose their "looks" and their transparency.

Moreover, made with the famous three-thread construction every mesh is tied in place—cannot slip and lose shape with wear or washing.

During

Home Craft Week

we are showing an unsually large and beautiful assortment of these curtains along with all the other materials which go to make windows more attractive and homes more homey.

For Your Sun Parlor

Do you love color? Indulge yourself to your heart's content in your sun parlor. Choose Oxford Cross Curtains in Orange and Gold on a black netground. Striking? Certainly, but like all Quaker curtains they have real artistic merit.

Sheer Shadow Lace Curtains

Here are curtains that give you the distinction of artistic design in a net so sheer it seems a veritable veiling. Will they wear? Certainly. All Quaker Curtainings are famous for that quality.

Fringed Curtains

The Quaker Lace Company were the originators of fringed curtains. Today they are more than popular—they are well nigh universal, made, as they are, in such nets as Shadow Lace, Filet, Tuscan. We offer them all made, ready to hang, at $1.90 to $25.00.

For Odd-Shaped Windows

BY CHARLES R STEWART

NO FEDERAL OPERATIVES PROBE FORD ACCIDENT--REASON WHY

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Did federal "operatives" investigate Henry Ford's recent auto smash?

Detroit dispatches began referring to some such thing before the injured flivver king was fairly installed in his six-room suite in his $10,000,000 hospital, but government functionaries here scornfully pooh-poohed the very idea.

J. E. HOOVER

Whatever Ford was a victim of — accident or attempted murder— is purely a matter for the Michigan state authorities to decide, Washington officials all agree.

SECRET service chiefs can't always be relied on to tell exactly what they're up to, so it's well to accept their assurances with a few sacks of salt, but they certainly do express themselves convincingly in this instance.

It's true that the justice department's investigation bureau, over which J. Edgar Hoover presides as director, may be assumed to take a little extra interest in Ford just now, by reason of the Sapiro case on trial against him before the United States district court in Detroit.

However, as Hoover's sleuths point out, nobody suspects Sapiro of responsibility for the billionaire's mishap, and neither does anybody suspect that Ford intentionally rolled his coupe, over and over, down an embankment, to escape going on the witness stand.

Such being the facts, the affair's none of the federal government's business, Hoover holds—or, at any rate, that's how's he's quoted.

IF it's outside the justice department secret service's jurisdiction, it's still farther outside the treasury department's, which, though an even more formidable and mysterious organization than the justice department's, is fully occupied in catching federal offenders, like counterfeiters and smugglers, and in taking care of the president.

It's not to be disputed that these latter guardians are good at warding off recklessly-driven autos from the chief executive. They've saved President Coolidge from being run into a number of times, and a detail of them might be a good thing for Ford, too.

However, the government has none of them to spare from their official duties.

THESE are the only two federal groups of Sherlock Holmes which might conceivably have "operatives" on the Ford case, and it's emphatically denied in behalf of both of them.

The only time Ford may reasonably be believed to have had a United States secret service man in his retinue was on his celebrated peace expedition.

Even that isn't a certainty but there was a chap along who was strongly suspected of it.

THE government regarded that peace expedition with a jaundiced eye, it will be remembered. It couldn't prevent it but there were many who believed it was anxious to keep in mighty close touch with what happened.

At any rate, a mysterious stranger turned up on board ship, the day after the expedition sailed, when it was too late to land him.

He was frankly a stowaway, but he didn't look like one, being an imposing individual, with plenty of good clothes and a fat bank-roll. He could have paid his way all right, but the management wouldn't take him along on that basis—or any other. So he come anyway.

He said his name was "Mr. Warner." Nobody ever was able to account for that guy, from start to finish. He vanished like a puff of smoke when the trip was over. Plenty of the expedition crowd still think "Mr. Warner" was a secret service "operative."

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1927.

Thursday's Council Meeting

From the standpoint of public interest, the session of the city council on Thursday evening will be one of the most important of the year, for the solons shall determine the fate of two legislative proposals which should be placed on the statute books.

The ordinances are:

1—A proposal to prohibit the sale as well as use of dangerous fireworks within the corporation on the Fourth of July.

2—Legislation which, if approved, will reduce the salary of the city's mayor in 1928-29 from $1,800 to $600 per annum.

Councilmanic opinion, apparently, is divided on the proposals, although public sentiment seemingly favors adoption of both measures. The fireworks ban has been placed on first reading.

Two years ago, the salary slashing plan was sanctioned by a 4 to 3 vote, but was vetoed by the city executive, Charles Brown. Three of the present council supported the ordinance, and at least two of them are expected to vote tomorrow night. The third man who urged enactment of the taboo is now president of council. He will not vote except in the event of a tie.

Citizens who are interested in the proposed legislation should attend the councilmanic session which is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The meeting hall is on the third floor of the Thompson building, Fourth and Market streets, and all councilmanic deliberations are open to the public.

Our Movie Women

American film producers are sensitive about public criticism, and they seem especially sensitive about foreign criticism, because they depend largely on the foreign market for their margin of profit. They are somewhat jolted, therefore, by a new criticism from Sweden.

Dr. Sonberg of the Swedish national censorship board says American films are a serious social problem in his country. While his people have been told, and have believed, that American women were respected and revered more than women in any other land, almost every American picture shown in Sweden shows women violently maltreated. This, says the Swedish censor, is not good for the Swedes, because our films constitute four-fifths of their screen entertainment. Neither, he thinks, is it good for this country.

Doubtless he is right. It looks as if our movie managers have not been accurately portraying American womanhood, and American treatment of womanhood. An investigation of the subject is now being made, and the situation may be improved.

New Trial For Socrates

Socrates, the old Greek philosopher and moralist, is to have his day in court again after many years. His case has been appealed to the supreme court at Athens, and a lawyer named Paradopoulos is going to act as his attorney.

It was by a miscarriage of justice, this lawyer holds, that Socrates was adjudged guilty of "impiety and corrupting youth" and sentenced to death, and "the honor of Greece requires a revision of the judgment and a judicial declaration of Socrates' innocence."

It will be just like those Greeks to go ahead and do it, too, though it looks more like an American publicity stunt than a Greek performance.

To Socrates, perhaps the greatest and best of the ancient Greeks, it matters not at all. More than 2,300 years ago that tired old man, refusing to change his course and denying that he had done anything except try to improve the character of the Athenians, cheerfully drank the deadly hemlock and passed to his reward. Why drag him through the courts now, except possibly to make a careless generation better acquainted with antigue greatness?

Modern Greece has little to do with the Greeks who killed Socrates. The whole world reversed the judgment of his enemies long ago. And Socrates himself needs no defense from any living man.

What defense could there be so good as his own "apologia," recorded by Plato? It would pay patrons of our own "best sellers" to get that out of the library and read it—not as philosophy, but as a gripping human statement in the midst of a great drama, from one of the foremost characters of history.

Comfortable Sleepers

A nation that welcomed Pullman sleeping cars with hosannas long ago, and has been enduring them with growing discontent for the last couple of decades, will welcome an innovation recently announced.

Instead of the usual Pullman berths, a car contains 14 compact but complete and comfortable bedrooms, with regular beds in them, and with hot and cold water, full-length mirror, folding table, chair, shoe box and pleasant reading lights. These cars are introduced on the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Michigan Central railroads, and presumably will soon be extended to other lines.

When there is such progress in American sleeping cars, which for years have been behind European sleepers in the matter of comfort, who shall deny progress is possible in any field of public service?

NOT SO POOR AS HE MIGHT APPEAR TO BE

The native was making slow headway with a hoe against the weeds and sassafras sprouts which covered the slope with their scrubby growth. Behind him rose a knobby field with deep furrows in it where the rains had washed out gullys in the thin clay. Further on, a rotting rail fence ran in crazy zigzaggings across the brow of the eminence, and, on all sides, the clearing was enveloped by the bleak and poverty-stricken landscape.

A northern tourist, who was making a detour through the foothills, halted his car and hailed the industrious worker.

"My friend," he said, "you look like a live chap and a born hustler."

"Well," said the native, "I aim to keep busy." He laid down his hoe and advanced to the edge of the road.

"That's what I said to myself as soon as I saw you. I'm wondering why you're content to slave your life out in this God-forsaken country? I never saw such poor-looking soil in my life. Why don't you pull up stakes and move up into Ohio where I live!"

The resident shook his head.

"You see, stranger," he answered, "I've always lived around here and I guess I'll stay awhile longer."

"Well," said the tourist, "every man to his own fancy, and I suppose a fellow might in time get attached even to such a spot as this. But what can you expect to gain by staying on? You are bound to get porer and poorer all the time."

"Mister," said the hillsman, "I'm a blamed sight better off than what you seem to think. Why, I don't own nary acre of this here land!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 6.—It is becoming increasingly difficult to meet the best people hereabouts without remaining up all night. In the mail today were two invitations to parties beginning at midnight. Still another bears the tag line, "Reception at 1 a. m."

One wonders eventually what is to become of that ridiculous gesture known as work. Many important executive positions are held by men who frequently remove their evening clothes, take a shower, don a business suit and go to the office, perhaps to rebuke a stenographer for being 10 minutes late.

It is quite probable all night carousing is largely responsible for the growing "in conference" gag. In nearly all side streets in the Forties and Fifties after dawn breaks may be seen men and women in evening clothes blinking at the sun while awaiting taxicabs.

These are, of course, supper club stay-outs who have repaired to hidden recesses after the main rooms closed. But all nighting is not confined to such institutions of gaiety The apartment party is not hitting on high until around midnight.

One reason is that in these days a party is not a party unless it is graced by a stage star or so and they are not able to remove the grease paint and leave the theatre until the midnight hour. Often, too, they must go home to secure proper clothes.

It is not especially difficult for them to remain up until daylight for, save on matinee days, they can sleep all day. Yet for those men who must fact important matters and perhaps a board of directors the wild melee is something else again. Ho, hum!

But there is a New York sinking into a gray languor with twilight that stirs itself when the roystering stay-outs are swinging home. They are the old aristocrats and gazing down from their high, crepuscular windows one wonders, just what they think of this new and buoyant generation. Perhaps very little.

The other day at lunch was a man in serene middle years who confessed he had had no sleep for two nights in succession. "Parties," he explained between steaming cups of black coffee. "And the worst of it," he said, "is that I've got to talk to my son this evening. He was sent home from boarding school for crawling into his dormitory room after 11 o'clock at night."

In other days New York cafes were liveliest between 8 and 10 in the evening. Now they are deserted. Many, indeed, close at 9 o'clock to reopen at 11. It is only after midnight they become steamed up.

It is an old story how quickly New York forgets, but there was a concrete example the other evening. A famous dancer of 10 years ago came into a place after the theatre. She was furred in ermine and gleaming with jewels. For some time she has been in middle west retirement. Not a soul seemed to recognize her and even the headwaiter parked her and her party at an obscure table.

It is noticed that many little tea rooms, whose proprietors thought several years ago that a few chintz curtains, burning candles and a brace of sullen Japanese waiters justified charging outrageous prices, have expired. The white enameled stool counter lunches have supplanted them. There is light and clatter instead of a glowering stillness.

In one of the stool counter places, I heard a perfect characterization. "He is," said a patron, "the type who thinks the pinnacle of politeness is to pick his teeth at the table behind a napkin."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Soviet Marriage And Divorce.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 6. — What Russia, since the ascendency of the Soviet, has done to the institution of holy matrimony has been a matter of no little interest in other countries. Likewise it has been a subject concerning which it has been difficult to get definite and accurate information. All kinds of reports have been circulated, some of them vividly colored and highly spiced, about the mildest being that marriage had been abolished under the new social order inaugurated under Lenin and Trotsky.

Even as yet, although the Russian experiment in government is practically a decade old, the outside world can not be sure as to what is to be believed of all that is heard about what is going on in that country which was once so conventionally ordered and so rigidly ruled. It appears, however, that the confusion and misinformation as to what has been done with respect to marriage and divorce have been due in no small degree to the fact that the Russians themselves have not understood the new laws and rules governing the relations of husband and wife.

Even those who created the new laws and rules seem not to have realized just what they would lead to. They were experimenting, and like the chemist in his laboratory they were by no means certain what would result from in the ingredients they were compounding. For instance, it seems that they have in effect legalized polygamy, although there is little or no evidence that they intended so to do.

The underlying principle of what they were attempting to accomplish, it is stated, was to improve the status of women in the marital relation and to emphasize the concern of the state in the children that are born into the Soviet world. To that end both marriage and divorce have been made much easier, to a degree almost of utter informality; the autocracy of the husband has been done away with, and it has been decreed that the stigma of illegitimacy shall never be placed upon a child.

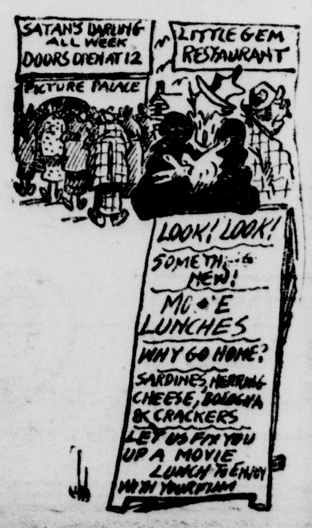

Under The Old Regime.

Under the old regime in Russia when a girl or woman married she merely transferred herself from the authoity of her father to that of a husband, and the authority in both cases was virtually absolute. The wife had no rights which the husband did not choose to bestow upon her. She had to live wherever he decided to establish their domicile. She had only an insignificant right in his or their mutual property, and unless he named her as his heir in his will the bulk of the property reverted to his family. If she left him, the law returned her to him, just as much his chattel as a slave. Without his permission she could not procure a passport. When they were married, the man said to the woman, "I take you for my wife; you must honor me."

But under the Soviet constitution men have no rights that are not enjoyed by women, and this goes for politics, for business, for industry, and for the home. Marriage has been decreed to be a voluntary association in which the woman says, in effect, "I become your wife of my own free will, but give you no authority over me."

"You see, stranger," he answered, "I've always lived around here and I guess I'll stay awhile longer."

"Well," said the tourist, "every man to his own fancy, and I suppose a fellow might in time get attached even to such a spot as this. But what can you expect to gain by staying on? You are bound to get porer and poorer all the time."

"Mister," said the hillsman, "I'm a blamed sight better off than what you seem to think. Why, I don't own nary acre of this here land!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 6.—It is becoming increasingly difficult to meet the best people hereabouts without remaining up all night. In the mail today were two invitations to parties beginning at midnight. Still another bears the tag line, "Reception at 1 a. m."

One wonders eventually what is to become of that ridiculous gesture known as work. Many important executive positions are held by men who frequently remove their evening clothes, take a shower, don a business suit and go to the office, perhaps to rebuke a stenographer for being 10 minutes late.

It is quite probable all night carousing is largely responsible for the growing "in conference" gag. In nearly all side streets in the Forties and Fifties after dawn breaks may be seen men and women in evening clothes blinking at the sun while awaiting taxicabs.

These are, of course, supper club stay-outs who have repaired to hidden recesses after the main rooms closed. But all nighting is not confined to such institutions of gaiety. The apartment party is not hitting on high until around midnight.

One reason is that in these days a party is not a party unless it is graced by a stage star or so and they are not able to remove the grease paint and leave the theatre until the midnight hour. Often, too, they must go home to secure proper clothes.

It is not especially difficult for them to remain up until daylight for, save on matinee days, they can sleep all day. Yet for those men who must fact important matters and perhaps a board of directors the wild melee is something else again. Ho, hum!

But there is a New York sinking into a gray languor with twilight that stirs itself when the roystering stay-outs are swinging home. They are the old aristocrats and gazing down from their high, crepuscular windows one wonders, just what they think of this new and buoyant generation. Perhaps very little.

The other day at lunch was a man in serene middle years who confessed he had had no sleep for two nights in succession. "Parties," he explained between steaming cups of black coffee. "And the worst of it," he said, "is that I've got to talk to my son this evening. He was sent home from boarding school for crawling into his dormitory room after 11 o'clock at night."

In other days New York cafes were liveliest between 8 and 10 in the evening. Now they are deserted. Many, indeed, close at 9 o'clock to reopen at 11. It is only after midnight they become steamed up.

It is an old story how quickly New York forgets, but there was a concrete example the other evening. A famous dancer of 10 years ago came into a place after the theatre. She was furred in ermine and gleaming with jewels. For some time she has been in middle west retirement. Not a soul seemed to recognize her and even the headwaiter parked her and her party at an obscure table.

It is noticed that many little tea rooms, whose proprietors thought several years ago that a few chintz curtains, burning candles and a brace of sullen Japanese waiters justified charging outrageous prices, have expired. The white enameled stool counter lunches have supplanted them. There is light and clatter instead of a glowering stillness.

In one of the stool counter places, I heard a perfect characterization. "He is," said a patron, "the type who thinks the pinnacle of politeness is to pick his teeth at the table behind a napkin."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Soviet Marriage And Divorce.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 6. — What Russia, since the ascendency of the Soviet, has done to the institution of holy matrimony has been a matter of no little interest in other countries. Likewise it has been a subject concerning which it has been difficult to get definite and accurate information. All kinds of reports have been circulated, some of them vividly colored and highly spiced, about the mildest being that marriage had been abolished under the new social order inaugurated under Lenin and Trotsky.

Even as yet, although the Russian experiment in government is practically a decade old, the outside world can not be sure as to what is to be believed of all that is heard about what is going on in that country which was once so conventionally ordered and so rigidly ruled. It appears, however, that the confusion and misinformation as to what has been done with respect to marriage and divorce have been due in no small degree to the fact that the Russians themselves have not understood the new laws and rules governing the relations of husband and wife.

Even those who created the new laws and rules seem not to have realized just what they would lead to. They were experimenting, and like the chemist in his laboratory they were by no means certain what would result from in the ingredients they were compounding. For instance, it seems that they have in effect legalized polygamy, although there is little or no evidence that they intended so to do.

The underlying principle of what they were attempting to accomplish, it is stated, was to improve the status of women in the marital relation and to emphasize the concern of the state in the children that are born into the Soviet world. To that end both marriage and divorce have been made much easier, to a degree almost of utter informality; the autocracy of the husband has been done away with, and it has been decreed that the stigma of illegitimacy shall never be placed upon a child.

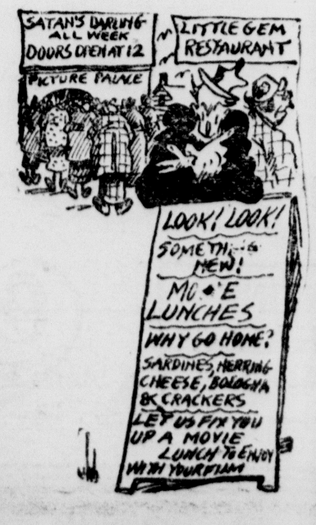

Under The Old Regime.

Under the old regime in Russia when a girl or woman married she merely transferred herself from the authoity of her father to that of a husband, and the authority in both cases was virtually absolute. The wife had no rights which the husband did not choose to bestow upon her. She had to live wherever he decided to establish their domicile. She had only an insignificant right in his or their mutual property, and unless he named her as his heir in his will the bulk of the property reverted to his family. If she left him, the law returned her to him, just as much his chattel as a slave. Without his permission she could not procure a passport. When they were married, the man said to the woman, "I take you for my wife; you must honor me."

But under the Soviet constitution men have no rights that are not enjoyed by women, and this goes for politics, for business, for industry, and for the home. Marriage has been decreed to be a voluntary association in which the woman says, in effect, "I become your wife of my own free will, but give you no authority over me."

MAYOR WALKER BOOSTS SMITH

Jimmie, in Columbus, Predicts Al Will Win Nomination.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6. — Voicing belief that Governor Al Smith, of New York, will be the next Democratic presidential nominee, Mayor James J. Walker, of New York city, here yesterday was non-committal on the subject of selecting a vice-presidential candidate as a running mate for Governor Smith.

Arriving here this morning, accompanied by E. M. Statler, John McE. Bowman, and other prominent hotel men of New York City, Mayor Walker participated in the formal ceremonies marking the opening of the new Wallick addition to the Deshler hotel. The addition comprises 600 rooms in the new American Insurance Union's 555.5 feet citadel which adjoins the Deshler.

With a local band playing "On the Sidewalks of New York," Mayor Walker and his party were escorted into the executive offices of Governor Vic Donahey at the statehouse. While the governor and mayor exchanged greeting, movie men filmed the occasion. Mayor Walker spent about 20 minutes in the governor's offices while the governor and his secretary, Jacob Meckstroth, took the visitors through the offices.

When questioned concerning the suggestion that Governor Donahey be chosen as a running mate for Governof Al Smith, Mayor Walker replied that he had "heard the Governor (Donahey) quoted as one who isn't a candidate." He stated, however, that it would "make a great ticket."

Some one suggested that Mayor Walker be a running mate for Governor Smith. "What's the use of making the ticket top-heavy?" the mayor smilingly replied.

When the suggestion that the Democrats nominate Donahey and Walker as their national ticket was made, Mayor Walker came back with: "New Yorkers will consent to no compromise on Smith."

Bowman's Repair Shop Adds Miles To Tires

Perfection in tires, or the final word in cushioning and safety for your vehicle, with its passengers or its load, at the lowest cost per mile, with the fewest delays, is productive of that blissful Elysium wherein the ranks of trouble free knights of the road are multiplying rapidly through the magic of Firestone Gum Dipped Cords.

There are those here, of course, who have yet to find the way to Firestone perfection. Their route may be punctuated by punctures and made double by trouble, and were it not for the samaritan service of Jim Bowman, their's would be one tough ride. Bowman in his shop "by the side of the road" is indeed a friend to man.

For six years Bowman has been repairing tires and the growth of his business and the demands on his time now testify to the efficiency of his methods.

The three M's—Men, Machinery and Methods, are exemplified in high degree at the Bowman shop.

First of all, Bowman, himself, a past master in the art of putting disabled tires back into service again; his first lieutenant and chief vulcanizer, a graduate of the Firestone repair school, at Akron, thoroughly grounded in all the esentials of his business; then, the latest, most improved and most modern vulcanizing machinery used today; and third, method in keeping with the standard of man power and machinery—a service that, anymore, pretty nearly covers the whole 24 hours of every day, on tires from 40x8 down to the three-incher, with two methods in operation, the inner cure and sectional.

This service, too, is not confined absolutely to the precincts of Bowman's shop, at 321 Market, right below Fourth, but is available at any place on the road within a reasonable distance of the city. Bowman is now operating two service trucks, through which his assistance is accessible to the motorist who is stranded high and dry along the roadside somewhere.

If your tires are ready for the pension list, and your car must be outfitted for another season, there will be no better time than at the present to investigate the advantages and the reasonable prices of Firestone Gum Dipped Cords.

"Better buy Firestones now; they're cheaper than ever before and it's entirely possible they'll cost more later on." This is the reliable information that Bowman passes along to his customers.

Why are Firestones better? Chiefly because of the gum dipping process that has enabled Firestone to make records in every field of tire performance. On May 1, at Atlantic City, these tires made six new world records, besides other track achievements during the year. Firestone Gum-Dipped tires have won every national championship race for the past six years.

Firestone full size balloons made a new transcontinental record during 1926—on a Studebaker in 86 hours, 20 minutes, and on a Wills Sainte Clair, in 83 hours, 12 minutes, arriving in New York from San Francisco August 27. This car, it will be recalled passed through East Liverpool on its record breaking run.

Firestones are standard equipment on the largest taxi fleets in the United States—herd 24-hour a day service on all kinds of roads. Firestone truck and Firestone balloons are standard equipment on the buses of prominent railroad and street railway companies in all large cities.

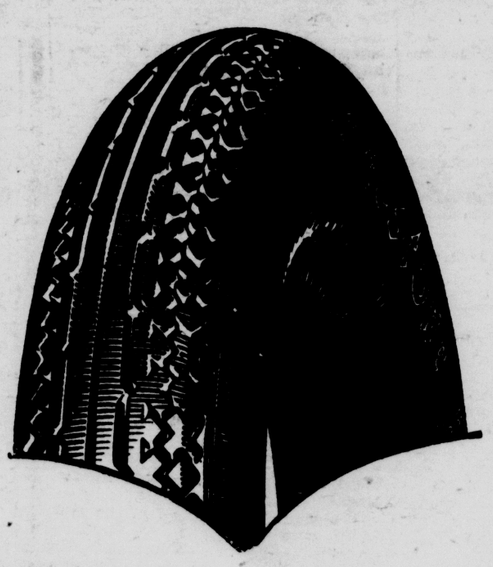

Firestone truck tires are standard equipment on hundreds of the largest industrial and commercial fleets.

Firestone inaugurated the campaign—"Americans Should Produce Their Own Rubber"—and thus made a material contribution toward lower crude rubber and tire prices.

Firestone carried forward the development of the extra gum-dipping process—the foundation of balloon tire success.

Take a rubber from a Firestone tire carcass. Untwisted it will show 15 smaller cords composed of millions of cotton fibers. There are thousands of cords like this in a tire. Before building, Firestone dips these cords in a rubber solution. Every fiber, consequently, is saturated and insulated with rubber, adding strength and enabling the cords to flex with minimum friction. This dipping made the balloon tire practical.

This important advantage and the scientifically designed Firestone tread are accountable for the remarkable performance of Firestone balloons from the very day they were introduced. Firestone gives motorists not only unheard of safety and comfort but longer milage than tires have ever given.

Bowman's Repair Shop Adds Miles To Tires

Perfection in tires, or the final word in cushioning and safety for your vehicle, with its passengers or its load, at the lowest cost per mile, with the fewest delays, is productive of that blissful Elysium wherein the ranks of trouble free knights of the road are multiplying rapidly through the magic of Firestone Gum Dipped Cords.

There are those here, of course, who have yet to find the way to Firestone perfection. Their route may be punctuated by punctures and made double by trouble, and were it not for the samaritan service of Jim Bowman, their's would be one tough ride. Bowman in his shop "by the side of the road" is indeed a friend to man.

For six years Bowman has been repairing tires and the growth of his business and the demands on his time now testify to the efficiency of his methods.

The three M's—Men, Machinery and Methods, are exemplified in high degree at the Bowman shop.

First of all, Bowman, himself, a past master in the art of putting disabled tires back into service again; his first lieutenant and chief vulcanizer, a graduate of the Firestone repair school, at Akron, thoroughly grounded in all the esentials of his business; then, the latest, most improved and most modern vulcanizing machinery used today; and third, method in keeping with the standard of man power and machinery—a service that, anymore, pretty nearly covers the whole 24 hours of every day, on tires from 40x8 down to the three-incher, with two methods in operation, the inner cure and sectional.

This service, too, is not confined absolutely to the precincts of Bowman's shop, at 321 Market, right below Fourth, but is available at any place on the road within a reasonable distance of the city. Bowman is now operating two service trucks, through which his assistance is accessible to the motorist who is stranded high and dry along the roadside somewhere.

If your tires are ready for the pension list, and your car must be outfitted for another season, there will be no better time than at the present to investigate the advantages and the reasonable prices of Firestone Gum Dipped Cords.

"Better buy Firestones now; they're cheaper than ever before and it's entirely possible they'll cost more later on." This is the reliable information that Bowman passes along to his customers.

Why are Firestones better? Chiefly because of the gum dipping process that has enabled Firestone to make records in every field of tire performance. On May 1, at Atlantic City, these tires made six new world records, besides other track achievements during the year. Firestone Gum-Dipped tires have won every national championship race for the past six years.

Firestone full size balloons made a new transcontinental record during 1926—on a Studebaker in 86 hours, 20 minutes, and on a Wills Sainte Clair, in 83 hours, 12 minutes, arriving in New York from San Francisco August 27. This car, it will be recalled passed through East Liverpool on its record breaking run.

Firestones are standard equipment on the largest taxi fleets in the United States—herd 24-hour a day service on all kinds of roads. Firestone truck and Firestone balloons are standard equipment on the buses of prominent railroad and street railway companies in all large cities.

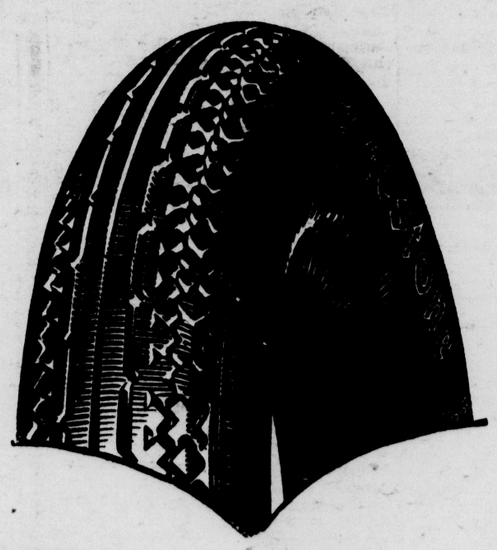

Firestone truck tires are standard equipment on hundreds of the largest industrial and commercial fleets.

Firestone inaugurated the campaign—"Americans Should Produce Their Own Rubber"—and thus made a material contribution toward lower crude rubber and tire prices.

Firestone carried forward the development of the extra gum-dipping process—the foundation of balloon tire success.

Take a rubber from a Firestone tire carcass. Untwisted it will show 15 smaller cords composed of millions of cotton fibers. There are thousands of cords like this in a tire. Before building, Firestone dips these cords in a rubber solution. Every fiber, consequently, is saturated and insulated with rubber, adding strength and enabling the cords to flex with minimum friction. This dipping made the balloon tire practical.

This important advantage and the scientifically designed Firestone tread are accountable for the remarkable performance of Firestone balloons from the very day they were introduced. Firestone gives motorists not only unheard of safety and comfort but longer milage than tires have ever given.

W. H. THOMPSON IS ELECTED MAYOR OF CHICAGO

G. O. P. NOMINEE DEFEATS DEVER, DEMS' CHOICE

Dr. John Dill Robertson Finishes Poor Third.

BITTER BATTLE

Threatened Bloodshed and Rioting Fails to Materialize.

CHICAGO, April 6.—William Hale Thompson, Republican, will be the next mayor of Chicago. Complete returns today show that he won over his Democratic opponent, Mayor William E. Dever, in yesterday's bitterly contested election by a plurality of 83,072 votes.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, former health commissioner, who ran on an Independent Republican ticket, finished a poor third. Thompson's total vote—512,740—was more than the vote of Dever and Robertson combined. Dever polled a total of 429,668 votes and Robertson 51,209.

The election in the main was quiet. Threatened bloodshed and rioting on a large scale failed to materialize. There were the usual shootings and slugings, without which no Chicago election is complete, but general rioting as anticipated by city and county authorities, did not even threaten.

Nearly Million Votes Cast.

Several reasons were advanced for the unusual calm that pervaded the voting places. The police were better organized than they had ever been before. Back of them stood the threat of the national guard.

"The gangsters knew," one high police official pointed out, "that they would be shown no quarter." He said he believed the fatal shooting of Vincent Drucci, a powerful gang leader, by a police officer the day before election, was an excellent lesson to gangland.

Nearly a million votes were cast—993,617 to be exact. This total was the largest by more than 200,000 ever polled in a Chicago municipal election. It represented 87 per cent of the registration.

Mr. Thompson was twice mayor of Chicago, serving from 1915 to 1923. His return to power, after the bitterest campaign in the history of Chicago, was widely celebrated over the city.

The hilarity began shortly after 6 o'clock last night when it appeared certain that Thompson had been elected. They were still whooping it up today. In the first ecstacy of victory Thompson's supporters paraded Loop streets shouting "Thompson for president!" Automobile horns and sirens kept up a continual howl through the night.

The celebrating was all good natured, it appeared, no serious clashes being reported to police. In fact, the old town that a few hours before had quaked under the fear of a race riot was declared "quite safe" at midnight and all emergency bureau squads were ordered off duty.

Victor's and Loser's Statements.

As soon as he learned definitely that he had won, Thompson gave out the following statement:

"I shall continue to work for the best interests of Chicago, for the lakes to the gulf waterway and for suppression of major crimes.

"No future draft for American boys and no joining a league of nations or world's court, especially with the covenant which provides an equal vote of all debtor nations, by which they could call the roll and cancel our loans. The people of American would have to pay them."

Mayor Dever commented as follows:

"I am perfectly satisfied now that the people have made their choice. I made the best fight possible under the circumstances and I hope that all is well with this fine city."

Hailed as Party Victory.

Thompson's election was hailed in Republican quarters as a party victory with wide national significance. Governor Len Small, Senator Charles S. Deneen and other prominent Republican leaders, formerly at outs with the Thompson faction, came to his support on the eve of the election.

These leaders feared the election of Dever would strengthen the position of George E. Brennan, Democratic boss of Illinois and a supporter of Governor Al Smith for the Democratic nomination in 1928.

Thompson adopted for his campaign slogan "America first." He promised to revise school text books to give George Washington and other Revolutionary heroes more prominence and to eliminate paragraphs

The ideal arrangement would be one under which a workman could actually increase his own gains by individual concentration and effort, and know just what he was earning, like the bootblack or newsboy that owns his stand. That, however, is not possible in our form of industry.

NEW YORK to Chicago air service is let to the able Coffin-Henderson concern at $1.24 a pound. A lower bid at $1.23 was rejected because pilots flying the machines owned stock in the company.

That should be a reason for giving the contract, instead of refusing it. Pilots owning stock in machines would take care of them and the mail. If any law forbids pilots owning stock in a flying company, that law should be changed.

complimentary to King George of England.

Mayor Dever ran on his record, pleading for "decency" and "law enforcement." Both candidates were "wet," but Thompson said he was as "wet as the Atlantic ocean," whereas Dever talked "dry law enforcement."

In the closing days of the campaign the race question became the dominant issue. Dever's supporters charged the election of Thompson would fill the city hall with negro politicians and result in a swelling of the Chicago Negro population. It was this issue that gave the campaign the most dangerous aspects.

SAPIRO FORCED HIS OWN TERMS, REED CLAIMS

Contract With American Farm Bureau is Cited.

CLASH IN COURT

Chicagoan Pays Tribute to Former Governor Lowden.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 6.—Aaron Sapiro, cooperative king, forced his own terms of employment on the American Farm Bureau Federation, strongest of all farm organizations, it was showed today at the trial of the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit in federal court.

With Sapiro undergoing cross-examination, Senator James A. Reed, of Henry Ford's counsel, placed in evidence the contract by which the cooperative king became special counsel for the farm bureau in 1923. It virtually gave Sapiro the power to dictate the marketing, financial and legislative programs of American agriculture.

The contract was approved April 9, 1923, after the opposition of O. E. Bradfute, president of the federation, had been crushed. Sapiro got $700 a month and expenses for his leadership and advice, with the contract providing for additional fee for all "litigation or unusual service."

The dramatic feature of the session was a clash between Reed and Sapiro over the farming activities of Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois. Reed charged Lowden who headed the national wheat growers advisory committee, made his living as a capitalist while Sapiro declared the former governor was one of the greatest farmers in the country.

War—Ten Years Ago

The Road to Verdun.

Then, ten years ago, it was up the road to Verdun. Staggering columns bending under soggy packs. Muddy roads crowded with the big parade to the front—artillery, infantry, tanks, everything. A doughboy down the line strikes up the lilt of "Madelon." Who said "Madelon" didn't win the war? "Madelon," the little dark French girl in an obscure estaminet was the symbol of every soldier's sweetheart—marching by his side. Then closer to the lines.

The sky streaked by an ugly red at night. The marauding Boche planes that shelled the roads. The trail of ambulances coming back with grinning Yanks going to Blighty.

Marching in the darkness, hiding in the day. Finally the front—machine guns spatting from slits in a shelled church—Jerry heads popping up in the fields of wheat. Your sergeant stopped one—crawling through the mud—and died in your arms. Rushing the clump of bushes slinging hand grenades.

Scene of Terrible Slaughter.

Vaux, Douamont—the forts—Le Morthomme (Dead Man's Hill) where 900,000 French and Germans have sacrificed their lives in the carnage—Cheppy—two days of continuous fighting for the crippled town.

Montfaucon, where the crown prince of Germany has his observation tower. Screeching shells flopping down in the mud—the hills so easy to hold but so hard to take.

Today—the shattered church on the hill at Montfaucon—wrecked houses of the old town—peasants salvaging in the ruins . . . The iron barred fence surrounding the yard where the Crown Prince had his dugout. . . . A wooden tower built by the French as a military location guide . . . Slits in the concrete of the church where machine guns spit fire at the advancing troops ten years ago. That is the old Montfaucon today.

Cheppy . . . a monument—erected by the state of Missouri . . . down in the town some women are washing clothes in the stream. . . three turkeys (didons) strut their stuff near the fox holes in the side of the bank along the road . . . Two boys playing marbles in the street of Cierges . . . a peasant laborer sits with his dog near a roadside eating his lunch . . . . there's a deep shell hole . . . the monument at Natillois erected by the state of Pennsylvania.

A Difference, Indeed.

Maybe its on the way to St. Mihiel. There the twenty-sixth and first division met. Nine years have made a difference. Then the infantry was plastered with mud and clay as they steadily advanced, then crouched in that dripping day in September waiting for the words "Let's Go." St. Mihiel has a German cemetery now. The crosses are black—as all German grave crosses are in France and Belgium. Today the teacher at Seicheprey blushingly admits she knew the Americans at Bar-le-duc after the armistice. Perhaps she was the one of "Hinkey, Dinkey, Parley-voo fame." Peace reigns now from St. Mihiel through Rembercourt and on to Pont-a-Mouson. Peasants tilling the field pause as the Angelus rings. They gather fagots in the forest. Once in a while a German or American grave is unearthed by these people who receive twenty francs for the find. Peaceful, happy area. The Rupt de Mad is tumbling noisily on its way to the River Moselle.

Ruins Still There.

Thus it is over France and the battle areas. The ruins of the peasant cabin where the men of the Seventy-seventh (Liberty New York division) crouched that night looking into the roaring fire still stands. A new cabin is near. The New Yorkers stood before the gates of Sedan and although they didn't know it, Nov. 2, 1918, might well have looked into the fireplace and said, "It won't be long now."

Although much of France has been rebuilt the evidences of war are found every place. Stack after stack of guns, and the debris of the battlefield's have been salvaged. Skuffing in the soil with foot, old helmets, canteens shell casings, rusty shrapnel, unexploded hand grenades, and the equipment of war can be unearthed in the path of the advance. Land desolate and bare. Nothing green. Raw, yellow earth with gaping holes. From Chateau Thierry to the Vesle river and from Soissons to Rheims, wheat and poppies growing in the fields but also shell holes. Twenty years will be required to efface the evidences of the titanic struggle. Initials scratched on the church at Cunel. . . Charles Henry Fiske of the Third infantry . . . once of Boston . . . to Robert Fitzgerald Clark . . . an ensign in the U. S. N. R. aviation . . . and Aaron Davis . . . a lieutenant in the Seventh Infantry . . . such marks will last even longer than twenty years.

Where Americans Rest.

Then—there is another sector of France and Belgium sector by the invincible hosts of soldier dead . . . the American cemeteries. There the privates and the commissioned officers rest side by side—alike in death . . . only a few words on the crosses marking the difference in rank. Solemn fields of honor where at dawn the flag is raised over each of them. Each sunset it is lowered. In each the crosses stand in steady rows, white against a background of green sod, and a first budding of young trees gives promise of greater beauty as the years roll by. Here are the lasting records of the A. E. F.

Where Cemeteries Are.

Six of the American cemeteries are on the battlefields, on ground taken from the enemy by the power of American arms, on ground restored to France and to Belgium by our delivering sword. The other two are near the great cities of London and Paris. Here is the list of them and the number of those who lie therein:

Flanders Field, Waereghem, Belgium, 365; Somme Cemetery, Bony, France, 1,826; Meuse-Argonne Cemetery, Romange-sous-Montfaucon, 14,107; St. Mihiel Cemetery, Thiaucourt, 4,141; Oise-Aisne Cemetery, Fere-en-Tardenois, 5,946; Aisne-Marne Cemetery, Belleau, 2,212; Brookwood Cemetery, London, England, 437; Suresnes Cemetery, Paris, France, 1,506.

Ten years have gone . . . the men of all arms are meeting on the field of battle today . . . in memory. Ten years have gone but the men who wore the uniform have not forgotten.

Stands Pat Against War.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

Copyright, 1927, by the International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Ten years ago today America declared war on Germany, throwing the might of 110,000,000 people into "the war to end war."

Of that little group in the senate—"willful men" they were called by Woodrow Wilson—who braved the condemnation of the country and voted against the war resolution there remains today only one. He is Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. The rest are gone. Stone of Missouri, LaFollette of Wisconsin, Lane of Oregon, Gronna of North Carolina, are dead—hastened to their graves by the opprobium that was heaped upon them. Vardaman of Mississippi, he of the picturesque mane, has long since retired.

Senator Norris sat in his office today, the same kindly, independent philosopher of April 6, 1917. Looking back over ten years and what they have brought to America and to the world he philosophized.

"Have I ever regretted that vote?" he repeated. "No, I never have. Would I vote today as I voted ten years ago today. I would."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 6.—All departments of the market moved forward in a broad, active swing in the early trading today. Buying of the railroad stocks extended to a wide range of the better grade of dividend-paying shares; short covering in the oils was more aggressive than in yesterday's session, and the market's big leaders, General Motors and Steel common, continued their sensational advances into new high territory. In the absence of new developments in trade and industry, the extraordinary strength of the technical position of the market received the major emphasis in the financial district. Heavy profit taking in the fast-moving industrial and specialty stocks was promptly absorbed and the stocks forged ahead to the highest level of the year, though as a rule the new gains rarely exceeded a point.

Call money renewals opened at 4 per cent, but money was available at a fractionally lower rate in the outside market. The leading independent oil companies announced a new one-cent price cut in gasoline, meeting the latest reduction of the Standard of New Jersey, and the weekly crude oil report showed a gain of about 16,000 barrels daily in national crude oil production. Railroad earnings and traffic reports maintained their favorable records, and steel buying was reported on the increase.

U. S. Steel sold above 171 and General Motors at 184, Hudson and Studebaker led a strong move in the motors, while Phillips and Marland led the oils. Western Maryland gained about two points to sel lat 37¾, while the second preferred duplicated the best prices of the year. Cooper stocks and sugars were firm in this period. Equipment stocks steady and specialties inactive. Firmness in cotton was the feature of the commodities.

W. H. THOMPSON IS ELECTED MAYOR OF CHICAGO

G. O. P. NOMINEE DEFEATS DEVER, DEMS' CHOICE

Dr. John Dill Robertson Finishes Poor Third.

BITTER BATTLE

Threatened Bloodshed and Rioting Fails to Materialize.

CHICAGO, April 6.—William Hale Thompson, Republican, will be the next mayor of Chicago. Complete returns today show that he won over his Democratic opponent, Mayor William E. Dever, in yesterday's bitterly contested election by a plurality of 83,072 votes.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, former health commissioner, who ran on an Independent Republican ticket, finished a poor third. Thompson's total vote — 512,740 — was more than the vote of Dever and Robertson combined. Dever polled a total of 429,668 votes and Robertson 51,209.

The election in the main was quiet. Threatened bloodshed and rioting on a large scale failed to materialize. There were the usual shootings and slugging, without which no Chicago election is complete, but general rioting as anticipated by city and county authorities, did not even threaten.

Nearly Million Votes Cast.

Several reasons were advanced for the unusual calm that pervaded the voting places. The police were better organized than they had ever been before. Back of them stood the threat of the national guard.

"The gangsters knew," one high police official pointed out, "that they would be shown no quarter." He said he believed the fatal shooting of Vincent Drucci, a powerful gang leader, by a police officer the day before election, was an excellent lesson to gangland.

Nearly a million votes were cast—993,617 to be exact. This total was the largest by more than 200,000 ever polled in a Chicago municipal election. It represented 87 per cent of the registration.

Mr. Thompson was twice mayor of Chicago, serving from 1915 to 1923. His return to power, after the bitterest campaign in the history of Chicago, was widely celebrated over the city.

The hilarity began shortly after 6 o'clock last night when it appeared certain that Thompson had been elected. They were still whooping it up today. In the first ecstacy of victory, Thompson's supporters paraded Loop streets shouting "Thompson for president!" Automobile horns and sirens kept up a continual howl through the night.

The celebrating was all good natured, it appeared, no serious clashes being reported to police. In fact, the old town that a few hours before had quaked under the fear of a race riot was declared "quite safe" at midnight and all emergency bureau squads were ordered off duty.

Victor's and Loser's Statements.

As soon as he learned definitely that he had won, Thompson gave out the following statement:

"I shall continue to work for the best interests of Chicago, for the lakes to the gulf waterway and for suppression of major crimes.

"No future draft for American boys and no joining a league of nations or world's court, especially with the covenant which provides an equal vote of all debtor nations, by which they could call the roll and cancel our loans. The people of American would have to pay them."

Mayor Dever commented as follows:

"I am perfectly satisfied now that the people have made their choice. I made the best fight possible under the circumstances and I hope that all is well with this fine city."

Hailed as Party Victory.

Thompson's election was hailed in Republican quarters as a party victory with wide national significance Governor Len Small, Senator Charles S. Deneen and other prominent Republican leaders, formerly at outs with the Thompson faction, came to his support on the eve of the election.

These leaders feared the election of Dever would strengthen the position of George E. Brennan, Democratic boss of Illinois and a supporter of Governor Al Smith for the Democratic nomination in 1928.

Thompson adopted for his campaign slogan "America first." He promised to revise school text books to give George Washington and other Revolutionary heroes more prominence and to eliminate paragraphs complimentary to King George of England.

Mayor Dever ran on his record, pleading for "decency" and "law enforcement." Both candidates were "wet," but Thompson said he was as "wet as the Atlantic ocean," whereas Dever talked "dry law enforcement."

In the closing days of the campaign the race question became the dominant issue. Dever's supporters charged the election of Thompson would fill the city hall with negro politicians and result in a swelling of the Chicago Negro population. It was this issue that gave the campaign the most dangerous aspects.

In 17 years Mr. Eastman has divided more than $20,000,000 among his employes. He sets a good example and helps prosperity.

The ideal arrangement would be one under which a workman could actually increase his own gains by individual concentration and effort, and know just what he was earning, like the bootblack or newsboy that owns his stand. That, however, is not possible in our form of industry.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE says: "Familiarity with the Scriptures brings culture."

Read the Psalms, Isaiah, Job the sermon on the Mount, 10 or 20 times and you will write better poetry, prose or advertising copy.

NEW YORK to Chicago air service is let to the able Coffin-Henderson concern at $1.24 a pound. A lower bid at $1.23 was rejected because pilots flying the machines owned stock in the company.

That should be a reason for giving the contract, instead of refusing it. Pilots owning stock in machines would take care of their and the mail. If any law forbids pilots owning stock in a flying company, that law should be changed.

SAPIRO FORCED HIS OWN TERMS, REED CLAIMS

Contract With American Farm Bureau is Cited.

CLASH IN COURT

Chicagoan Pays Tribute to Former Governor Lowden.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 6.—Aaron Sapiro, cooperative king, forced his own terms of employment on the American Farm Bureau Federation, strongest of all farm organizations, it was showed today at the trial of the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit in federal court.

With Sapiro undergoing cross-examination, Senator James A. Reed, of Henry Ford's counsel, placed in evidence the contract by which the cooperative king became special counsel for the farm bureau in 1923. It virtually gave Sapiro the power to dictate the marketing, financial and legislative programs of American agriculture.

The contract was approved April 9, 1923, after the opposition of O. E. Bradfute, president of the federation, had been crushed. Sapiro got $700 a month and expenses for his leadership and advice, with the contract providing for additional fee for all "litigation or unusual service."

The dramatic feature of the session was a clash between Reed and Sapiro over the farming activities of Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois. Reed charged Lowden who headed the national wheat growers advisory committee, made his living as a capitalist while Sapiro declared the former governor was one of the greatest farmers in the country.

The Road to Verdun.

Then, ten years ago, it was up the road to Verdun. Staggering columns bending under soggy packs. Muddy roads crowded with the big parade to the front—artillery, infantry, tanks, everything. A doughboy down the line strikes up the lilt of "Madelon." Who said "Madelon" didn't win the war? "Madelon," the little dark French girl in an obscure estaminet was the symbol of every soldier's sweetheart—marching by his side. Then closer to the lines.

The sky streaked by an ugly red at night. The marauding Boche planes that shelled the roads. The trail of ambulances coming back with grinning Yanks going to Blighty.

Marching in the darkness, hiding in the day. Finally the front—machine guns spatting from slits in a shelled church—Jerry heads popping up in the fields of wheat. Your sergeant stopped one—crawling through the mud—and died in your arms. Rushing the clump of bushes slinging hand grenades.

Scene of Terrible Slaughter.

Vaux, Douamont—the forts—Le Morthomme (Dead Man's Hill) where 900,000 French and Germans have sacrificed their lives in the carnage—Cheppy—two days of continuous fighting for the crippled town.

Montfaucon, where the crown prince of Germany has his observation tower. Screeching shells flopping down in the mud—the hills so easy to hold but so hard to take.

Today—the shattered church on the hill at Montfaucon—wrecked houses of the old town—peasants salvaging in the ruins . . The iron barred fence surrounding the yard where the Crown Prince had his dugout. . . A wooden tower built by the French as a military location guide . . . Slits in the concrete of the church where machine guns spit fire at the advancing troops ten years ago. That is the old Montfaucon today

Cheppy . . . a monument—erected by the state of Missouri . . . down in the town some women are washing clothes in the stream. . . three turkeys (didons) strut their stuff near the fox holes in the side of the bank along the road . . . Two boys playing marbles in the street of Cierges . . . a peasant laborer sits with his dog near a roadside eating his lunch . . . there's a deep shell hole . . . the monument at Natillois erected by the state of Pennsylvania.

A Difference, Indeed.

Maybe its on the way to St. Mihiel, There the twenty-sixth and first division met. Nine years have made a difference. Then the infantry was plastered with mud and clay as they steadily advanced, then crouched in that dripping day in September waiting for the words "Let's Go." St. Mihiel has a German cemetery now. The crosses are black—as all German grave crosses are in France and Belgium. Today the teacher at Seicheprey blushingly admits she knew the Americans at Bar-le-duc after the armistice. Perhaps she was the one of "Hinkey, Dinkey, Parley-voo fame." Peace reigns now from St. Mihiel through Rembercourt and on to Pont-a-Mouson. Peasants tilling the field pause as the Angelus rings. They gather fagots in the forest. Once in a while a German or American grave is unearthed by these people who receive twenty francs for the find. Peaceful, happy area. The Rupt de Mad is tumbling noisily on its way to the River Moselle.

Ruins Still There.

Thus it is over France and the battle areas. The ruins of the peasant cabin where the men of the Seventy-seventh (Liberty New York division) crouched that night looking into the roaring fire still stands. A new cabin is near. The New Yorkers stood before the gates of Sedan and although they didn't know it, Nov. 2, 1918, might well have looked into the fireplace and said, "It won't be long now."

Although much of France has been rebuilt the evidences of war are found every place. Stack after stack of guns, and the debris of the battlefields have been salvaged. Skuffing in the soil with foot, old helmets, canteens shell casings, rusty shrapnel, unexploded hand grenades, and the equipment of war can be unearthed in the path of the advance. Land desolate and bare. Nothing green. Raw, yellow earth with gaping holes. From Chateau Thierry to the Vesle river and from Soissons to Rheims, wheat and poppies growing in the fields but also shell holes. Twenty years will be required to efface the evidences of the titanic struggle. Initials scratched on the church at Cunel. . . Charles Henry Fiske of the Third infantry . . . once of Boston . . . to Robert Fitzgerald Clark . . . an ensign in the U. S. N. R. aviation . . . and Aaron Davis . . . a lieutenant in the Seventh Infantry . . . such marks will last even longer than twenty years.

Where Americans Rest.

Then—there is another sector of France and Belgium sector by the invincible hosts of soldier dead . . . the American cemeteries. There the privates and the commissioned officers rest side by side—alike in death . . . only a few words on the crosses marking the difference in rank. Solemn fields of honor where at dawn the flag is raised over each of them. Each sunset it is lowered. In each the crosses stand in steady rows, white against a background of green sod, and a first budding of young trees gives promise of greater beauty as the years roll by. Here are the lasting records of the A. E. F.

Where Cemeteries Are.

Six of the American cemeteries are on the battlefields, on ground taken from the enemy by the power of American arms, on ground restored to France and to Belgium by our delivering sword. The other two are near the great cities of London and Paris. Here is the list of them and the number of those who lie therein:

Flanders Field, Waereghem, Belgium, 365; Somme Cemetery, Bony, France, 1,826; Meuse-Argonne Cemetery, Romange-sous-Montfaucon, 14,107; St. Mihiel Cemetery, Thiaucourt, 4,141; Oise-Aisne Cemetery, Fere-en-Tardenois, 5,946; Aisne-Marne Cemetery, Belleau, 2,212; Brookwood Cemetery, London, England, 437; Suresnes Cemetery, Paris, France, 1,506.

Ten years have gone . . . the men of all arms are meeting on the field of battle today . . . in memory. Ten years have gone but the men who wore the uniform have not forgotten.

Stands Pat Against War.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

Copyright, 1927, by the International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Ten years ago today America declared war on Germany, throwing the might of 110,000,000 people into "the war to end war."

Of that little group in the senate—"willful men" they were called by Woodrow Wilson—who braved the condemnation of the country and voted against the war resolution there remains today only one. He is Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. The rest are gone. Stone of Missouri, LaFollette of Wisconsin, Lane of Oregon, Gronna of North Carolina, are dead—hastened to their graves by the opprobium that was heaped upon them. Vardaman of Mississippi, he of the picturesque mane, has long since retired.

Senator Norris sat in his office today, the same kindly, independent philosopher of April 6, 1917. Looking back over ten years and what they have brought to America and to the world he philosophized.

"Have I ever regretted that vote?" he repeated. "No, I never have. Would I vote today as I voted ten years ago today. I would."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 6.—All departments of the market moved forward in a broad, active swing in the early trading today. Buying of the railroad stocks extended to a wide range of the better grade of dividend-paying shares; short covering in the oils was more aggressive than in yesterday's session, and the market's big leaders, General Motors and Steel common, continued their sensational advances into new high territory. In the absence of new developments in trade and industry, the extraordinary strength of the technical position of the market received the major emphasis in the financial district. Heavy profit taking in the fast-moving industrial and specialty stocks was promptly absorbed and the stocks forged ahead to the highest level of the year, though as a rule the new gains rarely exceeded a point.

Call money renewals opened at 4 per cent, but money was available at a fractionally lower rate in the outside market. The leading independent oil companies announced a new one-cent price cut in gasoline, meeting the latest reduction of the Standard of New Jersey, and the weekly crude oil report showed a gain of about 16,000 barrels daily in national crude oil production. Railroad earnings and traffic reports maintained their favorable records, and steel buying was reported on the increase.

U. S. Steel sold above 171 and General Motors at 184, Hudson and Studebaker led a strong move in the motors, while Phillips and Marland led the oils. Western Maryland gained about two points to sel lat 373, while the second preferred duplicated the best prices of the year. Cooper stocks and sugars were firm in this period. Equipment stocks steady and specialties inactive. Firmness in cotton was the feature of the commodities.

Haskin's Letter

Whatever property the wife had before marriage remains hers. She takes her husband's name or retains her own, just as she elects. She may maintain a separate establishment, if seh desires to do so, and is able. And when she decides that the time has come to give friend husband the air she can secure a divorce as readily as a birth certificate can be got in this country.

A couple desiring to sever their matrimonial ties do not have to go through court proceedings that include the filing of a suit and a trial or hearing in which one or the other must establish grounds for divorce. They do not have to sue or to give any grounds The mere fact that they want a divorce is sufficient cause for granting it, and there is no washing of dirty linen for the edification of a morbid-minded public. There is no graft for detectives who get divorce evidence, and there are no fees for divorce lawyers. There are no sensational stories for the newspapers, no material for the sob sisters to mull over, and no occasion for the activities of the news photographers who get pictures in spite of all that may be done to circumvent them.

Sign On And Then Sign Off.

As a matter of fact, the Russian marriage and divorce system is essentially one of signing on and signing off. No ceremony is required to validate a marriage. Those who prefer to observe the amenities and formalities of life do, of course, have a marriage ceremony, but it is not necessary so far as the legality of the affair is concerned.

Registering as husband and wife at a hotel is in effect an entirely legal ceremony. So, also, is the mere living together of a man and a woman. A youth and a maiden become interested in each other, they court each other, and then one fine day she moves into his living quarters or he transfers his belongings to her menage, and thereby they are married. They may register their marriage, or they may not, but their living together constitutes it a de facto marriage and it is just as legal and presumptively just as hallowed as if it had been blessed by all the priests or ministers in Christendom.

Now in the matter of the legitimacy of children, the Soviet has gone far in decreeing that the mother in registering the birth of a child shall give the name of the child's father. Whether the man she names is her registered or informal husband, and whether he is otherwise married or not, he is the legal father of the child and is responsible for its support unless he can prove that it is not his. If there is any disgrace, it rests entirely upon the man and not upon the mother or the child. In no circumstances is the child to be considered illegitimate. This seems to be predicated upon the idea that if a child is born it must have a father as well as a mother, and that neither of its parents should be permitted to escape responsibility for bringing it into the world. Least of all should the child suffer by reason of any derelictions of its parents.

When it comes to getting a divorce, all the Russian mismated have to do is to go to an office in the same district where their marriage was registered. If they have no children their marriage is declared null and void in about three scratches of a pen, and the wife can resume her maiden name immediately, if she chanced to have relinquished it when she joined up with the male of the species to whom she is giving the gate.

If they have children the divorce will not be granted or recorded so promptly, for the Soviet insists that the father must assume full responsibility for his offspring in so far as their support is concerned.

There is whefe the peculiar angle of the Russian marriage law comes in in the way of legalizing polygamy. A man is held to be legally married to every woman by whom he may have had a child, and to every woman with whom he has lived in the marital state.

But, with divorce so easy in Russia, why shouldn't Moscow or any other Slav city bid successfully for the American divorce business that is now going to Paris?

Haskin's Letter

Whatever property the wife had before marriage remains hers. She takes her husband's name or retains her own, just as she elects. She may maintain a separate establishment, if seh desires to do so, and is able. And when she decides that the time has come to give friend husband the air she can secure a divorce as readily as a birth certificate can be got in this country.

A couple desiring to sever their matrimonial ties do not have to go through court proceedings that include the filing of a suit and a trial or hearing in which one or the other must establish grounds for divorce. They do not have to sue or to give any grounds The mere fact that they want a divorce is sufficient cause for granting it, and there is no washing of dirty linen for the edification of a morbid-minded public. There is no graft for detectives who get divorce evidence, and there are no fees for divorce lawyers. There are no sensational stories for the newspapers, no material for the sob sisters to mull over, and no occasion for the activities of the news photographers who get pictures in spite of all that may be done to circumvent them.

Sign On And Then Sign Off.

As a matter of fact, the Russian marriage and divorce system is essentially one of signing on and signing off. No ceremony is required to validate a marriage. Those who prefer to observe the amenities and formalities of life do, of course, have a marriage ceremony, but it is not necessary so far as the legality of the affair is concerned.

Registering as husband and wife at a hotel is in effect an entirely legal ceremony. So, also, is the mere living together of a man and a woman. A youth and a maiden become interested in each other, they court each other, and then one fine day she moves into his living quarters or he transfers his belongings to her menage, and thereby they are married. They may register their marriage, or they may not, but their living together constitutes it a de facto marriage and it is just as legal and presumptively just as hallowed as if it had been blessed by all the priests or ministers in Christendom.

Now in the matter of the legitimacy of children, the Soviet has gone far in decreeing that the mother in registering the birth of a child shall give the name of the child's father. Whether the man she names is her registered or informal husband, and whether he is otherwise married or not, he is the legal father of the child and is responsible for its support unless he can prove that it is not his. If there is any disgrace, it rests entirely upon the man and not upon the mother or the child. In no circumstances is the child to be considered illegitimate. This seems to be predicated upon the idea that if a child is born it must have a father as well as a mother, and that neither of its parents should be permitted to escape responsibility for bringing it into the world. Least of all should the child suffer by reason of any derelictions of its parents.

When it comes to getting a divorce, all the Russian mismated have to do is to go to an office in the same district where their marriage was registered. If they have no children their marriage is declared null and void in about three scratches of a pen, and the wife can resume her maiden name immediately, if she chanced to have relinquished it when she joined up with the male of the species to whom she is giving the gate.

If they have children the divorce will not be granted or recorded so promptly, for the Soviet insists that the father must assume full responsibility for his offspring in so far as their support is concerned.

SCACCUTO APPEAL DECISION EXPECTED TOMORROW

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS IN MURDER CASE

Wellsville Man Denies Knowledge of Kenney Slaying.

NOW IN PRISON

Defense Asks New Trial in Death of Patrolman.

Nicola Scaccuto, of Wellsville, convicted of second degree murder in the death of Patrolman James Kenney, May 17, last, may learn tomorrow whether he will be granted a new trial.

Scaccuto, now serving a life sentence in prison, yesterday asked the appellate court at Lisbon to order a re-hearing.

Scaccuto's appeal was made to Judges Roberts, Farr and Pollock through his counsel, Attorney J. V. Zotterlei, of Cleveland, and the argument for the state against the motion was made by Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes.

Quoting from the brief he filed with the court, Attorney Zotterlei declared that Scaccuto at no time knew that a murder was being committed when Patrolman Kenney was slain. He maintained that the statement of the state in the closing argument was outside of the evidence, and that such words were prejudicial.

Zotterlei also asserted that at no time was Scaccuto a party to any common purpose or design to kill Kenney, whom it was said, he did not know, and that Scaccuto has "absolutely no reason or motive to kill anyone, and that he was going about his business unarmed."

Prosecuting Attorney Brookes, referring to the alleged misconduct of the prosecution, cited the record of the case, and the context of the statements complained of. "It also shows the withdrawal of the entire argument, not by the court, but by the prosecutor," he said.

WILL IMPROVE LISBON ROAD TO CITY LIMITS

Engineer McGill Instructed to Prepare Plans.

ESTIMATE COST

Amiesite or Kentucky Rock Proposed for Job.

First step in the improvement of Lisbon road, from the turn just north of the county bridge to the city limits was taken last night when council instructed City Engineer McGill to prepare plans and specifications for the job.

Action followed a motion by Peters that the service director and the solicitor inaugurate plans for the improvement.

Approximately 750 yards of road way, 15 feet wide, would be improved under the plan, with Amiesite or Kentucky rock, providing an inch and a half covering.

This work, including improving of drainage conditions, the replacing of bricks in spots here and there along the road, could be done at a cost of about $6,000 to $6,500 in the opinion of McGill.

With another half inch added to the top coating, to make a surfacing of two inches, the cost would run about $1,125 additional, it was thought.

The city, it was pointed out, could contract the whole job or do the work itself.

In any event, it would not be necessary to stop traffic while the improvement was being made.

COUNCIL ACTS ON 17TH STREET SEWER PROJECT

Resolution is Approved on Initial Reading.

1,050 FEET LONG

City Will be Able to Get Money, Says Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Resolution calling for the construction of the Seventeenth street sewer was placed on first reading by solons last night and passed by a vote of five to two, after a motion to table the proposal indefinitely, was defeated with one assenting vote.

The motion was passed after Mayor W. L. Fogo, during the discussion prior to the vote, asserted that the city could get the money if it wanted the sewer constructed. He pointed out that the city has been paying off bonds for a long time and has been issuing none of any consequence with the exception of the fire truck issue of $12,500.

Councilman Nicholson asserted that the proposed improvement was probably one of the most needed in the city at the present time. Property values, he pointed out, in the district drained by the sewer, are suffering.

Prior to the discussion, the solons opposed a move to table the measure, Councilman Connor voting for the proposal. On the balloting following a motion by Rell and Nicholson to place the resolution on first reading, dissenting votes were cast by Solons Connor and Peters.

The sewer, according to specifications of the resolution, would be 1,050 feet long, starting at Seventeenth street, on Seventeenth to Main, across railroad tracks to Seventeenth and Nevada, and thence along Nevada to the river. It would be built of 36 and 42-inch pipe from eight to 25 feet deep.

MRS. R. E. PATTON ON LIBRARY BOARD

Appointment of Mrs. Helen Patton as a member of the Carnegie Library board, made by Mayor W. L. Fogo, was approved by council last night.

Mrs. Patton will find the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Jay McKee, who has moved to Florida.

REV. GEORGE WARD IN PULPIT HERE

Rev. George Ward, of East Liverpool, will preach tonight in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street.

Services have been under way in the local church for the past two weeks in charge of Rev. Ward, marked by increased attendance and interest. Several professed conversion at last night's services.

IRONDALE PLANS CLEAN-UP WEEK

Final arrangements for the clean-up week to be observed in Irondale, beginning Monday, under auspices of the Irondale Civic club, will be discussed at a meeting of the organization tonight.

The Civic club expects to obtain co-operation of the entire village in cleaning up around private properties and streets and the removal of all possible fire hazards.

Tonight's session will be held in the high school building, beginning at 8 o'clock. Ladies are invited to attend.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, of Fourth and Commerce streets, announce the birth of a nine and one-half pound son. He has been named Carl Calvin. Mrs. Taylor will be remembered as Miss Marian Kountz.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patterson of Main street have returned from a winter vacation visit in California.

20TH STREET SEWER PLAN O. K.

Resolution is Passed on Third Reading by Solons.

With the vote standing as in previous readings, the Twentieth street sewer resolution was passed on third and final reading and adopted by council last night. Councilman Connor voted against the measure.

Councilman Nicholson called attention of council to bad condition of Buckeye avenue in various places.

He also asserted that residents over the crossing were complaining of the length of time in which freight trains are holding up the Eighteenth street crossing.

A motion to permit a Spring Hill avenue resident to construct a garage directly across the street from his home, at the foot of the cemetery slope, lost, 4 to 3.

The mayor's report from the month of March showed collections of $1,226.

Angora, Turkey, has a good roads campaign.

'Beau Geste,' French Legion Picture, At Ceramic Tomorrow

That the gods are not always aligned against motion picture companies was demonstrated to Herbert Brenon by a stand storm in the great American desert during the filming of "Beau Geste," his latest effort for Paramount, coming to the Ceramic theatre tomorrow.

With Ronald Coleman, Neil Hamilton, Ralph Forbes, Noah Beery and Norman Trevor as the principals, two thousand minor players and an equal number of horses and mules, Brenon and a corps of assistants prepared for the filming of an important sequence in the picturization of Percival Christopher Wren's romantic thriller of the French Foreign Legion. A battery of cameras under the supervision of J. Roy Hunt was lined up to "shoot" the action, supposedly transpiring on the Sahara desert.

Within five minutes after starting, a terrific sand storm had blown up, sending great clouds of sand from the dunes across the foreground and nearly obscuring the actors. Brenon continued grinding as the storm merely heightened the realistic effect of the action, and afforded an opportunity for novel screen effects. That particular sequence of the story required two days, and in order to secure scenes with a matching background of flying sand for the succeeding day's work, it would be necessary to haul up to the location, over a sand trail difficult to negotiate, a fleet of heavy wind machines to create an artificial sand storm. Brenon anticipated a costly delay until the machines with their aeroplane propellers might be distributed at the strategic points. In fact he was prepared to fill in the lost time by photographing another portion of the story.

But the following day, as if it had been ordered, a second stand storm arose, Mother Nature duplicating her performance, put on a storm that even a director as exacting as Herbert Brenon, could not improve. The order for wind machines was concealed and the jinx that too frequently pursues film units was routed.

"Canyon of Light" Comes to American Theatre.

Tom Mix has the role of Tom Mills, army captain in the French battle front sequences that figure in "The Canyon of Light," the cowboy star's latest Fox Films thriller, which will show at the American theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Many of the scenes were filmed in Yellowstone National park and the picture has all the dash, color and drama of the West which mark Mix screen dramas. The range hears the call to arms and the best blood of the "fighting West" answers for overseas. The Westerners capture the enemy key position, but Captain Mills' buddy falls during the attack, just after writing home in praise of Mills. When he lands in America he receives a letter inviting him to visit the parent of his slain buddy.

Mills returns to his native town to find vigilantes organized to curb desperadoes led by his brother-in-law. He finds his sister dying at the moment the vigilantes are ready to hang her husband. Mills answers her pleas and tricks the vigilance committee. He frees his brother-in-law and gives him his own horse so he can return to his dying wife.

The desperado, instead of going home, dashes to "The Canyon of Light," his gang's lair. After his sister's death, Mills has the vigilantes pretend to hand him and outlaw spies carry news of this to their chief. The desperadoes find the letter of invitation and go to the ranch for a fiesta, expecting to loot the place. Mills had expected this and when he arrives there the desperado persuades the rancher he is an imposter. Mills is imprisoned but escapes too late to prevent the robbery and abduction of the rancher's daughter. He follows the gang to a Ghost City, an abandoned mining town, and after every building in the place is wrecked during the fight the desperado leader is overcome.

Is the Wife to Blame
When Her Husband Grows Tired of Her?

"I NOW pronounce you man and wife."

Just a few simple, beautiful, solemnly impressive words—but how fraught with future happiness or woe!

Is marriage the beginning of romance—or is it the end? If a man grows tired of his wife, who is to blame?

Many a wife lives in a fool's paradise. She thinks because she is wedded to the man she loves that she can safely rest on her laurels. For he now belongs to her.

She forgets that "getting" and "holding" are not the same. If his affection cools, she attributes it to "business worries." If she discovers that he no longer cares—it rarely occurs to her to wonder if the fault lies in herself.

Too late, she may suspect "the other woman." But when he confesses the truth—and she realizes that as a wife she has proved a wretched failure—can she win him back again? Can she regain the love she has lost through her own ignorance and folly?

This is the situation that confronted the wife in that vivid, heart-throbbing, never-to-be-forgotten story of real life, "My Stolen Husband," which appears in the May issue of True Story Magazine. It is a situation that, all too often, has resulted in broken homes, broken hearts, and broken lives. Every self-satisfied wife, and every girl who contemplates marriage, should read this compelling story. It will give all women something to think about.

The Most Popular Magazine in the World—and Why

WHAT is more fascinating than the drama of Life itself? What is more thrilling than the frank revelations of personal experience? True Story gives you these every month. That is why it is the world's most popular magazine. Through True Story you share the most intimate of human secrets—the passions, temptations and struggles of life that could never be revealed any other way. Read, for example:

"My Years of Folly"—If a deep and wonderful love is a prize worth guarding and keeping, Evelyn should have been supremely happy. But stronger than love was the desire for a career. So she followed the lure of ambition—but could she have looked ahead to see where that road would lead—

"Youth's Madness"—When a girl falls in with the wrong crowd, anything can happen. A week-end cottage, gay companions, drinking, dancing, petting—and all restraint seems thrown to the winds. Beth's friends had laughed at her as straight-laced, old-fashioned—but for once she decided to "play the game." What happened is a true-life narrative that every girl in America—and every father and mother, too—should read.

SCACCUTO APPEAL DECISION EXPECTED TOMORROW

Wellsville Man Denies Knowledge of Kenney Slaying.

NOW IN PRISON

Defense Asks New Trial in Death of Patrolman.

Nicola Scaccuto, of Wellsville, convicted of second degree murder in the death of Patrolman James Kenney, May 17, last, may learn tomorrow whether he will be granted a new trial.

Scaccuto, now serving a life sentence in prison, yesterday asked the appellate court at Lisbon to order a re-hearing.

Scaccuto's appeal was made to Judges Roberts, Farr and Pollock through his counsel, Attorney J. V. Zotterlei, of Cleveland, and the argument for the state against the motion was made by Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes.

Quoting from the brief he filed with the court, Attorney Zotterlei declared that Scaccuto at no time knew that a murder was being committed when Patrolman Kenney was slain. He maintained that the statement of the state in the closing argument was outside of the evidence, and that such words were prejudicial.

Zotterlei also asserted that at no time was Scaccuto a party to any common purpose or design to kill Kenney, whom it was said, he did not know, and that Scaccuto has "absolutely no reason or motive to kill anyone, and that he was going about his business unarmed."

Prosecuting Attorney Brookes, referring to the alleged misconduct of the prosecution, cited the record of the case, and the context of the statements complained of. "It also shows the withdrawal of the entire argument, not by the court, but by the prosecutor," he said.

WILL IMPROVE LISBON ROAD TO CITY LIMITS

Engineer McGill Instructed to Prepare Plans.

ESTIMATE COST

Amiesite or Kentucky Rock Proposed for Job.

First step in the improvement of Lisbon road, from the turn just north of the county bridge to the city limits was taken last night when council instructed City Engineer McGill to prepare plans and specifications for the job.

Action followed a motion by Peters that the service director and the solicitor inaugurate plans for the improvement.

Approximately 750 yards of road way, 15 feet wide, would be improved under the plan, with Amiesite or Kentucky rock, providing an inch and a half covering.

This work, including improving of drainage conditions, the replacing of bricks in spots here and there along the road, could be done at a cost of about $6,000 to $6,500 in the opinion of McGill.

With another half inch added to the top coating, to make a surfacing of two inches, the cost would run about $1,125 additional, it was thought.

The city, it was pointed out, could contract the whole job or do the work itself.

In any event, it would not be necessary to stop traffic while the improvement was being made.

COUNCIL ACTS ON 17TH STREET SEWER PROJECT

Resolution is Approved on Initial Reading.

1,050 FEET LONG

City Will be Able to Get Money, Says Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Resolution calling for the construction of the Seventeenth street sewer was placed on first reading by solons last night and passed by a vote of five to two, after a motion to table the proposal indefinitely, was defeated with one assenting vote.

The motion was passed after Mayor W. L. Fogo, during the discussion prior to the vote, asserted that the city could get the money if it wanted the sewer constructed. He pointed out that the city has been paying off bonds for a long time and has been issuing none of any consequence with the exception of the fire truck issue of $12,500.

Councilman Nicholson asserted that the proposed improvement was probably one of the most needed in the city at the present time. Property values, he pointed out, in the district drained by the sewer, are suffering.

Prior to the discussion, the solons opposed a move to table the measure, Councilman Connor voting for the proposal. On the balloting following a motion by Reil and Nicholson to place the resolution on first reading, dissenting votes were cast by Solons Connor and Peters.

The sewer, according to specifications of the resolution, would be 1,050 feet long, starting at Seventeenth street, on Seventeenth to Main, across railroad tracks to Seventeenth and Nevada, and thence along Nevada to the river. It would be built of 36 and 42-inch pipe from eight to 25 feet deep.

MRS. R. E. PATTON ON LIBRARY BOARD

Appointment of Mrs. Helen Patton as a member of the Carnegie Library board, made by Mayor W. L. Fogo, was approved by council last night.

REV. GEORGE WARD IN PULPIT HERE

Rev. George Ward, of East Liverpool, will preach tonight in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street.

Services have been under way in the local church for the past two weeks in charge of Rev. Ward, marked by increased attendance and interest. Several professed conversion at last night's services.

IRONDALE PLANS CLEAN-UP WEEK

Final arrangements for the clean-up week to be observed in Irondale, beginning Monday, under auspices of the Irondale Civic club, will be discussed at a meeting of the organization tonight.

The Civic club expects to obtain co-operation of the entire vilage in cleaning up around private properties and streets and the removal of all possible fire hazards.

Tonight's session will be held in the high school building, beginning at 8 o'clock. Ladies are invited to attend.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, of Fourth and Commerce streets, announce the birth of a nine and one-half pound son. He has been named Carl Calvin. Mrs. Taylor will be remembered as Miss Marian Kountz.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patterson of Main street have returned from a winter vacation visit in California.

Resolution is Passed on Third Reading by Solons.

With the vote standing as in previous readings, the Twentieth street sewer resolution was passed on third and final reading and adopted by council last night. Councilman Connor voted against the measure.

Councilman Nicholson called attention of council to bad condition of Buckeye avenue in various places.

He also asserted that residents over the crossing were complaining of the length of time in which freight trains are holding up the Eighteenth street crossing.

A motion to permit a Spring Hill avenue resident to construct a garage directly across the street from his home, at the foot of the cemetery slope, lost, 4 to 3.

The mayor's report from the month of March showed collections of $1,226.

'Beau Geste,' French Legion Picture, At Ceramic Tomorrow

That the gods are not always aligned against motion picture companies was demonstrated to Herbert Brenon by a stand storm in the great American desert during the filming of "Beau Geste," his latest effort for Paramount, coming to the Ceramic theatre tomorrow.

With Ronald Coleman, Neil Hamilton, Ralph Forbes, Noah Beery and Norman Trevor as the principals, two thousand minor players and an equal number of horses and mules, Brenon and a corps of assistants prepared for the filming of an important sequence in the picturization of Percival Christopher Wren's romantic thriller of the French Foreign Legion. A battery of cameras under the supervision of J. Roy Hunt was lined up to "shoot" the action, supposedly transpiring on the Sahara desert.

Within five minutes after starting, a terrific sand storm had blown up, sending great clouds of sand from the dunes across the foreground and nearly obscuring the actors. Brenon continued grinding as the storm merely heightened the realistic effect of the action, and afforded an opportunity for novel screen effects. That particular sequence of the story required two days, and in order to secure scenes with a matching background of flying sand for the succeeding day's work, it would be necessary to haul up to the location, over a sand trail difficult to negotiate, a fleet of heavy wind machines to create an artificial sand storm. Brenon anticipated a costly delay until the machines with their aeroplane propellers might be distributed at the strategic points. In fact he was prepared to fill in the lost time by photographing another portion of the story.

But the following day, as if it had been ordered, a second stand storm arose, Mother Nature duplicating her performance, put on a storm that even a director as exacting as Herbert Brenon, could not improve. The order for wind machines was concealed and the jinx that too frequently pursues film units was routed.

SALARY RAISES VOTED BY HOUSE

Hancock, Brooke County Officials Benefit by Measure.

Sheriffs of Hancock and Brooke counties will draw down an annual salary of $3,000 if the bill passed yesterday by the house of delegates by practically unanimous vote is enacted into a law. The measure, introduced by Delegate Deuley of Brooke county, also provides that salaries of county clerks in the two counties be fixed at $2,400 annually, while circuit court clerks would be paid $1,800.

The bill will probably be considered by the senate before the close of the week.

Both the senate and house decided to turn their differences over the road bond bill to a conference committee for adjustment, but in neither branch was the personnel of the committee determined. The house refused to recede from its amendments among which was the substitution of the 80-20 distribution of road funds for the favored routes designated in the senate bill.

Both branches of the legislature also struggled through long calendars of other measures during the day's session, with votes interrupted from time to time by debate on some of the bills, all local measures, while the house passed four bills on its local calendar and two of general application.

A bill to change the name of the town of Henry to the town of Clay and one to authorize a bridge which a chemical company in south Charleston wishes to build, completed their legislative journey by being passed by the senate today after having already passed the house.

The senate also passed bills providing for a high school building at Morgantown and for a Clay county high school. It rejected a bill which would establish traveling free libraries on th estrength of an unfavorable report from the committee on education, the vote for rejection being 13 to 11, after Senator Hugus pleaded with the members to retain the bill and amend it to meet objections.

THREE BODIES FOUND IN RIVER

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 6.—The bodies of three unidentified persons, a man and two women, all of whom apparently had been slain, were found in the swollen waters of Clinch river yesterday afternoon, three miles east of Sword's Creek, Russell county, Virginia.

Both women had been shot in the breast and a bullet had pierced the man's back.

The discovery, made shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by J. E. Christenbury, lineman, revealed one of the most mystifying tragedies in the annals of crime in southwestern Virginia.

With no marks of identification found on the bodies and no one in that immediate section of southwest Virginia reported missing, Russell county authorities believe the bodies to be non-residents and probably prominent people.

Watson Hardware Plans Demonstration Of Duco Finish

Personality in a home isn't a matter of mere money expenditure. It is rather someone's good taste, someone's charm and individuality expressed in the decoration and furnishing of the home. Interior decorating means making a survey of a home—an inventory of its good and bad points—planning color schemes and devising ways to give life, warmth and character to every room.

Ira Burbick of the Watson Hardware company, who specializes in furnishings and interior decorative work, said, "There has been a remarkable interest and enthusiasm shown by the women in this vicinity for this work."

Women everywhere are asking "Have you seen my sun porch since I redecorated it? Everyone is just crazy about it. I am so proud because I did every bit of the work myself and I had just loads of fun doing it."

Thousands of women have done work of this kind satisfactorily without a great deal of labor or money expenditure.

One big influence in creating homes of personality has been the new Duco finish made by the Du Pont company. Duco is so easy to use and dries so quickly that it eliminates most of the difficulty of home decorating and is encouraging women to do this work themselves, where it might otherwise never be done.

A free demonstration of Duco finish will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Hancock, Brooke County Officials Benefit by Measure.

Sheriffs of Hancock and Brooke counties will draw down an annual salary of $3,000 if the bill passed yesterday by the house of delegates by practically unanimous vote is enacted into a law. The measure, introduced by Delegate Deuley of Brooke county, also provides that salaries of county clerks in the two counties be fixed at $2,400 annually, while circuit court clerks would be paid $1,800.

The bill will probably be considered by the senate before the close of the week.

Both the senate and house decided to turn their differences over the road bond bill to a conference committee for adjustment, but in neither branch was the personnel of the committee determined. The house refused to recede from its amendments among which was the substitution of the $0-20 distribution of road funds for the favored routes designated in the senate bill.

Both branches of the legislature also struggled through long calendars of other measures during the day's session, with votes interrupted from time to time by debate on some of the bills, all local measures, while the house passed four bills on its local calendar and two of general application.

A bill to change the name of the town of Henry to the town of Clay and one to authorize a bridge which a chemical company in south Charleston wishes to build, completed their legislative journey by being passed by the senate today after having already passed the house.

The senate also passed bills providing for a high school building at Morgantown and for a Clay county high school. It rejected a bill which would establish traveling free libraries on th estrength of an unfavorable report from the committee on education, the vote for rejection being 13 to 11, after Senator Hugus pleaded with the members to retain the bill and amend it to meet objections.

THREE BODIES FOUND IN RIVER

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 6.—The bodies of three unidentified persons, a man and two women, all of whom apparently had been slain, were found in the swollen waters of Clinch river yesterday afternoon, three miles east of Sword's Creek, Russell county, Virginia.

Both women had been shot in the breast and a bullet had pierced the man's back.

The discovery, made shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by J. E. Christenbury, lineman, revealed one of the most mystifying tragedies in the annals of crime in southwestern Virginia.

With no marks of identification found on the bodies and no one in that immediate section of southwest Virginia reported missing, Russell county authorities believe the bodies to be non-residents and probably prominent people.

Watson Hardware Plans Demonstration Of Duco Finish

Personality in a home isn't a matter of mere money expenditure. It is rather someone's good taste, someone's charm and individuality expressed in the decoration and furnishing of the home. Interior decorating means making a survey of a home—an inventory of its good and bad points—planning color schemes and devising ways to give life, warmth and character to every room.

Ira Burbick of the Watson Hardware company, who specializes in furnishings and interior decorative work, said, "There has been a remarkable interest and enthusiasm shown by the women in this vicinity for this work."

Women everywhere are asking "Have you seen my sun porch since I redecorated it? Everyone is just crazy about it. I am so proud because I did every bit of the work myself and I had just loads of fun doing it."

Thousands of women have done work of this kind satisfactorily without a great deal of labor or money expenditure.

One big influence in creating homes of personality has been the new Duco finish made by the Du Pont company. Duco is so easy to use and dries so quickly that it eliminates most of the difficulty of home decorating and is encouraging women to do this work themselves, where it might otherwise never be done.

A free demonstration of Duco finish will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave.
Phone 319-R. Lisbon, Ohio.

SEALERS' MEET IS SCHEDULED

Gasoline Regulations Will be Explained to Dealers.

Representatives of the state sealers of weights and measures department from Columbus, others representing the federal government will meet in Lisbon for an all-day session April 27 when county and city sealers of weights and measures from at least 30 counties in the state will be guests of W. H. Barr, county sealer of weights and measures.

The morning session will convene at 9:30 o'clock. This will be a closed meeting for officials. The afternoon session will be open to gasoline dealers, distributors and equipment manufacturers.

All gasoline pumps in Ohio must be made to meet the Ohio specifications not later than June 30 next, or these pumps will not be allowed to be used in trade.

There are over 400 gasoline pumps in Columbiana county, exclusive of several hundred in East Liverpool. All blind pumps and meters are to be equipped with sight glass, so that the customer can see the flow of gasoline to the car, and proper indicators are to be attached to show the amount of gasoline that is being delivered to the purchaser.

Visible bowls are also to be equipped with the proper indication to the customer of gallons received, sight glass when complete delivery is not visible and when gas can be diverted while the hose nozzle in the auto tank, a truthful sign "to storage" must also be provided on each pump.

Sealers from all eastern counties of the state met at Wooster last Wednesday, and another meeting of these officials is to be held at Dayton April 13. The Lisbon meeting will follow the Dayton meeting.

"The state department is throwing all protection possible to the consumers of gasoline," declared Mr. Barr today. "Unless many gasoline pumps now being used are properly equipped so they will pass state inspection, these will be sealed and their use prohibited after June 30. As a matter of suggestion, I would say it will be beneficial for every distributor of gasoline in the county to attend the Lisbon meeting."

TAX RETURNS BEING FILED

Hundreds of personal tax returns are now being returned to the office of County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, although the time limit is May 1. Last week 15,000 personal tax return blanks were mailed from Lisbon, and almost immediately returns began to arrive. These returns have to be sworn to before being mailed to Lisbon, where they are separated according to the taxing district from which they are received. The name of the taxing district must also be placed upon the return by those who file them.

Repair Job Uncertain.

Whether or not the state highway department will set aside an appropriation for the partial repair of the four mile of brick road or that section of the Lincoln highway in Madison township this season has not been determined. State Highway Superintendent Kiltner declared today that he had no information from the department as to its plans for repairing this road this year.

38 Take Tests.

Thirty-eight young women took part in the examination at the county normal in the Lincoln school building conducted by the county board of examiners. Among the number were those who proposed to have their present teachers' certificates extended, and others sought first certificates. Examination papers will not be graded until the latter part of the week, it was announced today.

Commissioners Plan To Award Contract For Road Grading

The road hearing having to do with the East Palestine-East Liverpool road scheduled by the county commissioners for 10:30 o'clock next Monday morning is not expected to cause any delay in the awarding of a contract for grading.

For some years people in Middleton and Unity township have urged the commissioners to build this road, and in the case of Middleton township where practically all grading has been finished, funds were raised by property owners to do the work with the employment of the county steam shovel.

Grading in Middleton has been completed to the St. Clair township line, and a new route has been determined upon in this township which will eliminate the steep Fredericktown hill. A low grade has been worked out, so that this road will tap the Calcutta-Fredericktown road near the Hickman property, on the present narrow paved road.

The grading contract for this project is expected to be awarded early in April, and the road will then be surfaced next year. In Unity township the road is now surfaced. This road passes through the richest fruit section in the county, and since it has been determined by the commissioners to improve the highway, property values have advanced and additional acreagre is being planted in small fruits.

Property Transfers.

Margaret M. Elliott to J. M. Elliott, lots 31-32 in Elliott's Gardens, Center township, $1.

Pains That Never Came

Here's glorious news for long-suffering womankind! To every woman who periodically has suffered pain. Menstruation need no longer be painful. And it is Science that is speaking!

Specialists have developed a tiny tablet called midol. It's a simple thing, utterly harmless to a girl of fourteen, but it brings relief in five to seven minutes. And is effective twelve hours or longer!

Midol is NOT a narcotic. It has no effect whatever on heart or nervous system. It acts directly on those organs affected by menstruation. They function normally, as they should, but the pain is banished. Complete relief—yes, perfect comfort—follows midol.

Your druggist has midol for 50 cents, in a slim aluminum box to tuck in your purse.

How He Discovered Best Constipation Relief

Mr. Joseph F. Glus of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes "In the past 20 years I have been constantly troubled with constipation. Every remedy I tried would work O.K. for a while—but soon failed. The only remedy I have been able to use steadily with good results have been Carter's Little Liver Pills. I don't guess when I take them—I know I'm going to feel relieved." 25c at all druggists.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, Ohio.

SEALERS' MEET IS SCHEDULED

Gasoline Regulations Will be Explained to Dealers.

Representatives of the state sealers of weights and measures department from Columbus, others representing the federal government will meet in Lisbon for an all-day session April 27 when county and city sealers of weights and measures from at least 30 counties in the state will be guests of W. H. Barr, county sealer of weights and measures.

The morning session will convene at 9:30 o'clock. This will be a closed meeting for officials. The afternoon session will be open to gasoline dealers, distributors and equipment manufacturers.

All gasoline pumps in Ohio must be made to meet the Ohio specifications not later than June 30 next, or these pumps will not be allowed to be used in trade.

There are over 400 gasoline pumps in Columbiana county, exclusive of several hundred in East Liverpool. All blind pumps and meters are to be equipped with sight glass, so that the customer can see the flow of gasoline to the car, and proper indicators are to be attached to show the amount of gasoline that is being delivered to the purchaser.

Visible bowls are also to be equipped with the proper indication to the customer of gallons received, sight glass when complete delivery is not visible and when gas can be diverted while the hose nozzle in the auto tank a truthful sign "to storage" must also be provided on each pump.

Sealers from all eastern counties of the state met at Wooster last Wednesday, and another meeting of these officials is to be held at Dayton April 13. The Lisbon meeting will follow the Dayton meeting.

"The state department is throwing all protection possible to the consumers of gasoline," declared Mr. Barr today. "Unless many gasoline pumps now being used are properly equipped so they will pass state inspection, these will be sealed and their use prohibited after June 30. As a matter of suggestion, I would say it will be beneficial for every distributor of gasoline in the county to attend the Lisbon meeting."

TAX RETURNS BEING FILED

Hundreds of personal tax returns are now being returned to the office of County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, although the time limit is May 1. Last week 15,000 personal tax return blanks were mailed from Lisbon, and almost immediately returns began to arrive. These returns have to be sworn to before being mailed to Lisbon, where they are separated according to the taxing district from which they are received. The name of the taxing district must also be placed upon the return by those who file them.

Repair Job Uncertain.

Whether or not the state highway department will set aside an appropriation for the partial repair of the four mile of brick road or that section of the Lincoln highway in Madison township this season has not been determined. State Highway Superintendent Kiltner declared today that he had no information from the department as to its plans for repairing this road this year.

38 Take Tests.

Thirty-eight young women took part in the examination at the county normal in the Lincoln school building conducted by the county board of examiners. Among the number were those who proposed to have their present teachers' certificates' extended, and others sought first certificates. Examination papers will not be graded until the latter part of the week, it was announced today.

Commissioners Plan To Award Contract For Road Grading

The road hearing having to do with the East Palestine-East Liverpool road scheduled by the county commissioners for 10:30 o'clock next Monday morning is not expected to cause any delay in the awarding of a contract for grading.

For some years people in Middleton and Unity township have urged the commissioners to build this road, and in the case of Middleton township where practically all grading has been finished, funds were raised by property owners to do the work with the employment of the county steam shovel.

Grading in Middleton has been completed to the St. Clair township line, and a new route has been determined upon in this township which will eliminate the steep Fredericktown hill. A low grade has been worked out, so that this road will tap the Calcutta-Fredericktown road near the Hickman property, on the present narrow paved road.

The grading contract for this project is expected to be awarded early in April, and the road will then be surfaced next year. In Unity township the road is now surfaced. This road passes through the richest fruit section in the county, and since it has been determined by the commissioners to improve the highway, property values have advanced and additional acreagre is being planted in small fruits.

How He Discovered Best Constipation Relief

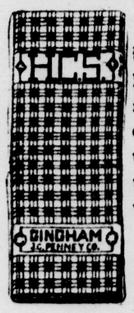

Mr. Joseph F. Glus of Brooklyn, N. Y., writes "In the past 20 years I have been constantly troubled with constipation. Every remedy I tried would work O.K. for a while—but soon failed. The only remedy I have been able to use steadily with good results have been Carter's Little Liver Pills. I don't guess when I take them—I know I'm going to feel relieved." 25c at all druggists.

Antlers Are Outscored In Final Clash On Duquesne Court

Locals Drop Second Game To Lafayettes

Compelled to flatten out their shots during the first half of the game as a result of an extremely low ceiling at one end of the court and facing the fact that their rivals have never lost a game on that particular floor, the Elks last night bowed to the Lafayettes, champs of the Allegheny county circuit, in a 35-24 contest on the Duquesne Library gym.

The Antlers gave the Pennsylvanians a stiff chase all the way and it is agreed that had they been able to score on some of their first half shots, the result at least would have been closer. A large percentage of their tosses went into the rafters until they finally became accustomed to the court and then it was a little too late.

Nate Lippe, who led the attack against the Steel town aggregation in the first game here, registered a single field goal during the encounter although he got his usual quota of shots. Lippe was tossing them in hard luck the entire game, most of his shots rimming the basket or hopping out.

Big Tony Paulsey played a great floor game all the way working like a Trojan to keep the Antlers in the running.

Forward Ganzy Benedict collected eight field goals for the Lafayettes and generally had a very good night. Minnich dropped in five. The Lafayettes had a 16-8 lead at the half, but the battling was more even in the concluding periods.

I. A. C. LEADS BIG TANK TOURNEY

CHICAGO, April 6.—The Illinois Athletic clubs aquatic team today held a commanding lead in the National A. A. U. championship in progress at the Chicago Athletic association pool. The meet will continue for four days. At the conclusion of first-day competition, I. A. C. was leading with 15 points. Los Angeles Ambassador club was second with 5 points, and three teams were tied for third with three points each. They were Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., Los Angeles A. C., and Penn A. C.

Johnny Weissmulier, world famous short-distance swimmer, accounted for five of the I. A. C's points. He won the 100 yard free style event and counted in several others.

Farid Simaiki, an Egyptian, plied up single handed the five points garnered by the Ambassador club of Los Angeles. His remarkable victory in the low springboard fancy diving event, took the judges' eyes.

Walter Laufer, crack Cincinnati Central Y. M. C. A. star, was taken ill suddenly and was unable to compete. Helen Meany of New York, and Ethel Lackie of the I. A. C., gave interesting exhibitions in fancy diving.

PHILLY MAY GET NEXT BIG BOUT

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Tex Rickard, the big sock and belt man, is insisting upon a minimum gate of $1,400,000 for his world's heavyweight championship fight this summer, it was learned today, under pain of leaving New York holding the old gunny sack when the time for the pay off comes. There has been some idle converse of late days about the Tunney shot being dropped down in Philadelphia again and my information today was that this end of the transaction is just about as definite as a called third strike.

It is all a matter of elementary addition and subtraction and Rickard has a singular aversion to the latter except as applied to the customers After scaling the prices at the Yankee stadium five different ways with his ticket man, Mike Jacobs, it is said that subtraction is the inevitable penalty if he goes through with the fight at the local park.

The best he could hope for at the stadium, it seems, is a maximum gate of $950,000 and a crowd of 80,000. The latter, as such, might be considered fair enough if Rickard could have the curse taken off the $2 and $3 customers but it seems that New York must have its cut price witnesses at these affairs of the fist and this fact is making it decreasingly difficult for Rickard to have its profits.

As the polls were closing, it wasn't quite established in my mind which of these two projects was less important, since the cut price witness can stay away in droves to the detriment of no one and Rickard can always turn to hog calling if fight promotion begins to irk him.

In this case, however, he is under contract to Gene Tunney to deliver the bullion at the appointed hour and some gentlemen, very large and loose in their ways, have gone so far as to admit that Tunney has been guaranteed a sum aggregating $850,000. Still I have the law with me when I say that I disbelieve this with much emotion; in fact, my understanding is that Tunney signed for $450,000 flat, which is an odd way of putting it, and fifty per cent of all receipts over a million dollars, which will be ample, sufficient and enough if the fight in held in the Philadelphia stadium.

There doesn't seem to be any doubt that this will be done, provided Philadelphia is willing; of course, Philadelphia might be unwilling and then it may be that carbolic acid is being recommended as a gargle.

Anyhow, as I remember it, Rickard's last venture in Philadelphia grossed nearly two million dollars, of which the town itself took more than $100,000 to say nothing of the prestige involved, and if this isn't worth a return engagement, to all parties concerned, you might as well start wheeling up the padded cell, for in that case I can't be responsible for broken bones except contracted by myself.

JOHNNY RISKO IS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, April 6.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight; Ted Coolidge, Boston middleweight; Frankie Fink, Texas featherweight, and Andre Routis, French featherweight, have been suspended by the New York state athletic commission.

Risko will be given a hearing next week to explain why he fouled Jimmy Slattery in a bout at Buffalo last week. Routis was suspended for fouling Joe Salas of Los Angeles in a bout here last Friday.

Coolidge and Fink are blamed for being overweight in bouts held here last Monday.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—A full nine-inning practice game is scheduled between the Regs and Yans of the Cleveland team today to make up for the loss of the game booked with New Orleans yesterday which was cancelled on account of wet grounds.

Lutzke, Indian third baseman, is still out of the game with an injured back. Today's session will be the final, the tribe leaving here Thursday for Tuscaloosa.

Giants, Nats Battle.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6. — The Giants and Senators, held idle by rain yesterday, will resume their series here today. Bill Clymer, Buffalo manager, and George Stallings, pilot of the Rochester club, are angling for Pitcher Fay Thomas, Outfielder Al Moore, or what Giants have you?

Robins Win Eighth.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 6.—The Brooklyn Robins are here for a two-game series with Atlanta. Pinch Hitter Fewster's homer with one on featured Brooklyn's 7 to 4 victory over Birmingham yesterday. The Robins eight straight triumph.

Celtics, Rosies Set For World's Series

Famous Brooklyn Combination Will Try to Unseat Cage Champs; Play Opener Tonight.

CLEVELAND, April 6.—With both teams in superb physical condition and famed as arch rivals, professional basketball fans are looking forward to a fight to a finish when the Cleveland Rosenblums and the Brooklyn Celtics meet in the 1926-27 basketball world series, which gets under way here tonight. The series is a best three-out-of-five affair.

On the face of the season's records, the Celtics will take the court as champions of the world. In four league games the Celts triumphed over Cleveland three times. Despite this, local fans get much consolation out of the fact that the locals were able to hand the Celtics one of their two defeats in the second-half schedule and also because the first two games of the series will be played in Cleveland.

Cleveland won its way into the series by annexing the championship of the first half with 17 wins and four defeats. The Celts won the second half title with 19 victories and two defeats.

Reiselt May Get Cue Honors Back

CHICAGO, April 6.—Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, former world's champion of three cushion billiards, today bids fair to recover his lost crown, following his spectacular play last night against Champion Augie Kieckhefer.

Reiselt won the third 60-point block of their 300-point match and brought the total score to 180 against the champion's 132. The two remaining blocks will be played today, the first this afternoon and the final tonight.

Reiselt has been in brilliant stroke while the champion floundered from bad to worse. Even if the latter returns to championship form for the two remaining blocks, it is hardly likely that he can amass the needed 84 points to the challenger's 60 for both blocks.

UNTIL the coming of the Hupmobile Eight, this most luxurious form of motoring entailed both high first cost and prohibitive cost of upkeep.

Hupmobile changed all previous conceptions of eight-cylinder performance with a straight-eight of elemental simplicity, designed to give superior smoothness on long fuel mileage.

Antlers Are Outscored In Final Clash On Duquesne Court

Locals Drop Second Game To Lafayettes

Compelled to flatten out their shots during the first half of the game as a result of an extremely low ceiling at one end of the court and facing the fact that their rivals have never lost a game on that particular floor, the Elks last night bowed to the Lafayettes, champs of the Allegheny county circuit, in a 35-24 contest on the Duquesne Library gym.

The Antlers gave the Pennsylvanians a stiff chase all the way and it is agreed that had they been able to score on some of their first half shots, the result at least would have been closer. A large percentage of their tosses went into the rafters until they finally became accustomed to the court and then it was a little too late.

Nate Lippe, who led the attack against the Steel town aggregation in the first game here, registered a single field goal during the encounter although he got his usual quota of shots. Lippe was tossing them in hard luck the entire game, most of his shots rimming the basket or hopping out.

In the matter of field goals Shupe, Paulsey and McConville led the locals, each with two apiece.

Big Tony Paulsey played a great floor game all the way working like a Trojan to keep the Antlers in the running.

Forward Ganzy Benedict collected eight field goals for the Lafayettes and generally had a very good night. Minnich dropped in five. The Lafayettes had a 16-8 lead at the half, but the battling was more even in the concluding periods.

I. A. C. LEADS BIG TANK TOURNEY

CHICAGO, April 6.—The Illinois Athletic clubs aquatic team today held a commanding lead in the National A. A. U. championship in progress at the Chicago Athletic association pool. The meet will continue for four days. At the conclusion of first-day competition, I. A. C. was leading with 15 points. Los Angeles Ambassador club was second with 5 points, and three teams were tied for third with three points each. They were Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., Los Angeles A. C., and Penn A. C.

Johnny Weissmuller, world famous short-distance swimmer, accounted for five of the I. A. C's points. He won the 100 yard free style event and counted in several others.

Farid Simaiki, an Egyptian, plied up single handed the five points garnered by the Ambassador club of Los Angeles. His remarkable victory in the low springboard fancy diving event, took the judges' eyes.

Walter Laufer, crack Cincinnati Central Y. M. C. A. star, was taken ill suddenly and was unable to compete. Helen Meany of New York, and Ethel Lackie of the I. A. C., gave interesting exhibitions in fancy diving.

PHILLY MAY GET NEXT BIG BOUT

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Tex Rickard, the big sock and belt man, is insisting upon a minimum gate of $1,400,000 for his world's heavyweight championship fight this summer, it was learned today, under pain of leaving New York holding the old gunny sack when the time for the pay off comes. There has been some idle converse of late days about the Tunney shot being dropped down in Philadelphia again and my information today was that this end of the transaction is just about as definite as a called third strike.

It is all a matter of elementary addition and subtraction and Rickard has a singular aversion to the latter except as applied to the customers After scaling the prices at the Yankee stadium five different ways with his ticket man, Mike Jacobs, it is said that subtraction is the inevitable penalty if he goes through with the fight at the local park.

The best he could hope for at the stadium, it seems, is a maximum gate of $950,000 and a crowd of 80,000. The latter, as such, might be considered fair enough if Rickard could have the curse taken off the $2 and $5 customers but it seems that New York must have its cut price witnesses at these affairs of the fist and this fact is making it decreasingly difficult for Rickard to have its profits.

As the polls were closing, it wasn't quite established in my mind which of these two projects was less important, since the cut price witness can stay away in droves to the detriment of no one and Rickard can always turn to hog calling if fight promotion begins to irk him.

In this case, however, he is under contract to Gene Tunney to deliver the bullion at the appointed hour and some gentlemen, very large and loose in their ways, have gone so far as to admit that Tunney has been guaranteed a sum aggregating $850,000. Still I have the law with me when I say that I disbelieve this with much emotion; in fact, my understanding is that Tunney signed for $450,000 flat, which is an odd way of putting it, and fifty per cent of all receipts over a million dollars, which will be ample, sufficient and enough if the fight in held in the Philadelphia stadium.

There doesn't seem to be any doubt that this will be done, provided Philadelphia is willing; of course, Philadelphia might be unwilling and then it may be that carbolic acid is being recommended as a gargle.

Anyhow, as I remember it, Rickard's last venture in Philadelphia grossed nearly two million dollars, of which the town itself took more than $100,000 to say nothing of the prestige involved, and if this isn't worth a return engagement, to all parties concerned, you might as well start wheeling up the padded cell, for in that case I can't be responsible for broken bones except contracted by myself.

JOHNNY RISKO IS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, April 6.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight; Ted Coolidge, Boston middleweight; Frankie Fink, Texas featherweight, and Andre Routis, French featherweight, have been suspended by the New York state athletic commission.

Risko will be given a hearing next week to explain why he fouled Jimmy Slattery in a bout at Buffalo last week. Routis was suspended for fouling Joe Salas of Los Angeles in a bout here last Friday.

Coolidge and Fink are blamed for being overweight in bouts held here last Monday.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—A full nine-inning practice game is scheduled between the Regs and Yans of the Cleveland team today to make up for the loss of the game booked with New Orleans yesterday which was cancelled on account of wet grounds.

Rain Stops Yanks-Cards.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 6.—The Yankees and Cardinals meet here today in the seventh game of their spring series. Rain washed out yesterday's contest at Knoxville.

Two More in Texas.

DALLAS, Texas, April 6.—Following today's game the Tigers will move on to Wichita Falls for a pair of games before they finally quit Texas. Following that they will play two games in Oklahoma City and then go to St. Louis on a special train to get ready for the opener next Tuesday.

Giants, Nats Battle.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6. — The Giants and Senators, held idle by rain yesterday, will resume their series here today. Bill Clymer, Buffalo manager, and George Stallings, pilot of the Rochester club, are angling for Pitcher Fay Thomas, Outfielder Al Moore, or what Giants have you?

Robins Win Eighth.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 6.—The Brooklyn Robins are here for a two-game series with Atlanta. Pinch Hitter Fewster's homer with one on featured Brooklyn's 7 to 4 victory over Birmingham yesterday, the Robins's eight straight triumph.

Celtics, Rosies Set For World's Series

Famous Brooklyn Combination Will Try to Unseat Cage Champs; Play Opener Tonight.

CLEVELAND, April 6.—With both teams in superb physical condition and famed as arch rivals, professional basketball fans are looking forward to a fight to a finish when the Cleveland Rosenblums and the Brooklyn Celtics meet in the 1926-27 basketball world series, which gets under way here tonight. The series is a best three-out-of-five affair.

On the face of the season's records, the Celtics will take the court as champions of the world. In four league games the Celts triumphed over Cleveland three times. Despite this, local fans get much consolation out of the fact that the locals were able to hand the Celtics one of their two defeats in the second-half schedule and also because the first two games of the series will be played in Cleveland.

Cleveland won its way into the series by annexing the championship of the first half with 17 wins and four defeats. The Celts won the second half title with 19 victories and two defeats.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director.

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querlous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her, clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know. Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together. A dark little girl comes to Hattie's dressing room, saying it used to be hers.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN.

She stood in his office, waiting expectantly, unhappily, for him to rise from his desk and take her in his arms; and as she waited she loathed herself. Often she felt like that.

The moment came. Then he dropped into one of the big chairs and drew her down beside him and caressed her hands.

"Three days more, he said, gently. "And God, but I'm tired."

It was his first admission of the sort. It touched her.

"Your strain is over," he added. "Just those few retakes for you. But you've done it. You haven't failed me. I'm going to put you across as no new girl ever has been put across."

She caught her breath. But her mind couldn't follow his. The work had been too exacting, too mean, too much a business of struggle and routine and dimly perceived quarrels in those upper regions of the management, for her with her limited capacity to grasp the possible result of it as one of the smoothly running great pictures you saw in the theatre. No, in that direction her mind went blank.

"But my strain isn't done yet by a long shot, dear," he continued. "Not by a long shot. There's going to be a big fight over the cutting. I shall win it, but it's going to be a fight. . . . First, I'm going to take a week off. A little rest. Our time has come, little sweetheart. At last. I've stimulated you. I've given you everything that it was in me to give. Now you're going to stimulate me—give to me. . . . Tell you how I've planned. I've had the yacht overhauled and put into commission. It'll be beautiful out on the water from now on. You must manage to slip away for a few days without that sister."

Hattie's mind stopped. This was the crisis she had so well known must come, but now that it had come she couldn't meet it. There had even been dark moments when she wanted it to come. She closed her eyes, and sat very still. The only words that phrased themselves in her mind were —"Oh, I can't do that!" She couldn't utter them. She tried and failed. They semed even a little unfair. She was thinking wildly of Alice and Gran'ma and Emily, of Henry, of Willie Mazzini and Fred Schmandt. A moment came of bitter clarity, and she knew that she would fight this inevitable situation, would struggle, would take up mental positions and try desperately to defend them, only to yield wretchedly at last. She couldn't withstand him. Even, in a queer way hating him as she now hated herself. She would lie to Alice. Somehow, in a fever of the spirit, she'd manage it. The whole long drift had led to this.

There was a soft knock at the door. They sat motionless. Few dared to intrude on de Brissac in his chosen hours of seclusion and study. The office orders were that even the telephone must not be rung excepting on urgent business. Once before Mr. Zeeck himself had knocked, and Hattie, feeling like a criminal, had hidden in the adjoining washroom until he went away. But Mr. Zeeck was still in New York.

The knock sounded again; and still again. He laid his fingers on her lips. Then an odd expression came to his face. He got up. She followed, and stood beside him. He glanced toward the washroom door; but then, as she moved a step in that direction, stopped her.

She moved over to another chair; stood uncertainly beside it, then behind it.

He turned the catch on the self-locking door and opened it a few inches. She heard a feminine voice. He said something about being too busy now. The feminine voice persisted. He opened the door wider, as if to step outside; but a slight figure suddenly darted into the room, slipping alertly under his obstructing arm. It was the dark girl. Her eyes rested on Hattie an instant, those strange eyes; then she rushed across the room. She seemed to be drawing a cork out of a small bottle. She raised her arm and threw out the contents of the bottle toward Hattie, who stood, bewildered, holding to the chair.

De Brissac caught her and they struggled. The door slammed shut. De Brissac screamed as if in pain, and swore angrily. She had heard him swear once or twice, but never like that. Then he got the girl somehow into the washroom and locked the door.

He showed her a burned hand; quietly now, stoicly. "Acid," he said. "Didn't get you, did she?"

Hattie shook her head, and stared at the blistering hand. It must be hurting terribly. She helped bind his handkerchief about it.

"A crazy girl," he said. "I'll find George in a minute, and figure out some way of handling her. We don't want talk, of course. . . . You're a wonderful girl, dear. You never flinched."

With his uninjured hand he drew her toward him. She yielded, leaning weakly against him, because she felt weak and dizzy; for the moment she couldn't think at all. But in another moment thoughts came. That girl wasn't wholly crazy. She wondered in a vivid flash of horror of she herself simple little Hattie Johnson, could ever be brought to throwing acid or shooting or—there was terror in these swiftly crowding thoughts. Perhaps. Why not? . . . She broke away and stood dizzily alone. Those so neatly separated compartments of her life had been thrown together as by a devastating explosion. It semed as if millions of eyes were already looking in.

He came again to her side, almost as tenderly as if there had been no interruption, but she pushed him away and rushed out.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director.

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querlous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together. A dark little girl comes to Hattie's dressing room, saying it used to be hers.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN.

She stood in his office, waiting expectantly, unhappily, for him to rise from his desk and take her in his arms; and as she waited she loathed herself. Often she felt like that.

The moment came. Then he dropped into one of the big chairs and drew her down beside him and caressed her hands.

"Three days more, he said, gently. "And God, but I'm tired."

It was his first admission of the sort. It touched her.

"Your strain is over," he added. "Just those few retakes for you. But you've done it. You haven't failed me. I'm going to put you across as no new girl ever has been put across."

She caught her breath. But her mind couldn't follow his. The work had been too exacting, too mean, too much a business of struggle and routine and dimly perceived quarrels in those upper regions of the management, for her with her limited capacity to grasp the possible result of it as one of the smoothly running great pictures you saw in the theatre. No, in that direction her mind went blank.

"But my strain isn't done yet by a long shot, dear," he continued. "Not by a long shot. There's going to be a big fight over the cutting. I shall win it, but it's going to be a fight. . . . First, I'm going to take a week off. A little rest. Our time has come, little sweetheart. At last. I've stimulated you. I've given you everything that it was in me to give. Now you're going to stimulate me—give to me. . . . Tell you how I've planned. I've had the yacht overhauled and put into commission. It'll be beautiful out on the water from now on. You must manage to slip away for a few days without that sister."

Hattie's mind stopped. This was the crisis she had so well known must come, but now that it had come she couldn't meet it. There had even been dark moments when she wanted it to come. She closed her eyes, and sat very still. The only words that phrased themselves in her mind were —"Oh, I can't do that!" She couldn't utter them. She tried and failed. They semed even a little unfair. She was thinking wildly of Alice and Grandma and Emily, of Henry, of Willie Mazzini and Fred Schmandt. A moment came of bitter clarity, and she knew that she would fight this inevitable situation, would struggle, would take up mental positions and try desperately to defend them, only to yield wretchedly at last. She couldn't withstand him. Even, in a queer way hating him as she now hated herself. She would lie to Alice. Somehow, in a fever of the spirit, she'd manage it. The whole long drift had led to this.

There was a soft knock at the door. They sat motionless. Few dared to intrude on de Brissac in his chosen hours of seclusion and study. The office orders were that even the telephone must not be rung excepting on urgent business. Once before Mr. Zeeck himself had knocked, and Hattie, feeling like a criminal, had bidden in the adjoining washroom until he went away. But Mr. Zeeck was still in New York.

The knock sounded again; and still again. He laid his fingers on her lips. Then an odd expression came to his face. He got up. She followed, and stood beside him. He glanced toward the washroom door; but then, as she moved a step in that direction, stopped her.

She moved over to another chair; stood uncertainly beside it, then behind it.

He turned the catch on the self-locking door and opened it a few inches. She heard a feminine voice. He said something about being too busy now. The feminine voice persisted. He opened the door wider, as if to step outside; but a slight figure suddenly darted into the room, slipping alertly under his obstructing arm. It was the dark girl. Her eyes rested on Hattie an instant, those strange eyes; then she rushed across the room. She seemed to be drawing a cork out of a small bottle. She raised her arm and threw out the contents of the bottle toward Hattie, who stood, bewildered, holding to the chair.

De Brissac caught her and they struggled. The door slammed shut. De Brissac screamed as if in pain, and swore angrily. She had heard him swear once or twice, but never like that. Then he got the girl somehow into the washroom and locked the door.

He showed her a burned hand; quietly now, stoicly. "Acid," he said. "Didn't get you, did she?"

Hattie shook her head, and stared at the blistering hand. It must be hurting terribly. She helped bind his handkerchief about it.

"A crazy girl," he said. "I'll find George in a minute, and figure out some way of handling her. We don't want talk, of course. . . . You're a wonderful girl, dear. You never flinched."

With his uninjured hand he drew her toward him. She yielded, leaning weakly against him, because she felt weak and dizzy; for the moment she couldn't think at all. But in another moment thoughts came. That girl wasn't wholly crazy. She wondered in a vivid flash of horror of she herself simple little Hattie Johnson, could ever be brought to throwing acid or shooting or—there was terror in these swiftly crowding thoughts. Perhaps. Why not? . . . She broke away and stood dizzily alone. Those so neatly separated compartments of her life had been thrown together as by a devastating explosion. It semed as if millions of eyes were already looking in.

He came again to her side, almost as tenderly as if there had been no interruption, but she pushed him away and rushed out.

MORTGAGE TAX BILL APPROVED

Excise Levy Measure Recommended by House Committee.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Decision to recommend passage of the cotton bill, imposing an excise tax upon the recording of mortgages and other like instruments, secured by real estate, has been reached by the house taxation committee.

This proposed mortgage recording tax decrees that, beginning July 1, next, excise taxes, estimated to yield approximately $6,500,000 a year shall be levied upon mortgages filed which cover real estate solely in Ohio. Half of this proposed revenue is to go to the state and the other half to the counties. The bill provides for a graduated scale of taxation ranging from 50 cents to $1 for each $100, or remaining fraction thereof.

The senate judiciary committee today recommended passage of the following bills: By Senator Carpenter, providing for establishment of a municipal court at Steubenville, the judge of which is to be elected for a four-year term and receive an annual salary of not less than $2,000, the city and county each paying half; by Representative Fitton, Butler county, providing the Hamilton and Middletown municipal court judges may be nominated by petition in conformity with the provisions of their respective municipal charters, instead of being nominated at primary elections; by Senator Emmons, Summit county, providing for a state board of real estate examiners and for the licensing of real estate salesmen, the annual fee being $10.

MR. LYONS SUFFERED FROM CATARRH OF STOMACH A LONG TIME

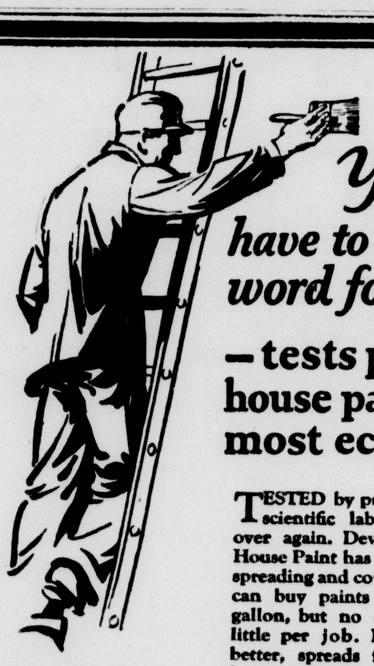

Declares Life Had Become a Burden Before He Used World's Tonic. Wants Everybody to Know About How He Found Quick Relief.

The World's Tonic representative at Carnahan's drug store in this city every day receives remarkable statements of the value of this wonderful medicine. None could be of more interest than that of Mr. Cleo Lyons. He says, "I had been a wreck for a long time. I imagined I had every disease a human being could have. My condition really grew serious. I could not perform my duties and was unfit for anything. Life became a real burden. My digestion was poor. The food that I ate would ferment. I frequently had headaches, pains in the back of my head and dizziness. My circulation must have been bad for I nearly always suffered from cold feet and contracted colds very easily. I could not sleep and would get up in the morning so tired and worn out that life became one unbroken period of misery. I had spent much for medicine that had done me no good. Several told me that I had cancer of the stomach and I was treated for that trouble. I had just about given up hope of ever recovering my health when my druggist told me that he thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I could hardly believe him but at his suggestion took a bottle of World's Tonic. The effect was wonderful. I began to improve at once and now after using three bottles I feel like a different man. I can now do my own work and I am healthy and happy as I was twelve years ago when my trouble began. I feel so grateful that I want every one to know how much good this medicine did for me."

The World's Tonic man, in discussing this statement, says:

"You will find many in East Liverpool who suffer as Mr. Lyons did. They need World's Tonic, the systemic catarrhal treatment. World's Tonic is diferent from all other medicines as it is made especially to combat catarrh of different forms."

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannan, Wellsville, and all other good druggists. (236)

Excise Levy Measure Recommended by House Committee.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Decision to recommend passage of the cotton bill, imposing an excise tax upon the recording of mortgages and other like instruments, secured by real estate, has been reached by the house taxation committee.

This proposed mortgage recording tax decrees that, beginning July 1, next, excise taxes, estimated to yield approximately $6,500,000 a year shall be levied upon mortgages filed which cover real estate solely in Ohio. Half of this proposed revenue is to go to the state and the other half to the counties. The bill provides for a graduated scale of taxation ranging from 50 cents to $1 for each $100, or remaining fraction thereof.

The senate judiciary committee today recommended passage of the following bills: By Senator Carpenter, providing for establishment of a municipal court at Steubenville, the judge of which is to be elected for a four-year term and receive an annual salary of not less than $2,000, the city and county each paying half; by Representative Fitton, Butler county, providing the Hamilton and Middletown municipal court judges may be nominated by petition in conformity with the provisions of their respective municipal charters, instead of being nominated at primary elections; by Senator Emmons, Summit county, providing for a state board of real estate examiners and for the licensing of real estate salesmen, the annual fee being $10.

MR. LYONS SUFFERED FROM CATARRH OF STOMACH A LONG TIME

Declares Life Had Become a Burden Before He Used World's Tonic. Wants Everybody to Know About How He Found Quick Relief.

The World's Tonic representative at Carnahan's drug store in this city every day receives remarkable statements of the value of this wonderful medicine. None could be of more interest than that of Mr. Cleo Lyons. He says, "I had been a wreck for a long time. I imagined I had every disease a human being could have. My condition really grew serious. I could not perform my duties and was unfit for anything. Life became a real burden. My digestion was poor. The food that I ate would ferment. I frequently had headaches, pains in the back of my head and dizziness. My circulation must have been bad for I nearly always suffered from cold feet and contracted colds very easily. I could not sleep and would get up in the morning so tired and worn out that life became one unbroken period of misery. I had spent much for medicine that had done me no good. Several told me that I had cancer of the stomach and I was treated for that trouble. I had just about given up hope of ever recovering my health when my druggist told me that he thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I could hardly believe him but at his suggestion took a bottle of World's Tonic. The effect was wonderful. I began to improve at once and now after using three bottles I feel like a different man. I can now do my own work and I am healthy and happy as I was twelve years ago when my trouble began. I feel so grateful that I want every one to know how much good this medicine did for me."

The World's Tonic man, in discussing this statement, says:

"You will find many in East Liverpool who suffer as Mr. Lyons did. They need World's Tonic, the systemic catarrhal treatment. World's Tonic is different from all other medicines as it is made especially to combat catarrh of different forms."

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannan, Wellsville, and all other good druggists. (236)

17 WORKERS KILLED IN BLAST

Quite Prosperous, Thanks.

We Don't Need a War.

Uncouth Bolsheviki.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.]

SOME seem to be prosperous. In 1924, 75 citizens told Uncle Sam they had incomes of $1,000,000 a year or more. This year 207 announced $1,000,000 or more yearly. Eighty-two per cent of the people pay no income tax. And fewer than one in a hundred pay 95 per cent of the total tax. They probably feel badly about it, but many that pay no tax would change places.

AMERICANs at Shanghai ask Uncle Sam to join Britain in an effort to coerce China. One hundred and fifteen million Americans would rather pay their fare home to the United States, which would be cheaper, more friendly.

We could not conquer China without killing thousands of non-combatants, including many women and children. This nation would not like that job. If China does not need us we do not need China. In any case we do not want to shoot crowds of non-combatant Chinese.

Admiral Williams says Chinese natives are indulging in "hate demonstrations" against America, Britain and Japan, because of the shooting of Chinese natives. We might organize "hate demonstrations" here if Asiatics were shooting up Americans, even offering plausible reasons.

You learn that President Coolidge will not join other nations in an ultimatum to China, and that doesn't surprise you. President Coolidge is a man of common sense, and this country needs no war with China.

The Bolsheviki are certainly uncouth. They convict three high Russian officials of taking bribes in connection with a big German lumber trust; and what do you suppose happens? The three officials did not employ good lawyers, express righteous indignation and go to Palm Beach or the Riviera. They stayed home, were sentenced to death, all their property confiscated, and they will really be executed.

NATIONALIST VICTORY LOOMS AS FOE TROOPS ARE LAYING DOWN ARMS

American Seaman Is Fatally Shot In Chinese Waters

SHANGHAI, April 6. — Seaman Wier, a stoker on the U. S. Pittsburgh, was fatally shot in the lungs when a revolver which Seaman Newman was loading accidentally discharged. The accident occurred on the bund and Wier was removed to the Pittsburgh in a dying condition.

The suicide of a trooper in the Coldstream guards was reported today. The British military authorities refused to disclose the details.

By Alfred Meyer.

SHANGHAI, April 6. — Although heavy fighting continues along the Tsinan-Puchow railroad there is no decisive result, according to reports received here today.

Disorganized Troops Surrender.

The intensity of the fighting is said to be greater than during any engagement since the nationalists invaded Chekiang. The Nationalists' chances for success have been enhanced by the fact that the disorganized troops of Sun Chuan Fang are surrendering and laying down their arms.

General Chang Sun Chang by delivering a counter attack along the Tsinan-Puchow railroad has forestalled General Chiang Kai-Shek's plan for a concentration of his troops to the north of Nanking for a drive against Tientsin and other northern cities.

General Chiang Kai-Shek held a conference of his generals here today, after receiving reports of the battle in the north, and issued orders for the movement of four additional regiments into Nanking.

Hankow-Canton Line Cut.

HONG KONG, China, April 6.—Hankow extremists and their supporters in Canton were believed isolated today when reports by naval wireless told of the cutting of the line between Hankow and Canton.

The reports also indicated that the fourth army, commanded by Gen. Li Chai-Sum, who is loyal to Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, had advanced from Kiangsi to Hunan, taking up quarters at Hengchowfu. These advices were interpreted here as meaning that Chiang Kai-shek's partisans have succeeded in staging one of the biggest coups of the war.

The extremists in Hankow and Canton, it was believed, are now shut off

DOCTOR CALLED

Surgeon Recommends Operation for Prisoner at Lisbon.

Defense moves looking toward the release of Mrs. Marie Chorgas, 28, from the county jail at Lisbon, where she is being held in connection with the death of Pasquale (Patsy) Anania, 25, here, about two weeks ago, will be deferred pending action of the Columbiana county grand jury, which meets next Monday, Attorney S. W. Crawford announced today.

Should the grand jury fail to indict her, the woman's counsel will seek a reduction of the $10,000 bond upon which she is held as a material witness against Salvatore Rini, also charged with murder.

Dr. C. H. Bailey of East Liverpool, and Dr. Seward Harris, Lisbon, held a consultation regarding Mrs. Chorgas' condition at county jail yesterday. They advised Attorney Crawford that Mrs. Chorgas would require an operation. Before an operation can be performed the patient should undergo treatments which would require about two or three weeks, the doctors said. These treatments, the physicians stated, could be given at the county jail by Dr. Harris.

After a conference with James Chorgas, husband of the woman, Crawford abandoned his plan of filing a petition in common pleas court seeking a reduction in the two bonds totaling $20,000, under which the woman is being held.

Mrs. Chorgas' physical condition, is the result, it is said of injuries received in an automobile accident about four years ago.

WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. H. E. Michel, West Sixth street, is recovering from injuries received in an automobile accident at Wheeling, Sunday. She was riding in the back seat when the car struck a deep rut, hurling her against the back of the front seat. The bridge of her nose was broken and both eyes bruised.

WOMAN BADLY BURNED WHEN DRESS IGNITES FROM GAS FIRE

SHOCK VICTIM

Flames Envelop Her Face, Arms and Back.

Suffering from burns sustained while engaged in household duties, Miss Ava Mylar, aged 67, who for years has been the secretary of the Spring Grove Cemetery association, is in a serious condition today at her home in Woodlawn avenue.

Miss Mylar was burned about the back, arms and partially on the face, when her clothing ignited as she learned across an open burner of a gas stove in the kitchen of her home.

In a mass of flames, she sought to drench herself with water. Her predicament was observed by a neighbor, Mrs. Arnold Devon, who notified her nephew, Charles Rumberger. He succeeded in putting out the fire.

Dr. John S. Fraser, who dressed her burns, said the woman was also a victim of shock.

Sand Truck Upsets When Brakes Let Go; Driver Unhurt

Walter Mick, Lincoln highway, escaped injury when his truck loaded with sand, overturned at the corner of Seventh and Jefferson streets at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

Mick said the brakes failed to hold the heavily loaded truck, and, in an effort to stop the machine, he attempted to turn east on Seventh street. The heavy load caused the truck to overturn.

Sand was scattered over the street but the truck was only slightly damaged.

Street Cars Crash In Dense Fog; No Passengers Hurt

Passengers aboard an eastbound city car were unhurt in a rear-end collision with an eastbound interurban car, caused by the heavy fog, at the corner of Monroe and West Sixth streets at 6:10 o'clock this morning.

The interurban, which started at Steubenville, was making an extra trip to Midland. The city car had left Wooster's stop at the lower end of Wellsville five minutes ahead of it.

T. E. Dye, Urbana, Democratic State Chairman, Resigns

COLUMBUS, O., April 6. — Thomas E. Dye, Urbana, chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, submitted his resignation at a special meeting of the committee at the Neil House here late today.

Although Dye announced that he was resigning to give his time entirely to his business interests, his letter of resignation indicated there had developed a rift between the chairman and the state administration.

Members of the committee, it was believed, would name Henry G. Bruner, former Mansfield newspaper publisher and a member of the committee, to succeed Dye.

Two East End Men Given Jail Terms For Carrying Guns

Walter Ring, 19, and Roy Glunt, also 19, both of East End, were sentenced to the county jail for terms of 30 days each by Municipal Judge Hanley yesterday afternoon after they were found guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

They were arrested upon information given by George McCloy, Cleveland avenue, who alleged they knocked at the door of his home on March 22, and when he opened the door he found both standing with revolvers and flashlights in their hands. The accused men introduced a witness to substantiate an alibi that they were making candy at a friend's home at the time they were purported to have visited the McCloy house.

Attorney Blaine H. Cochran prosecuted the case, while the youths were defended by Attorney Frank E. Grosshans.

State Supreme Court Denies Rehearing In Anderson Case

Former Automobile Salesman, Convicted in Death of Taxicab Driver, Must Serve Sentence.

The state supreme court today refused to re-open the case of George A. Anderson, former East Liverpool automobile dealer, who is in the penitentiary serving a term of four years and eight months to 20 years for manslaughter in the death of Frank McLain, taxicab driver.

Anderson's attorneys asked the supreme court to review the case a few days before the twice convicted man was committed to prison. The court, previously had refused to act.

Anderson, throughout the litigation which has been in progress for 18 months, contended that the shooting of McLain on Oct. 7, 1925, was accidental.

The bill, now in the hands of the governor, stipulates that the proposed tax shall be collected in June, based upon the 1927 duplicate.

IT'S CHANGED FRANCE THAT WILL GREET RETURNED YANKEE; SAD DAYS GONE BUT WAR MEMORIES OF TEN YEARS AGO TODAY REMAIN VIVID

(This story was written in commemoration of the entrance of the United States into the World war on April 6, 1917—ten years ago.)

Ten years ago today. What poignant memories these four words hold for men who wore the uniform.

It was then the first division went over, painfully and slowly on the little beef carriers. There had just been a submarine scare. Somewhere just off Coney island lurked the tin-fish. The convoy was so laboriously slow, you actually felt sorry for the wheezing engines. Quarters were cramped—decidedly so.

Black were the nights on guard, when one made the rounds through the fog. The rain beat incessantly on the waves. Dolorious toots coming from the sirens of the sister ships in the convoy sounded freakish. Fifteen hundred miles of water to land either east or west. Thirty feet away the carefully shaded light in the salon. Seventeen days of it in the little ships. Pace ten knots on hour, with a zig-zag course through the submarine and mine infested areas.

What an awful amount of water for the boys from Indiana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, and other inland states. Farmer boys and city kids cooped up in the same bunk space. And then one sunshiny day Bordeaux, France, land of courageous men—charming women. Romance lurked around the corner and maybe death, too.

It's Different Now.

It's different now. The little beef carriers, and the big transports that came later are back in the peaceful ocean lanes. The S. S. "Leviathan," has been refitted palatially and minus war paint will be the flagship of the second A. E. F. of the Legion next September. The ships blaze with lights and resound with merriment today. The seas have been swept of mines. Bordeaux port is full of fishing smacks and peaceful vessels. Passengers eat from silvered and linened tables instead of having slum served in mess kits from swinging shelves. The steward is polite and agreeable and doesn't pummel on your door until the seasonable hour of 9 o'clock. It's the life of Riley on the ocean today.

A Decade Ago.

Ten years ago . . . Meals of bully beef with a bed on the hard floor of the "40 and 8" box cars. Outside a glimpse of the sunny French countryside, green and placid. Cheery people in the big towns, waving their hands and shouting "Les Americans." Maddemoiselle Gisselle Moulin, 8-year-old French lassie, clattering after soldiers in her wooden shoes, ing "chwingum, chwingum," and like the thousands of other kiddies of France how she did chew. They Stain Teeth

Why Some Teeth Look Dingy

A viscous coat constantly forms on your teeth. You can feel it any time. Fruits, coffee and tobacco stain that coat, then teeth look dingy. The glistening enamel is hidden by a cloud.

Magnesia quickly removes that coat. When it is gone, the teeth reveal their natural beauty. The quick change will delight you.

Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth paste applies that help in the best way known. It applies Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in concentrated form and dentists have for 50 years recommended that.

It protects teeth in many ways. Magnesia is alkaline, so it instantly neutralizes the acids which form between the teeth and in crevices. Acids are the greatest enemies of the teeth and gums. Its antiseptics combat mouth germs. It deodorants purify the breath. No other tooth paste in existence does so many things at once.

Learn how much it does. Watch the teeth whiten, the breath grow sweet. Note the delightful taste it brings to the mouth in the morning. You will always be glad that you know it. You will never find anything else to compare with it. Go try it now.

Five in One

Its 15 ingredients combine in one tooth paste these five important helps:

Antacids Cleansers
Antiseptics Polishers
Breath Deodorants

BY CHARLES R STEWART

NO FEDERAL OPERATIVES PROBE FORD ACCIDENT--REASON WHY

By Charles P. Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Did federal "operatives" investigate Henry Ford's recent auto smash?

Detroit dispatches began referring to some such thing before the injured flivver king was fairly installed in his six-room suite in his $10,000,000 hospital, but government functionaries here scornfully pooh-poohed the very idea.

J. E. HOOVER

Whatever Ford was a victim of—accident or attempted murder—is purely a matter for the Michigan state authorities to decide, Washington officials all agree.

SECRET service chiefs can't always be relied on to tell exactly what they're up to, so it's well to accept their assurances with a few sacks of salt, but they certainly do express themselves convincingly in this instance.

It's true that the justice department's investigation bureau, over which J. Edgar Hoover presides as director, may be assumed to take a little extra interest in Ford just now, by reason of the Sapiro case on trial against him before the United States district court in Detroit.

However, as Hoover's sleuths point out, nobody suspects Sapiro of responsibility for the billionaire's mishap, and neither does anybody suspect that Ford intentionally rolled his coupe, over and over, down an embankment, to escape going on the witness stand.

Such being the facts, the affair's none of the federal government's business, Hoover holds—or, at any rate, that's how's he's quoted.

IF it's outside the justice department secret service's jurisdiction, it's still farther outside the treasury department's, which, though an even more formidable and mysterious organization than the justice department's, is fully occupied in catching federal offenders, like counterfeiters and smugglers, and in taking care of the president.

It's not to be disputed that these latter guardians are good at warding off recklessly-driven autos from the chief executive. They've saved President Coolidge from being run into a number of times, and a detail of them might be a good thing for Ford, too.

However, the government has none of them to spare from their official duties.

THESE are the only two federal groups of Sherlock Holmes which might conceivably have "operatives" on the Ford case, and it's emphatically denied in behalf of both of them.

The only time Ford may reasonably be believed to have had a United States secret service man in his retinue was on his celebrated peace expedition.

Even that isn't a certainty but there was a chap along who was strongly suspected of it.

THE government regarded that peace expedition with a jaundiced eye, it will be remembered. It couldn't prevent it but there were many who believed it was anxious to keep in mighty close touch with what happened.

At any rate, a mysterious stranger turned up on board ship, the day after the expedition sailed, when it was too late to land him.

He was frankly a stowaway, but he didn't look like one, being an imposing individual, with plenty of good clothes and a fat bank-roll. He could have paid his way all right, but the management wouldn't take him along on that basis—or any other. So he come anyway.

He said his name was "Mr. Warner." Nobody ever was able to account for that guy, from start to finish. He vanished like a puff of smoke when the trip was over. Plenty of the expedition crowd still think "Mr. Warner" was a secret service "operative."

Washing Won't Mar the Beauty of Quaker Curtains and Nets

Made of fine long staple yarns, they do not thicken up and lose their "looks" and their transparency.

Moreover, made with the famous three-thread construction every mesh is tied in place—cannot slip and lose shape with wear or washing.

During

Home Craft Week

we are showing an unsually large and beautiful assortment of these curtains along with all the other materials which go to make windows more attractive and homes more homey.

For Your Sun Parlor

Do you love color? Indulge yourself to your heart's content in your sun parlor. Choose Oxford Cross Curtains in Orange and Gold on a black netground. Striking? Certainly, but like all Quaker curtains they have real artistic merit.

Sheer Shadow Lace Curtains

Here are curtains that give you the distinction of artistic design in a net so sheer it seems a veritable veiling. Will they wear? Certainly. All Quaker Curtainings are famous for that quality.

Fringed Curtains

The Quaker Lace Company were the originators of fringed curtains. Today they are more than popular—they are well nigh universal, made, as they are, in such nets as Shadow Lace, Filet, Tuscan. We offer them all made, ready to hang, at $1.90 to $25.00.

For Odd-Shaped Windows

For the window that cannot be readily fitted with a made curtain we have special Quaker Nets and Laces that we can cut to fit any size window and make them look good.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1927.

Thursday's Council Meeting

From the standpoint of public interest, the session of the city council on Thursday evening will be one of the most important of the year, for the solons shall determine the fate of two legislative proposals which should be placed on the statute books.

The ordinances are:

1—A proposal to prohibit the sale as well as use of dangerous fireworks within the corporation on the Fourth of July.

2—Legislation which, if approved, will reduce the salary of the city's mayor in 1928-29 from $1,800 to $600 per annum.

Councilmanic opinion, apparently, is divided on the proposals, although public sentiment seemingly favors adoption of both measures. The fireworks ban has been placed on first reading.

Two years ago, the salary slashing plan was sanctioned by a 4 to 3 vote, but was vetoed by the city executive, Charles Brown. Three of the present council supported the ordinance, and at least two of them are expected to vote tomorrow night. The third man who urged enactment of the taboo is now president of council. He will not vote except in the event of a tie.

Citizens who are interested in the proposed legislation should attend the councilmanic session which is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The meeting hall is on the third floor of the Thompson building, Fourth and Market streets, and all councilmanic deliberations are open to the public.

Our Movie Women

American film producers are sensitive about public criticism, and they seem especially sensitive about foreign criticism, because they depend largely on the foreign market for their margin of profit. They are somewhat jolted, therefore, by a new criticism from Sweden.

Dr. Sonberg of the Swedish national censorship board says American films are a serious social problem in his country. While his people have been told, and have believed, that American women were respected and revered more than women in any other land, almost every American picture shown in Sweden shows women violently maltreated. This, says the Swedish censor, is not good for the Swedes, because our films constitute four-fifths of their screen entertainment. Neither, he thinks, is it good for this country.

Doubtless he is right. It looks as if our movie managers have not been accurately portraying American womanhood, and American treatment of womanhood. An investigation of the subject is now being made, and the situation may be improved.

New Trial For Socrates

Socrates, the old Greek philosopher and moralist, is to have his day in court again after many years. His case has been appealed to the supreme court at Athens, and a lawyer named Paradopoulos is going to act as his attorney.

It was by a miscarriage of justice, this lawyer holds, that Socrates was adjudged guilty of "impiety and corrupting youth" and sentenced to death, and "the honor of Greece requires a revision of the judgment and a judicial declaration of Socrates' innocence."

It will be just like those Greeks to go ahead and do it, too, though it looks more like an American publicity stunt than a Greek performance.

To Socrates, perhaps the greatest and best of the ancient Greeks, it matters not at all. More than 2,300 years ago that tired old man, refusing to change his course and denying that he had done anything except try to improve the character of the Athenians, cheerfully drank the deadly hemlock and passed to his reward. Why drag him through the courts now, except possibly to make a careless generation better acquainted with antigue greatness?

Modern Greece has little to do with the Greeks who killed Socrates. The whole world reversed the judgment of his enemies long ago. And Socrates himself needs no defense from any living man.

What defense could there be so good as his own "apologia," recorded by Plato? It would pay patrons of our own "best sellers" to get that out of the library and read it—not as philosophy, but as a gripping human statement in the midst of a great drama, from one of the foremost characters of history.

Comfortable Sleepers

A nation that welcomed Pullman sleeping cars with hosannas long ago, and has been enduring them with growing discontent for the last couple of decades, will welcome an innovation recently announced.

Instead of the usual Pullman berths, a car contains 14 compact but complete and comfortable bedrooms, with regular beds in them, and with hot and cold water, full-length mirror, folding table, chair, shoe box and pleasant reading lights. These cars are introduced on the Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Michigan Central railroads, and presumably will soon be extended to other lines.

When there is such progress in American sleeping cars, which for years have been behind European sleepers in the matter of comfort, who shall deny progress is possible in any field of public service?

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets All The Trains— By Fontaine Fox

My Favorite Stories
By IRVIN S. COBB

NOT SO POOR AS HE MIGHT APPEAR TO BE

The native was making slow headway with a hoe against the weeds and sassafras sprouts which covered the slope with their scrubby growth. Behind him rose a knobby field with deep furrows in it where the rains had washed out gullys in the thin clay. Further on, a rotting rail fence ran in crazy zigzaggings across the brow of the eminence, and, on all sides, the clearing was enveloped by the bleak and poverty-stricken landscape.

A northern tourist, who was making a detour through the foothills, halted his car and hailed the industrious worker.

"My friend," he said, "you look like a live chap and a born hustler."

"Well," said the native, "I aim to keep busy." He laid down his hoe and advanced to the edge of the road.

"That's what I said to myself as soon as I saw you. I'm wondering why you're content to slave your life out in this God-forsaken country? I never saw such poor-looking soil in my life. Why don't you pull up stakes and move up into Ohio where I live!"

"You see, stranger," he answered, "I've always lived around here and I guess I'll stay awhile longer."

"Well," said the tourist, "every man to his own fancy, and I suppose a fellow might in time get attached even to such a spot as this. But what can you expect to gain by staying on? You are bound to get porer and poorer all the time."

"Mister," said the hillsman, "I'm a blamed sight better off than what you seem to think. Why, I don't own nary acre of this here land!"

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY
By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 6.—It is becoming increasingly difficult to meet the best people hereabouts without remaining up all night. In the mail today were two invitations to parties beginning at midnight. Still another bears the tag line, "Reception at 1 a. m."

One wonders eventually what is to become of that ridiculous gesture known as work. Many important executive positions are held by men who frequently remove their evening clothes, take a shower, don a business suit and go to the office, perhaps to rebuke a stenographer for being 10 minutes late.

It is quite probable all night carousing is largely responsible for the growing "in conference" gag. In nearly all side streets in the Forties and Fifties after dawn breaks may be seen men and women in evening clothes blinking at the sun while awaiting taxicabs.

These are, of course, supper club stay-outs who have repaired to hidden recesses after the main rooms closed. But all nighting is not confined to such institutions of gaiety. The apartment party is not hitting on high until around midnight.

One reason is that in these days a party is not a party unless it is graced by a stage star or so and they are not able to remove the grease paint and leave the theatre until the midnight hour. Often, too, they must go home to secure proper clothes.

It is not especially difficult for them to remain up until daylight for, save on matinee days, they can sleep all day. Yet for those men who must fact important matters and perhaps a board of directors the wild melee is something else again. Ho, hum!

But there is a New York sinking into a gray languor with twilight that stirs itself when the roystering stay-outs are swinging home. They are the old aristocrats and gazing down from their high, crepuscular windows one wonders just what they think of this new and buoyant generation. Perhaps very little.

The other day at lunch was a man in serene middle years who confessed he had had no sleep for two nights in succession. "Parties," he explained between steaming cups of black coffee. "And the worst of it," he said, "is that I've got to talk to my son this evening. He was sent home from boarding school for crawling into his dormitory room after 11 o'clock at night."

In other days New York cafes were liveliest between 8 and 10 in the evening. Now they are deserted. Many, indeed, close at 9 o'clock to reopen at 11. It is only after midnight they become steamed up.

It is an old story how quickly New York forgets, but there was a concrete example the other evening. A famous dancer of 10 years ago came into a place after the theatre. She was furred in ermine and gleaming with jewels. For some time she has been in middle west retirement. Not a soul seemed to recognize her and even the headwaiter parked her and her party at an obscure table.

It is noticed that many little tea rooms, whose proprietors thought several years ago that a few chintz curtains, burning candles and a brace of sullen Japanese waiters justified charging outrageous prices, have expired. The white enameled stool counter lunches have supplanted them. There is light and clatter instead of a glowering stillness.

In one of the stool counter places, I heard a perfect characterization. "He is," said a patron, "the type who thinks the pinnacle of politeness is to pick his teeth at the table behind a napkin."

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Soviet Marriage And Divorce.

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 6. — What Russia, since the ascendency of the Soviet, has done to the institution of holy matrimony has been a matter of no little interest in other countries. Likewise it has been a subject concerning which it has been difficult to get definite and accurate information. All kinds of reports have been circulated, some of them vividly colored and highly spiced, about the mildest being that marriage had been abolished under the new social order inaugurated under Lenin and Trotsky.

Even as yet, although the Russian experiment in government is practically a decade old, the cutside world can not be sure as to what is to be believed of all that is heard about what is going on in that country which was once so conventionally ordered and so rigidly ruled. It appears, however, that the confusion and misinformation as to what has been done with respect to marriage and divorce have been due in no small degree to the fact that the Russians themselves have not understood the new laws and rules governing the relations of husband and wife.

Even those who created the new laws and rules seem not to have realized just what they would lead to. They were experimenting, and like the chemist in his laboratory they were by no means certain what would result from in the ingredients they were compounding. For instance, it seems that they have in effect legalized polygamy, although there is little or no evidence that they intended so to do.

The underlying principle of what they were attempting to accomplish, it is stated, was to improve the status of women in the marital relation and to emphasize the concern of the state in the children that are born into the Soviet world. To that end both marriage and divorce have been made much easier, to a degree almost of utter informality; the autocracy of the husband has been done away with, and it has been decreed that the stigma of illegitimacy shall never be placed upon a child.

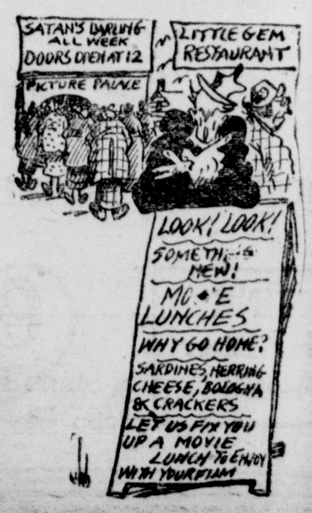

Under The Old Regime.

Under the old regime in Russia when a girl or woman married she merely transferred herself from the authoity of her father to that of a husband, and the authority in both cases was virtually absolute. The wife had no rights which the husband did not choose to bestow upon her. She had to live wherever he decided to establish their domicile. She had only an insignificant right in his or their mutual property, and unless he named her as his heir in his will the bulk of the property reverted to his family. If she left him, the law returned her to him, just as much his chattel as a slave. Without his permission she could not procure a passport. When they were married, the man said to the woman, "I take you for my wife; you must honor me."

But under the Soviet constitution men have no rights that are not enjoyed by women, and this goes for politics, for business, for industry, and for the home. Marriage has been decreed to be a voluntary association in which the woman says, in effect, "I become your wife of my own free will, but give you no authority over me."

MAYOR WALKER BOOSTS SMITH

Jimmie, in Columbus, Predicts Al Will Win Nomination.

COLUMBUS, O., April 6. — Voicing belief that Governor Al Smith, of New York, will be the next Democratic presidential nominee, Mayor James J. Walker, of New York city, here yesterday was non-committal on the subject of selecting a vice-presidential candidate as a running mate for Governor Smith.

Arriving here this morning, accompanied by E. M. Statler, John McE. Bowman, and other prominent hotel men of New York City, Mayor Walker participated in the formal ceremonies marking the opening of the new Wallick addition to the Deshler hotel. The addition comprises 600 rooms in the new American Insurance Union's 555.5 feet citadel which adjoins the Deshler.

With a local band playing "On the Sidewalks of New York," Mayor Walker and his party were escorted into the executive offices of Governor Vic Donahey at the statehouse. While the governor and mayor exchanged greeting, movie men filmed the occasion. Mayor Walker spent about 20 minutes in the governor's offices while the governor and his secretary, Jacob Meckstroth, took the visitors through the offices.

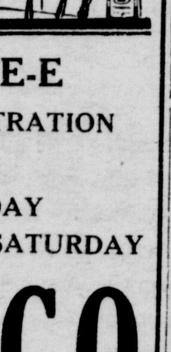

When questioned concerning the suggestion that Governor Donahey be chosen as a running mate for Governof Al Smith, Mayor Walker replied that he had "heard the Governor (Donahey) quoted as one who isn't a candidate." He stated, however, that it would "make a great ticket."

Some one suggested that Mayor Walker be a running mate for Governor Smith. "What's the use of making the ticket top-heavy?" the mayor smilingly replied.

When the suggestion that the Democrats nominate Donahey and Walker as their national ticket was made, Mayor Walker came back with: "New Yorkers will consent to no compromise on Smith."

Bowman's Repair Shop Adds Miles To Tires

Perfection in tires, or the final word in cushioning and safety for your vehicle, with its passengers or its load, at the lowest cost per mile, with the fewest delays, is productive of that blissful Elysium wherein the ranks of trouble free knights of the road are multiplying rapidly through the magic of Firestone Gum Dipped Cords.

There are those here, of course, who have yet to find the way to Firestone perfection. Their route may be punctuated by punctures and made double by trouble, and were it not for the samaritan service of Jim Bowman, their's would be one tough ride. Bowman in his shop "by the side of the road" is indeed a friend to man.

For six years Bowman has been repairing tires and the growth of his business and the demands on his time now testify to the efficiency of his methods.

The three M's—Men, Machinery and Methods, are exemplified in high degree at the Bowman shop.

First of all, Bowman, himself, a past master in the art of putting disabled tires back into service again; his first lieutenant and chief vulcanizer, a graduate of the Firestone repair school, at Akron, thoroughly grounded in all the esentials of his business; then, the latest, most improved and most modern vulcanizing machinery used today; and third, method in keeping with the standard of man power and machinery—a service that, anymore, pretty nearly covers the whole 24 hours of every day, on tires from 40x8 down to the three-incher, with two methods in operation, the inner cure and sectional.

This service, too, is not confined absolutely to the precincts of Bowman's shop, at 321 Market, right below Fourth, but is available at any place on the road within a reasonable distance of the city. Bowman is now operating two service trucks, through which his assistance is accessible to the motorist who is stranded high and dry along the roadside somewhere.

If your tires are ready for the pension list, and your car must be outfitted for another season, there will be no better time than at the present to investigate the advantages and the reasonable prices of Firestone Gum Dipped Cords.

"Better buy Firestones now; they're cheaper than ever before and it's entirely possible they'll cost more later on." This is the reliable information that Bowman passes along to his customers.

Why are Firestones better? Chiefly because of the gum dipping process that has enabled Firestone to make records in every field of tire performance. On May 1, at Atlantic City, these tires made six new world records, besides other track achievements during the year. Firestone Gum-Dipped tires have won every national championship race for the past six years.

Firestone full size balloons made a new transcontinental record during 1926—on a Studebaker in 86 hours, 20 minutes, and on a Wills Sainte Clair, in 83 hours, 12 minutes, arriving in New York from San Francisco August 27. This car, it will be recalled passed through East Liverpool on its record breaking run.

Firestones are standard equipment on the largest taxi fleets in the United States—herd 24-hour a day service on all kinds of roads. Firestone truck and Firestone balloons are standard equipment on the buses of prominent railroad and street railway companies in all large cities.

Firestone inaugurated the campaign—"Americans Should Produce Their Own Rubber"—and thus made a material contribution toward lower crude rubber and tire prices.

Firestone carried forward the development of the extra gum-dipping process—the foundation of balloon tire success.

Take a rubber from a Firestone tire carcass. Untwisted it will show 15 smaller cords composed of millions of cotton fibers. There are thousands of cords like this in a tire. Before building, Firestone dips these cords in a rubber solution. Every fiber, consequently, is saturated and insulated with rubber, adding strength and enabling the cords to flex with minimum friction. This dipping made the balloon tire practical.

This important advantage and the scientifically designed Firestone tread are accountable for the remarkable performance of Firestone balloons from the very day they were introduced. Firestone gives motorists not only unheard of safety and comfort but longer milage than tires have ever given.

W. H. THOMPSON IS ELECTED MAYOR OF CHICAGO

G. O. P. NOMINEE DEFEATS DEVER, DEMS' CHOICE

Dr. John Dill Robertson Finishes Poor Third.

BITTER BATTLE

Threatened Bloodshed and Rioting Fails to Materialize.

CHICAGO, April 6.—William Hale Thompson, Republican, will be the next mayor of Chicago. Complete returns today show that he won over his Democratic opponent, Mayor William E. Dever, in yesterday's bitterly contested election by a plurality of 83,072 votes.

Dr. John Dill Robertson, former health commissioner, who ran on an Independent Republican ticket, finished a poor third. Thompson's total vote—512,740—was more than the vote of Dever and Robertson combined. Dever polled a total of 429,668 votes and Robertson 51,209.

The election in the main was quiet. Threatened bloodshed and rioting on a large scale failed to materialize. There were the usual shootings and slugging, without which no Chicago election is complete, but general rioting as anticipated by city and county authorities, did not even threaten.

Nearly Million Votes Cast.

Several reasons were advanced for the unusual calm that pervaded the voting places. The police were better organized than they had ever been before. Back of them stood the threat of the national guard.

"The gangsters knew," one high police official pointed out, "that they would be shown no quarter." He said he believed the fatal shooting of Vincent Drucci, a powerful gang leader, by a police officer the day before election, was an excellent lesson to gangland.

Nearly a million votes were cast—993,617 to be exact. This total was the largest by more than 200,000 ever polled in a Chicago municipal election. It represented 87 per cent of the registration.

Mr. Thompson was twice mayor of Chicago, serving from 1915 to 1923. His return to power, after the bitterest campaign in the history of Chicago, was widely celebrated over the city.

The hilarity began shortly after 6 o'clock last night when it appeared certain that Thompson had been elected. They were still whooping it up today. In the first ecstacy of victory, Thompson's supporters paraded Loop streets shouting "Thompson for president!" Automobile horns and sirens kept up a continual howl through the night.

The celebrating was all good natured, it appeared, no serious clashes being reported to police. In fact, the old town that a few hours before had quaked under the fear of a race riot was declared "quite safe" at midnight and all emergency bureau squads were ordered off duty.

Victor's and Loser's Statements.

As soon as he learned definitely that he had won, Thompson gave out the following statement:

"I shall continue to work for the best interests of Chicago, for the lakes to the gulf waterway and for suppression of major crimes.

"No future draft for American boys and no joining a league of nations or world's court, especially with the covenant which provides an equal vote of all debtor nations, by which they could call the roll and cancel our loans. The people of American would have to pay them."

Mayor Dever commented as follows:

"I am perfectly satisfied now that the people have made their choice. I made the best fight possible under the circumstances and I hope that all is well with this fine city."

Hailed as Party Victory.

Thompson's election was hailed in Republican quarters as a party victory with wide national significance. Governor Len Small, Senator Charles S. Deneen and other prominent Republican leaders, formerly at outs with the Thompson faction, came to his support on the eve of the election.

These leaders feared the election of Dever would strengthen the position of George E. Brennan, Democratic boss of Illinois and a supporter of Governor Al Smith for the Democratic nomination in 1928.

Thompson adopted for his campaign slogan "America first." He promised to revise school text books to give George Washington and other Revolutionary heroes more prominence and to eliminate paragraphs complimentary to King George of England.

Mayor Dever ran on his record, pleading for "decency" and "law enforcement." Both candidates were "wet," but Thompson said he was as "wet as the Atlantic ocean," whereas Dever talked "dry law enforcement."

In the closing days of the campaign the race question became the dominant issue. Dever's supporters charged the election of Thompson would fill the city hall with negro politicians and result in a swelling of the Chicago Negro population. It was this issue that gave the campaign the most dangerous aspects.

In 17 years Mr. Eastman has divided more than $20,000,000 among his employes. He sets a good example and helps prosperity.

The ideal arrangement would be one under which a workman could actually increase his own gains by individual concentration and effort, and know just what he was earning, like the bootblack or newsboy that owns his stand. That, however, is not possible in our form of industry.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE says: "Familiarity with the Scriptures brings culture."

Read the Psalms, Isaiah, Job the sermon on the Mount, 10 or 20 times and you will write better poetry, prose or advertising copy.

NEW YORK to Chicago air service is let to the able Coffin-Henderson concern at $1.24 a pound. A lower bid at $1.23 was rejected because pilots flying the machines owned stock in the company.

That should be a reason for giving the contract, instead of refusing it. Pilots owning stock in machines would take care of them and the mail. If any law forbids pilots owning stock in a flying company, that law should be changed.

SAPIRO FORCED HIS OWN TERMS, REED CLAIMS

Contract With American Farm Bureau is Cited.

CLASH IN COURT

Chicagoan Pays Tribute to Former Governor Lowden.

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, April 6.—Aaron Sapiro, cooperative king, forced his own terms of employment on the American Farm Bureau Federation, strongest of all farm organizations, it was showed today at the trial of the million-dollar Ford-Sapiro libel suit in federal court.

With Sapiro undergoing cross-examination, Senator James A. Reed, of Henry Ford's counsel, placed in evidence the contract by which the cooperative king became special counsel for the farm bureau in 1923. It virtually gave Sapiro the power to dictate the marketing, financial and legislative programs of American agriculture.

The contract was approved April 9, 1923, after the opposition of O. E. Bradfute, president of the federation, had been crushed. Sapiro got $700 a month and expenses for his leadership and advice, with the contract providing for additional fee for all "litigation or unusual service."

The dramatic feature of the session was a clash between Reed and Sapiro over the farming activities of Former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois. Reed charged Lowden who headed the national wheat growers advisory committee, made his living as a capitalist while Sapiro declared the former governor was one of the greatest farmers in the country.

The Road to Verdun.

Then, ten years ago, it was up the road to Verdun. Staggering columns bending under soggy packs. Muddy roads crowded with the big parade to the front—artillery, infantry, tanks, everything. A doughboy down the line strikes up the lilt of "Madelon." Who said "Madelon" didn't win the war? "Madelon," the little dark French girl in an obscure estaminet was the symbol of every soldier's sweetheart—marching by his side. Then closer to the lines.

The sky streaked by an ugly red at night. The marauding Boche planes that shelled the roads. The trail of ambulances coming back with grinning Yanks going to Blighty.

Marching in the darkness, hiding in the day. Finally the front—machine guns spatting from slits in a shelled church—Jerry heads popping up in the fields of wheat. Your sergeant stopped one—crawling through the mud—and died in your arms. Rushing the clump of bushes slinging hand grenades.

Scene of Terrible Slaughter.

Vaux, Douamont—the forts—Le Morthomme (Dead Man's Hill) where 900,000 French and Germans have sacrificed their lives in the carnage—Cheppy—two days of continuous fighting for the crippled town.

Montfaucon, where the crown prince of Germany has his observation tower. Screeching shells flopping down in the mud—the hills so easy to hold but so hard to take.

Today—the shattered church on the hill at Montfaucon—wrecked houses of the old town—peasants salvaging in the ruins . . The iron barred fence surrounding the yard where the Crown Prince had his dugout. . . A wooden tower built by the French as a military location guide . . . Slits in the concrete of the church where machine guns spit fire at the advancing troops ten years ago. That is the old Montfaucon today.

Cheppy . . . a monument—erected by the state of Missouri . . . down in the town some women are washing clothes in the stream. . . three turkeys (didons) strut their stuff near the fox holes in the side of the bank along the road . . . Two boys playing marbles in the street of Cierges . . . a peasant laborer sits with his dog near a roadside eating his lunch . . . . there's a deep shell hole . . . the monument at Natillois erected by the state of Pennsylvania.

A Difference, Indeed.

Maybe its on the way to St. Mihiel. There the twenty-sixth and first division met. Nine years have made a difference. Then the infantry was plastered with mud and clay as they steadily advanced, then crouched in that dripping day in September waiting for the words "Let's Go." St. Mihiel has a German cemetery now. The crosses are black—as all German grave crosses are in France and Belgium. Today the teacher at Seicheprey blushingly admits she knew the Americans at Bar-le-duc after the armistice. Perhaps she was the one of "Hinkey, Dinkey, Parley-voo fame." Peace reigns now from St. Mihiel through Rembercourt and on to Pont-a-Mouson. Peasants tilling the field pause as the Angelus rings. They gather fagots in the forest. Once in a while a German or American grave is unearthed by these people who receive twenty francs for the find. Peaceful, happy area. The Rupt de Mad is tumbling noisily on its way to the River Moselle.

Ruins Still There.

Thus it is over France and the battle areas. The ruins of the peasant cabin where the men of the Seventy-seventh (Liberty New York division) crouched that night looking into the roaring fire still stands. A new cabin is near. The New Yorkers stood before the gates of Sedan and although they didn't know it, Nov. 2, 1918, might well have looked into the fireplace and said, "It won't be long now."

Although much of France has been rebuilt the evidences of war are found every place. Stack after stack of guns, and the debris of the battlefield's have been salvaged. Skuffing in the soil with foot, old helmets, canteens shell casings, rusty shrapnel, unexploded hand grenades, and the equipment of war can be unearthed in the path of the advance. Land desolate and bare. Nothing green. Raw, yellow earth with gaping holes. From Chateau Thierry to the Vesle river and from Soissons to Rheims, wheat and poppies growing in the fields but also shell holes. Twenty years will be required to efface the evidences of the titanic struggle. Initials scratched on the church at Cunel. . . Charles Henry Fiske of the Third infantry . . . once of Boston . . . to Robert Fitzgerald Clark . . . an ensign in the U. S. N. R. aviation . . . and Aaron Davis . . . a lieutenant in the Seventh Infantry . . . such marks will last even longer than twenty years.

Where Americans Rest.

Then—there is another sector of France and Belgium sector by the invincible hosts of soldier dead . . . the American cemeteries. There the privates and the commissioned officers rest side by side—alike in death . . . only a few words on the crosses marking the difference in rank. Solemn fields of honor where at dawn the flag is raised over each of them. Each sunset it is lowered. In each the crosses stand in steady rows, white against a background of green sod, and a first budding of young trees gives promise of greater beauty as the years roll by. Here are the lasting records of the A. E. F.

Where Cemeteries Are.

Six of the American cemeteries are on the battlefields, on ground taken from the enemy by the power of American arms, on ground restored to France and to Belgium by our delivering sword. The other two are near the great cities of London and Paris. Here is the list of them and the number of those who lie therein:

Flanders Field, Waereghem, Belgium, 365; Somme Cemetery, Bony, France, 1,826; Meuse-Argonne Cemetery, Romange-sous-Montfaucon, 14,107; St. Mihiel Cemetery, Thiaucourt, 4,141; Oise-Aisne Cemetery, Fere-en-Tardenois, 5,946; Aisne-Marne Cemetery, Belleau, 2,212; Brookwood Cemetery, London, England, 437; Suresnes Cemetery, Paris, France, 1,506.

Ten years have gone . . . the men of all arms are meeting on the field of battle today . . . in memory. Ten years have gone but the men who wore the uniform have not forgotten.

Stands Pat Against War.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.

Copyright, 1927, by the International News Service.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Ten years ago today America declared war on Germany, throwing the might of 110,000,000 people into "the war to end war."

Of that little group in the senate—"willful men" they were called by Woodrow Wilson—who braved the condemnation of the country and voted against the war resolution there remains today only one. He is Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska. The rest are gone. Stone of Missouri, LaFollette of Wisconsin, Lane of Oregon, Gronna of North Carolina, are dead—hastened to their graves by the opprobium that was heaped upon them. Vardaman of Mississippi, he of the picturesque mane, has long since retired.

Senator Norris sat in his office today, the same kindly, independent philosopher of April 6, 1917. Looking back over ten years and what they have brought to America and to the world he philosophized.

"Have I ever regretted that vote?" he repeated. "No, I never have. Would I vote today as I voted ten years ago today. I would."

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, April 6.—All departments of the market moved forward in a broad, active swing in the early trading today. Buying of the railroad stocks extended to a wide range of the better grade of dividend-paying shares; short covering in the oils was more aggressive than in yesterday's session, and the market's big leaders, General Motors and Steel common, continued their sensational advances into new high territory. In the absence of new developments in trade and industry, the extraordinary strength of the technical position of the market received the major emphasis in the financial district. Heavy profit taking in the fast-moving industrial and specialty stocks was promptly absorbed and the stocks forged ahead to the highest level of the year, though as a rule the new gains rarely exceeded a point.

Call money renewals opened at 4 per cent, but money was available at a fractionally lower rate in the outside market. The leading independent oil companies announced a new one-cent price cut in gasoline, meeting the latest reduction of the Standard of New Jersey, and the weekly crude oil report showed a gain of about 16,000 barrels daily in national crude oil production. Railroad earnings and traffic reports maintained their favorable records, and steel buying was reported on the increase.

U. S. Steel sold above 171 and General Motors at 184, Hudson and Studebaker led a strong move in the motors, while Phillips and Marland led the oils. Western Maryland gained about two points to sel lat 37¾, while the second preferred duplicated the best prices of the year. Cooper stocks and sugars were firm in this period. Equipment stocks steady and specialties inactive. Firmness in cotton was the feature of the commodities.

Haskin's Letter

Whatever property the wife had before marriage remains hers. She takes her husband's name or retains her own, just as she elects. She may maintain a separate establishment, if seh desires to do so, and is able. And when she decides that the time has come to give friend husband the air she can secure a divorce as readily as a birth certificate can be got in this country.

A couple desiring to sever their matrimonial ties do not have to go through court proceedings that include the filing of a suit and a trial or hearing in which one or the other must establish grounds for divorce. They do not have to sue or to give any grounds The mere fact that they want a divorce is sufficient cause for granting it, and there is no washing of dirty linen for the edification of a morbid-minded public. There is no graft for detectives who get divorce evidence, and there are no fees for divorce lawyers. There are no sensational stories for the newspapers, no material for the sob sisters to mull over, and no occasion for the activities of the news photographers who get pictures in spite of all that may be done to circumvent them.

Sign On And Then Sign Off.

As a matter of fact, the Russian marriage and divorce system is essentially one of signing on and signing off. No ceremony is required to validate a marriage. Those who prefer to observe the amenities and formalities of life do, of course, have a marriage ceremony, but it is not necessary so far as the legality of the affair is concerned.

Registering as husband and wife at a hotel is in effect an entirely legal ceremony. So, also, is the mere living together of a man and a woman. A youth and a maiden become interested in each other, they court each other, and then one fine day she moves into his living quarters or he transfers his belongings to her menage, and thereby they are married. They may register their marriage, or they may not, but their living together constitutes it a de facto marriage and it is just as legal and presumptively just as hallowed as if it had been blessed by all the priests or ministers in Christendom.

Now in the matter of the legitimacy of children, the Soviet has gone far in decreeing that the mother in registering the birth of a child shall give the name of the child's father. Whether the man she names is her registered or informal husband, and whether he is otherwise married or not, he is the legal father of the child and is responsible for its support unless he can prove that it is not his. If there is any disgrace, it rests entirely upon the man and not upon the mother or the child. In no circumstances is the child to be considered illegitimate. This seems to be predicated upon the idea that if a child is born it must have a father as well as a mother, and that neither of its parents should be permitted to escape responsibility for bringing it into the world. Least of all should the child suffer by reason of any derelictions of its parents.

When it comes to getting a divorce, all the Russian mismated have to do is to go to an office in the same district where their marriage was registered. If they have no children their marriage is declared null and void in about three scratches of a pen, and the wife can resume her maiden name immediately, if she chanced to have relinquished it when she joined up with the male of the species to whom she is giving the gate.

If they have children the divorce will not be granted or recorded so promptly, for the Soviet insists that the father must assume full responsibility for his offspring in so far as their support is concerned.

There is where the peculiar angle of the Russian marriage law comes in in the way of legalizing polygamy. A man is held to be legally married to every woman by whom he may have had a child, and to every woman with whom he has lived in the marital state.

But, with divorce so easy in Russia, why shouldn't Moscow or any other Slav city bid successfully for the American divorce business that is now going to Paris?

SCACCUTO APPEAL DECISION EXPECTED TOMORROW

COURT HEARS ARGUMENTS IN MURDER CASE

NOW IN PRISON

Defense Asks New Trial in Death of Patrolman.

Nicola Scaccuto, of Wellsville, convicted of second degree murder in the death of Patrolman James Kenney, May 17, last, may learn tomorrow whether he will be granted a new trial.

Scaccuto, now serving a life sentence in prison, yesterday asked the appellate court at Lisbon to order a re-hearing.

Scaccuto's appeal was made to Judges Roberts, Farr and Pollock through his counsel, Attorney J. V. Zotterlei, of Cleveland, and the argument for the state against the motion was made by Prosecuting Attorney R. M. Brookes.

Quoting from the brief he filed with the court, Attorney Zotterlei declared that Scaccuto at no time knew that a murder was being committed when Patrolman Kenney was slain. He maintained that the statement of the state in the closing argument was outside of the evidence, and that such words were prejudicial.

Zotterlei also asserted that at no time was Scaccuto a party to any common purpose or design to kill Kenney, whom it was said, he did not know, and that Scaccuto has "absolutely no reason or motive to kill anyone, and that he was going about his business unarmed."

Prosecuting Attorney Brookes, referring to the alleged misconduct of the prosecution, cited the record of the case, and the context of the statements complained of. "It also shows the withdrawal of the entire argument, not by the court, but by the prosecutor," he said.

WILL IMPROVE LISBON ROAD TO CITY LIMITS

Engineer McGill Instructed to Prepare Plans.

ESTIMATE COST

Amiesite or Kentucky Rock Proposed for Job.

First step in the improvement of Lisbon road, from the turn just north of the county bridge to the city limits was taken last night when council instructed City Engineer McGill to prepare plans and specifications for the job.

Action followed a motion by Peters that the service director and the solicitor inaugurate plans for the improvement.

Approximately 750 yards of road way, 15 feet wide, would be improved under the plan, with Amiesite or Kentucky rock, providing an inch and a half covering.

This work, including improving of drainage conditions, the replacing of bricks in spots here and there along the road, could be done at a cost of about $6,000 to $6,500 in the opinion of McGill.

With another half inch added to the top coating, to make a surfacing of two inches, the cost would run about $1,125 additional, it was thought.

The city, it was pointed out, could contract the whole job or do the work itself.

In any event, it would not be necessary to stop traffic while the improvement was being made.

COUNCIL ACTS ON 17TH STREET SEWER PROJECT

Resolution is Approved on Initial Reading.

1,050 FEET LONG

City Will be Able to Get Money, Says Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Resolution calling for the construction of the Seventeenth street sewer was placed on first reading by solons last night and passed by a vote of five to two, after a motion to table the proposal indefinitely, was defeated with one assenting vote.

The motion was passed after Mayor W. L. Fogo, during the discussion prior to the vote, asserted that the city could get the money if it wanted the sewer constructed. He pointed out that the city has been paying off bonds for a long time and has been issuing none of any consequence with the exception of the fire truck issue of $12,500.

Councilman Nicholson asserted that the proposed improvement was probably one of the most needed in the city at the present time. Property values, he pointed out, in the district drained by the sewer, are suffering.

Prior to the discussion, the solons opposed a move to table the measure, Councilman Connor voting for the proposal. On the balloting following a motion by Reil and Nicholson to place the resolution on first reading, dissenting votes were cast by Solons Connor and Peters.

The sewer, according to specifications of the resolution, would be 1,050 feet long, starting at Seventeenth street, on Seventeenth to Main, across railroad tracks to Seventeenth and Nevada, and thence along Nevada to the river. It would be built of 36 and 42-inch pipe from eight to 25 feet deep.

MRS. R. E. PATTON ON LIBRARY BOARD

Appointment of Mrs. Helen Patton as a member of the Carnegie Library board, made by Mayor W. L. Fogo, was approved by council last night.

Mrs. Patton will find the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. Jay McKee, who has moved to Florida.

REV. GEORGE WARD IN PULPIT HERE

Rev. George Ward, of East Liverpool, will preach tonight in the Free Methodist church, Seventeenth street.

Services have been under way in the local church for the past two weeks in charge of Rev. Ward, marked by increased attendance and interest. Several professed conversion at last night's services.

IRONDALE PLANS CLEAN-UP WEEK

Final arrangements for the clean-up week to be observed in Irondale, beginning Monday, under auspices of the Irondale Civic club, will be discussed at a meeting of the organization tonight.

The Civic club expects to obtain cooperation of the entire vilage in cleaning up around private properties and streets and the removal of all possible fire hazards.

Tonight's session will be held in the high school building, beginning at 8 o'clock. Ladies are invited to attend.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor, of Fourth and Commerce streets, announce the birth of a nine and one-half pound son. He has been named Carl Calvin. Mrs. Taylor will be remembered as Miss Marian Kountz.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Patterson of Main street have returned from a winter vacation visit in California.

Resolution is Passed on Third Reading by Solons.

With the vote standing as in previous readings, the Twentieth street sewer resolution was passed on third and final reading and adopted by council last night. Councilman Connor voted against the measure.

Councilman Nicholson called attention of council to bad condition of Buckeye avenue in various places.

He also asserted that residents over the crossing were complaining of the length of time in which freight trains are holding up the Eighteenth street crossing.

A motion to permit a Spring Hill avenue resident to construct a garage directly across the street from his home, at the foot of the cemetery slope, lost, 4 to 3.

The mayor's report from the month of March showed collections of $1,226.

'Beau Geste,' French Legion Picture, At Ceramic Tomorrow

That the gods are not always aligned against motion picture companies was demonstrated to Herbert Brenon by a stand storm in the great American desert during the filming of "Beau Geste," his latest effort for Paramount, coming to the Ceramic theatre tomorrow.

With Ronald Coleman, Neil Hamilton, Ralph Forbes, Noah Beery and Norman Trevor as the principals, two thousand minor players and an equal number of horses and mules, Brenon and a corps of assistants prepared for the filming of an important sequence in the picturization of Percival Christopher Wren's romantic thriller of the French Foreign Legion. A battery of cameras under the supervision of J. Roy Hunt was lined up to "shoot" the action, supposedly transpiring on the Sahara desert.

Within five minutes after starting, a terrific sand storm had blown up, sending great clouds of sand from the dunes across the foreground and nearly obscuring the actors. Brenon continued grinding as the storm merely heightened the realistic effect of the action, and afforded an opportunity for novel screen effects. That particular sequence of the story required two days, and in order to secure scenes with a matching background of flying sand for the succeeding day's work, it would be necessary to haul up to the location, over a sand trail difficult to negotiate, a fleet of heavy wind machines to create an artificial sand storm. Brenon anticipated a costly delay until the machines with their aeroplane propellers might be distributed at the strategic points. In fact he was prepared to fill in the lost time by photographing another portion of the story.

But the following day, as if it had been ordered, a second stand storm arose, Mother Nature duplicating her performance, put on a storm that even a director as exacting as Herbert Brenon, could not improve. The order for wind machines was concealed and the jinx that too frequently pursues film units was routed.

TOM MIX STARS IN THRILLER

"Canyon of Light" Comes to American Theatre.

Tom Mix has the role of Tom Mills, army captain in the French battle front sequences that figure in "The Canyon of Light," the cowboy star's latest Fox Films thriller, which will show at the American theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Many of the scenes were filmed in Yellowstone National park and the picture has all the dash, color and drama of the West which mark Mix screen dramas. The range hears the call to arms and the best blood of the "fighting West" answers for overseas. The Westerners capture the enemy key position, but Captain Mills' buddy falls during the attack, just after writing home in praise of Mills. When he lands in America he receives a letter inviting him to visit the parent of his slain buddy.

Mills returns to his native town to find vigilantes organized to curb desperadoes led by his brother-in-law. He finds his sister dying at the moment the vigilantes are ready to hang her husband. Mills answers her pleas and tricks the vigilance committee. He frees his brother-in-law and gives him his own horse so he can return to his dying wife.

The desperado, instead of going home, dashes to "The Canyon of Light," his gang's lair. After his sister's death, Mills has the vigilantes pretend to hand him and outlaw spies carry news of this to their chief. The desperadoes find the letter of invitation and go to the ranch for a fiesta, expecting to loot the place. Mills had expected this and when he arrives there the desperado persuades the rancher he is an imposter. Mills is imprisoned but escapes too late to prevent the robbery and abduction of the rancher's daughter. He follows the gang to a Ghost City, an abandoned mining town, and after every building in the place is wrecked during the fight the desperado leader is overcome.

Is the Wife to Blame
When Her Husband Grows Tired of Her?

"I NOW pronounce you man and wife."

Just a few simple, beautiful, solemnly impressive words—but how fraught with future happiness or woe!

Is marriage the beginning of romance—or is it the end? If a man grows tired of his wife, who is to blame?

Many a wife lives in a fool's paradise. She thinks because she is wedded to the man she loves that she can safely rest on her laurels. For he now belongs to her.

She forgets that "getting" and "holding" are not the same. If his affection cools, she attributes it to "business worries." If she discovers that he no longer cares—it rarely occurs to her to wonder if the fault lies in herself.

Too late, she may suspect "the other woman." But when he confesses the truth—and she realizes that as a wife she has proved a wretched failure—can she win him back again? Can she regain the love she has lost through her own ignorance and folly?

This is the situation that confronted the wife in that vivid, heart-throbbing, never-to-be-forgotten story of real life, "My Stolen Husband," which appears in the May issue of True Story Magazine. It is a situation that, all too often, has resulted in broken homes, broken hearts, and broken lives. Every self-satisfied wife, and every girl who contemplates marriage, should read this compelling story. It will give all women something to think about.

WHAT is more fascinating than the drama of Life itself? What is more thrilling than the frank revelations of personal experience? True Story gives you these every month. That is why it is the world's most popular magazine. Through True Story you share the most intimate of human secrets—the passions, temptations and struggles of life that could never be revealed any other way. Read, for example:

"My Years of Folly"—If a deep and wonderful love is a prize worth guarding and keeping, Evelyn should have been supremely happy. But stronger than love was the desire for a career. So she followed the lure of ambition—but could she have looked ahead to see where that road would lead—

"Youth's Madness"—When a girl falls in with the wrong crowd, anything can happen. A week-end cottage, gay companions, drinking, dancing, petting—and all restraint seems thrown to the winds. Beth's friends had laughed at her as straight-laced, old-fashioned—but for once she decided to "play the game." What happened is a true-life narrative that every girl in America—and every father and mother, too—should read.

Stories That Fascinate, Thrill, Inspire!

The foregoing are only two of the sixteen gripping features in the May issue of True Story Magazine. Turn to any page, and you will find something that will stir your imagination and hold your interest as only a story from real life can do. SALARY RAISES VOTED BY HOUSE

Hancock, Brooke County Officials Benefit by Measure.

Sheriffs of Hancock and Brooke counties will draw down an annual salary of $3,000 if the bill passed yesterday by the house of delegates by practically unanimous vote is enacted into a law. The measure, introduced by Delegate Deuley of Brooke county, also provides that salaries of county clerks in the two counties be fixed at $2,400 annually, while circuit court clerks would be paid $1,800.

The bill will probably be considered by the senate before the close of the week.

Both the senate and house decided to turn their differences over the road bond bill to a conference committee for adjustment, but in neither branch was the personnel of the committee determined. The house refused to recede from its amendments among which was the substitution of the 80-20 distribution of road funds for the favored routes designated in the senate bill.

Both branches of the legislature also struggled through long calendars of other measures during the day's session, with votes interrupted from time to time by debate on some of the bills, all local measures, while the house passed four bills on its local calendar and two of general application.

A bill to change the name of the town of Henry to the town of Clay and one to authorize a bridge which a chemical company in south Charleston wishes to build, completed their legislative journey by being passed by the senate today after having already passed the house.

The senate also passed bills providing for a high school building at Morgantown and for a Clay county high school. It rejected a bill which would establish traveling free libraries on th estrength of an unfavorable report from the committee on education, the vote for rejection being 13 to 11, after Senator Hugus pleaded with the members to retain the bill and amend it to meet objections.

NEW PROBATION OFFICER NAMED

THREE BODIES FOUND IN RIVER

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 6.—The bodies of three unidentified persons, a man and two women, all of whom apparently had been slain, were found in the swollen waters of Clinch river yesterday afternoon, three miles east of Sword's Creek, Russell county, Virginia.

Both women had been shot in the breast and a bullet had pierced the man's back.

The discovery, made shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon by J. E. Christenbury, lineman, revealed one of the most mystifying tragedies in the annals of crime in southwestern Virginia.

With no marks of identification found on the bodies and no one in that immediate section of southwest Virginia reported missing, Russell county authorities believe the bodies to be non-residents and probably prominent people.

The house, owned by John Foley of Hookstown, Pa., was occupied by four families who saved most of their household goods.

Watson Hardware Plans Demonstration Of Duco Finish

Personality in a home isn't a matter of mere money expenditure. It is rather someone's good taste, someone's charm and individuality expressed in the decoration and furnishing of the home. Interior decorating means making a survey of a home—an inventory of its good and bad points—planning color schemes and devising ways to give life, warmth and character to every room.

Ira Burbick of the Watson Hardware company, who specializes in furnishings and interior decorative work, said, "There has been a remarkable interest and enthusiasm shown by the women in this vicinity for this work."

Women everywhere are asking "Have you seen my sun porch since I redecorated it? Everyone is just crazy about it. I am so proud because I did every bit of the work myself and I had just loads of fun doing it."

Thousands of women have done work of this kind satisfactorily without a great deal of labor or money expenditure.

One big influence in creating homes of personality has been the new Duco finish made by the Du Pont company. Duco is so easy to use and dries so quickly that it eliminates most of the difficulty of home decorating and is encouraging women to do this work themselves, where it might otherwise never be done.

A free demonstration of Duco finish will be given Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

NEWS FROM TOWNS IN TRI-STATE DISTRICT

LISBON

M. K. Zimerman, West Park Ave. Phone 319-R. Lisbon, Ohio.

SEALERS' MEET IS SCHEDULED

Gasoline Regulations Will be Explained to Dealers.

Representatives of the state sealers of weights and measures department from Columbus, others representing the federal government will meet in Lisbon for an all-day session April 27 when county and city sealers of weights and measures from at least 30 counties in the state will be guests of W. H. Barr, county sealer of weights and measures.

The morning session will convene at 9:30 o'clock. This will be a closed meeting for officials. The afternoon session will be open to gasoline dealers, distributors and equipment manufacturers.

All gasoline pumps in Ohio must be made to meet the Ohio specifications not later than June 30 next, or these pumps will not be allowed to be used in trade.

There are over 400 gasoline pumps in Columbiana county, exclusive of several hundred in East Liverpool. All blind pumps and meters are to be equipped with sight glass, so that the customer can see the flow of gasoline to the car, and proper indicators are to be attached to show the amount of gasoline that is being delivered to the purchaser.

Visible bowls are also to be equipped with the proper indication to the customer of gallons received, sight glass when complete delivery is not visible and when gas can be diverted while the hose nozzle in the auto tank a truthful sign "to storage" must also be provided on each pump.

Sealers from all eastern counties of the state met at Wooster last Wednesday, and another meeting of these officials is to be held at Dayton April 13. The Lisbon meeting will follow the Dayton meeting.

"The state department is throwing all protection possible to the consumers of gasoline," declared Mr. Barr today. "Unless many gasoline pumps now being used are properly equipped so they will pass state inspection, these will be sealed and their use prohibited after June 30. As a matter of suggestion, I would say it will be beneficial for every distributor of gasoline in the county to attend the Lisbon meeting."

TAX RETURNS BEING FILED

Hundreds of personal tax returns are now being returned to the office of County Auditor Elmer E. Walker, although the time limit is May 1. Last week 15,000 personal tax return blanks were mailed from Lisbon, and almost immediately returns began to arrive. These returns have to be sworn to before being mailed to Lisbon, where they are separated according to the taxing district from which they are received. The name of the taxing district must also be placed upon the return by those who file them.

Repair Job Uncertain.

Whether or not the state highway department will set aside an appropriation for the partial repair of the four mile of brick road or that section of the Lincoln highway in Madison township this season has not been determined. State Highway Superintendent Riltner declared today that he had no information from the department as to its plans for repairing this road this year.

38 Take Tests.

Thirty-eight young women took part in the examination at the county normal in the Lincoln school building conducted by the county board of examiners. Among the number were those who proposed to have their present teachers' certificates extended, and others sought first certificates. Examination papers will not be graded until the latter part of the week, it was announced today.

Commissioners Plan To Award Contract For Road Grading

The road hearing having to do with the East Palestine-East Liverpool road scheduled by the county commissioners for 10:30 o'clock next Monday morning is not expected to cause any delay in the awarding of a contract for grading.

For some years people in Middleton and Unity township have urged the commissioners to build this road, and in the case of Middleton township where practically all grading has been finished, funds were raised by property owners to do the work with the employment of the county steam shovel.

Grading in Middleton has been completed to the St. Clair township line, and a new route has been determined upon in this township which will eliminate the steep Fredericktown hill. A low grade has been worked out, so that this road will tap the Calcutta-Fredericktown road near the Hickman property, on the present narrow paved road.

The grading contract for this project is expected to be awarded early in April, and the road will then be surfaced next year. In Unity township the road is now surfaced. This road passes through the richest fruit section in the county, and since it has been determined by the commissioners to improve the highway, property values have advanced and additional acreagre is being planted in small fruits.

Antlers Are Outscored In Final Clash On Duquesne Court

Locals Drop Second Game To Lafayettes

Compelled to flatten out their shots during the first half of the game as a result of an extremely low ceiling at one end of the court and facing the fact that their rivals have never lost a game on that particular floor, the Elks last night bowed to the Lafayettes, champs of the Allegheny county circuit, in a 35-24 contest on the Duquesne Library gym.

The Antlers gave the Pennsylvanians a stiff chase all the way and it is agreed that had they been able to score on some of their first half shots, the result at least would have been closer. A large percentage of their tosses went into the rafters until they finally became accustomed to the court and then it was a little too late.

Nate Lippe, who led the attack against the Steel town aggregation in the first game here, registered a single field goal during the encounter although he got his usual quota of shots. Lippe was tossing them in hard luck the entire game, most of his shots rimming the basket or hopping out.

Big Tony Paulsey played a great floor game all the way working like a Trojan to keep the Antlers in the running.

Forward Ganzy Benedict collected eight field goals for the Lafayettes and generally had a very good night. Minnich dropped in five. The Lafayettes had a 16-8 lead at the half, but the battling was more even in the concluding periods.

I. A. C. LEADS BIG TANK TOURNEY

CHICAGO, April 6.—The Illinois Athletic clubs aquatic team today held a commanding lead in the National A. A. U. championship in progress at the Chicago Athletic association pool. The meet will continue for four days. At the conclusion of first-day competition, I. A. C. was leading with 15 points. Los Angeles Ambassador club was second with 5 points, and three teams were tied for third with three points each. They were Brooklyn Y. M. C. A., Los Angeles A. C., and Penn A. C.

Johnny Weissmuller, world famous short-distance swimmer, accounted for five of the I. A. C's points. He won the 100-yard free style event and counted in several others.

Farid Simaiki, an Egyptian, piled up single handed the five points garnered by the Ambassador club of Los Angeles. His remarkable victory in the low springboard fancy diving event, took the judges' eyes.

Walter Laufer, crack Cincinnati Central Y. M. C. A. star, was taken ill suddenly and was unable to compete. Helen Meany of New York, and Ethel Lackie of the I. A. C., gave interesting exhibitions in fancy diving.

PHILLY MAY GET NEXT BIG BOUT

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, April 6.—Tex Rickard, the big sock and belt man, is insisting upon a minimum gate of $1,400,000 for his world's heavyweight championship fight this summer, it was learned today, under pain of leaving New York holding the old gunny sack when the time for the pay off comes. There has been some idle converse of late days about the Tunney shot being dropped down in Philadelphia again and my information today was that this end of the transaction is just about as definite as a called third strike.

It is all a matter of elementary addition and subtraction and Rickard has a singular aversion to the latter except as applied to the customers. After scaling the prices at the Yankee stadium five different ways with his ticket man, Mike Jacobs, it is said that subtraction is the inevitable penalty if he goes through with the fight at the local park.

The best he could hope for at the stadium, it seems, is a maximum gate of $950,000 and a crowd of 80,000. The latter, as such, might be considered fair enough if Rickard could have the curse taken off the $2 and $5 customers but it seems that New York must have its cut price witnesses at these affairs of the fist and this fact is making it decreasingly difficult for Rickard to have its profits.

As the polls were closing, it wasn't quite established in my mind which of these two projects was less important, since the cut price witness can stay away in droves to the detriment of no one and Rickard can always turn to hog calling if fight promotion begins to irk him.

In this case, however, he is under contract to Gene Tunney to deliver the bullion at the appointed hour and some gentlemen, very large and loose in their ways, have gone so far as to admit that Tunney has been guaranteed a sum aggregating $850,000. Still I have the law with me when I say that I disbelieve this with much emotion; in fact, my understanding is that Tunney signed for $450,000 flat, which is an odd way of putting it, and fifty per cent of all receipts over a million dollars, which will be ample, sufficient and enough if the fight in held in the Philadelphia stadium.

There doesn't seem to be any doubt that this will be done, provided Philadelphia is willing; of course, Philadelphia might be unwilling and then it may be that carbolic acid is being recommended as a gargle.

Anyhow, as I remember it, Rickard's last venture in Philadelphia grossed nearly two million dollars, of which the town itself took more than $100,000 to say nothing of the prestige involved, and if this isn't worth a return engagement, to all parties concerned, you might as well start wheeling up the padded cell, for in that case I can't be responsible for broken bones except contracted by myself.

JOHNNY RISKO IS SUSPENDED

NEW YORK, April 6.—Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight; Ted Coolidge, Boston middleweight; Frankie Fink, Texas featherweight, and Andre Routis, French featherweight, have been suspended by the New York state athletic commission.

Risko will be given a hearing next week to explain why he fouled Jimmy Slattery in a bout at Buffalo last week. Routis was suspended for fouling Joe Salas of Los Angeles in a bout here last Friday.

Intra-Club Game.

NEW ORLEANS, April 6.—A full nine-inning practice game is scheduled between the Regs and Yans of the Cleveland team today to make up for the loss of the game booked with New Orleans yesterday which was cancelled on account of wet grounds.

Lutzke, Indian third baseman, is still out of the game with an injured back. Today's session will be the final, the tribe leaving here Thursday for Tuscaloosa.

Training Camps

White Sox in Memphis.

MEMPHIS, April 6.—Manager Ray Schalk and his White Sox cohorts were here today for two games against the Memphis Chicks of the Southern association. The Sox game with Texarkana scheduled for yesterday was washed away by spring showers.

Rain Stops Yanks-Cards.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 6.—The Yankees and Cardinals meet here today in the seventh game of their spring series. Rain washed out yesterday's contest at Knoxville.

Two More in Texas.

DALLAS, Texas, April 6.—Following today's game the Tigers will move on to Wichita Falls for a pair of games before they finally quit Texas. Following that they will play two games in Oklahoma City and then go to St. Louis on a special train to get ready for the opener next Tuesday.

Giants, Nats Battle.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6. — The Giants and Senators, held idle by rain yesterday, will resume their series here today. Bill Clymer, Buffalo manager, and George Stallings, pilot of the Rochester club, are angling for Pitcher Fay Thomas, Outfielder Al Moore, or what Giants have you?

Robins Win Eighth.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 6.—The Brooklyn Robins are here for a two-game series with Atlanta. Pinch Hitter Fewster's homer with one on featured Brooklyn's 7 to 4 victory over Birmingham yesterday, the Robin's eight straight triumph.

Celtics, Rosies Set For World's Series

Famous Brooklyn Combination Will Try to Unseat Cage Champs; Play Opener Tonight.

CLEVELAND, April 6.—With both teams in superb physical condition and famed as arch rivals, professional basketball fans are looking forward to a fight to a finish when the Cleveland Rosenblums and the Brooklyn Celtics meet in the 1926-27 basketball world series, which gets under way here tonight. The series is a best three-out-of-five affair.

On the face of the season's records, the Celtics will take the court as champions of the world. In four league games the Celts triumphed over Cleveland three times. Despite this, local fans get much consolation out of the fact that the locals were able to hand the Celtics one of their two defeats in the second-half schedule and also because the first two games of the series will be played in Cleveland.

Cleveland won its way into the series by annexing the championship of the first half with 17 wins and four defeats. The Celts won the second half title with 19 victories and two defeats.

Probable Lineup:

Celtics.	Position.	Cleveland.
Barry	RF.	Kerr
Banks	LF.	Ely
Lopchick	C.	Deighan
Holman	RG.	Husta
Dehnert	LG.	Hickey

TITLE RIVALS CLASH AT 'Y'

Sunday School League Teams Meet Thursday Night.

Final championship games of the Sunday School basketball league will be staged tomorrow night on the Y. M. C. A. court.

In the central attraction the Methodist Protestants will tangle with the Lutherans for the league championship.

The preliminary will bring together the Methodists and the Baptists who tied for second place in the first half and repeated the trick in the second. The first game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Reiselt May Get Cue Honors Back

CHICAGO, April 6.—Otto Reiselt, of Philadelphia, former world's champion of three cushion billiards, today bids fair to recover his lost crown, following his spectacular play last night against Champion Augie Kieckhefer.

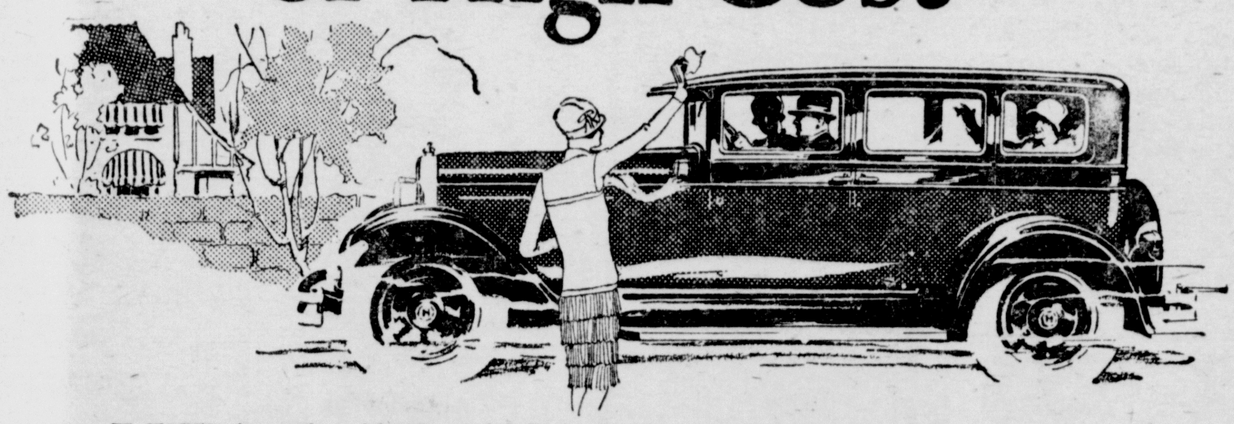

Reiselt won the third 60-point block of their 300-point match and brought the total score to 180 against the champion's 132. The two remaining blocks will be played today, the first this afternoon and the final tonight.

Reiselt has been in brilliant stroke while the champion floundered from bad to worse. Even if the latter returns to championship form for the two remaining blocks, it is hardly likely that he can amass the needed 84 points to the challenger's 60 for both blocks.

Final Test for Cubs.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 6. — A final test for the big show faced the Cubs here today as they prepared to play the opening game of a five-game series with the Kansas City Blues. The Bruins paused in Tulsa long enough yesterday to trim the local Western league team, 16 to 4.

The Finest Eight Performance without Penalty of High Cost

UNTIL the coming of the Hupmobile Eight, this most luxurious form of motoring entailed both high first cost and prohibitive cost of upkeep.

Hupmobile changed all previous conceptions of eight-cylinder performance with a straight-eight of elemental simplicity, designed to give superior smoothness on long fuel mileage.

Thus Hupmobile removed the last obstacles which had prevented thousands from driving an eight, demonstrated its superiority over the higher-priced sixes, and won the largest straight-eight following in the world.

The only way to appreciate the vast difference between Hupmobile Eight and lesser types is to drive this Eight yourself.

HATTIE

By Samuel Merwin

SYNOPSIS:

HATTIE JOHNSON, just 17, is a somewhat colorless little girl, who works in the mailing room of a printing and bookbinding establishment. She and the office boy have been seen holding hands—otherwise there has been no romance in her life. One day a girl who had formerly worked in the mailing room comes to call. Her name is LUCILLE OVERMAN, and she is now working in pictures. She takes Hattie to the studio where she, Lucille, is to have a screen test. Hattie there is seen by the famous director.

ALICE, and her baby daughter, Emily, and

GRANDMA, a querlous semi-invalid. They all start for California with De Brissac, who suggests books for Hattie to read to "form her mind." On the train she meets

HENRY O'MALLEY, De Brissac's head camera man. They arrive at Beverly. Hattie goes to the studio to find De Brissac, and he kisses her. Clandestinely, so that De Brissac will not know, Hattie and O'Malley meet and go out together. A dark little girl comes to Hattie's dressing room, saying it used to be hers.

CHAPTER FIFTEEN.

She stood in his office, waiting expectantly, unhappily, for him to rise from his desk and take her in his arms; and as she waited she loathed herself. Often she felt like that.

The moment came. Then he dropped into one of the big chairs and drew her down beside him and caressed her hands.

"Three days more, he said, gently. "And God, but I'm tired."

It was his first admission of the sort. It touched her.

"Your strain is over," he added. "Just those few retakes for you. But you've done it. You haven't failed me. I'm going to put you across as no new girl ever has been put across."

She caught her breath. But her mind couldn't follow his. The work had been too exacting, too mean, too much a business of struggle and routine and dimly perceived quarrels in those upper regions of the management, for her with her limited capacity to grasp the possible result of it as one of the smoothly running great pictures you saw in the theatre. No, in that direction her mind went blank.

"But my strain isn't done yet by a long shot, dear," he continued. "Not by a long shot. There's going to be a big fight over the cutting. I shall win it, but it's going to be a fight. . . . First, I'm going to take a week off. A little rest. Our time has come, little sweetheart. At last. I've stimulated you. I've given you everything that it was in me to give. Now you're going to stimulate me—give to me. . . . Tell you how I've planned. I've had the yacht overhauled and put into commission. It'll be beautiful out on the water from now on. You must manage to slip away for a few days without that sister."

Hattie's mind stopped. This was the crisis she had so well known must come, but now that it had come she couldn't meet it. There had even been dark moments when she wanted it to come. She closed her eyes, and sat very still. The only words that phrased themselves in her mind were —"Oh, I can't do that!" She couldn't utter them. She tried and failed. They semed even a little unfair. She was thinking wildly of Alice and Gran'ma and Emily, of Henry, of Willie Mazzini and Fred Schmandt. A moment came of bitter clarity, and she knew that she would fight this inevitable situation, would struggle, would take up mental positions and try desperately to defend them, only to yield wretchedly at last. She couldn't withstand him. Even, in a queer way hating him as she now hated herself. She would lie to Alice. Somehow, in a fever of the spirit, she'd manage it. The whole long drift had led to this.

There was a soft knock at the door. They sat motionless. Few dared to intrude on de Brissac in his chosen hours of seclusion and study. The office orders were that even the telephone must not be rung excepting on urgent business. Once before Mr. Zeeck himself had knocked, and Hattie, feeling like a criminal, had hidden in the adjoining washroom until he went away. But Mr. Zeeck was still in New York.

The knock sounded again; and still again. He laid his fingers on her lips. Then an odd expression came to his face. He got up. She followed, and stood beside him. He glanced toward the washroom door; but then, as she moved a step in that direction, stopped her.

She moved over to another chair; stood uncertainly beside it, then behind it.

He turned the catch on the self-locking door and opened it a few inches. She heard a feminine voice. He said something about being too busy now. The feminine voice persisted. He opened the door wider, as if to step outside; but a slight figure suddenly darted into the room, slipping alertly under his obstructing arm. It was the dark girl. Her eyes rested on Hattie an instant, those strange eyes; then she rushed across the room. She seemed to be drawing a cork out of a small bottle. She raised her arm and threw out the contents of the bottle toward Hattie, who stood, bewildered, holding to the chair.

De Brissac caught her and they struggled. The door slammed shut. De Brissac screamed as if in pain, and swore angrily. She had heard him swear once or twice, but never like that. Then he got the girl somehow into the washroom and locked the door.

He showed her a burned hand; quietly now, stoicly. "Acid," he said. "Didn't get you, did she?"

"A crazy girl," he said. "I'll find George in a minute, and figure out some way of handling her. We don't want talk, of course. . . . You're a wonderful girl, dear. You never flinched."

With his uninjured hand he drew her toward him. She yielded, leaning weakly against him, because she felt weak and dizzy; for the moment she couldn't think at all. But in another moment thoughts came. That girl wasn't wholly crazy. She wondered in a vivid flash of horror of she herself simple little Hattie Johnson, could ever be brought to throwing acid or shooting or—there was terror in these swiftly crowding thoughts. Perhaps. Why not? . . . She broke away and stood dizzily alone. Those so neatly separated compartments of her life had been thrown together as by a devastating explosion. It semed as if millions of eyes were already looking in.

He came again to her side, almost as tenderly as if there had been no interruption, but she pushed him away and rushed out.

Excise Levy Measure Recommended by House Committee.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Decision to recommend passage of the cotton bill, imposing an excise tax upon the recording of mortgages and other like instruments, secured by real estate, has been reached by the house taxation committee.

This proposed mortgage recording tax decrees that, beginning July 1, next, excise taxes, estimated to yield approximately $6,500,000 a year shall be levied upon mortgages filed which cover real estate solely in Ohio. Half of this proposed revenue is to go to the state and the other half to the counties. The bill provides for a graduated scale of taxation ranging from 50 cents to $1 for each $100, or remaining fraction thereof.

The senate judiciary committee today recommended passage of the following bills: By Senator Carpenter, providing for establishment of a municipal court at Steubenville, the judge of which is to be elected for a four-year term and receive an annual salary of not less than $2,000, the city and county each paying half; by Representative Fitton, Butler county, providing the Hamilton and Middletown municipal court judges may be nominated by petition in conformity with the provisions of their respective municipal charters, instead of being nominated at primary elections; by Senator Emmons, Summit county, providing for a state board of real estate examiners and for the licensing of real estate salesmen, the annual fee being $10.

Declares Life Had Become a Burden Before He Used World's Tonic. Wants Everybody to Know About How He Found Quick Relief.

The World's Tonic representative at Carnahan's drug store in this city every day receives remarkable statements of the value of this wonderful medicine. None could be of more interest than that of Mr. Cleo Lyons. He says, "I had been a wreck for a long time. I imagined I had every disease a human being could have. My condition really grew serious. I could not perform my duties and was unfit for anything. Life became a real burden. My digestion was poor. The food that I ate would ferment. I frequently had headaches, pains in the back of my head and dizziness. My circulation must have been bad for I nearly always suffered from cold feet and contracted colds very easily. I could not sleep and would get up in the morning so tired and worn out that life became one unbroken period of misery. I had spent much for medicine that had done me no good. Several told me that I had cancer of the stomach and I was treated for that trouble. I had just about given up hope of ever recovering my health when my druggist told me that he thought I had catarrh of the stomach. I could hardly believe him but at his suggestion took a bottle of World's Tonic. The effect was wonderful. I began to improve at once and now after using three bottles I feel like a different man. I can now do my own work and I am healthy and happy as I was twelve years ago when my trouble began. I feel so grateful that I want every one to know how much good this medicine did for me."

The World's Tonic man, in discussing this statement, says:

"You will find many in East Liverpool who suffer as Mr. Lyons did. They need World's Tonic, the systemic catarrhal treatment. World's Tonic is different from all other medicines as it is made especially to combat catarrh of different forms."

World's Tonic is sold by Carnahan's also Brannan, Wellsville, and all other good druggists. (236)
